Inspired by the immortal words of William Shakespeare, the 1980 General staff chose to illustrate the truth of his utterance in this GENERAL REVIEW:

'All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players, they have their exits and entrances, and one man in his time plays many parts . . .'

*William Shakespeare
'As You Like It'*

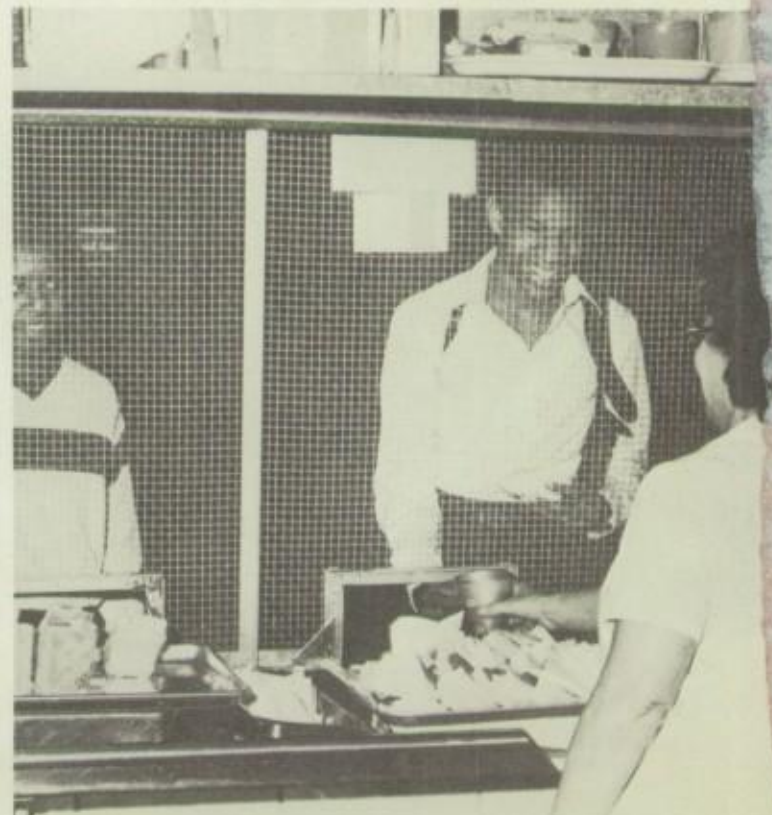

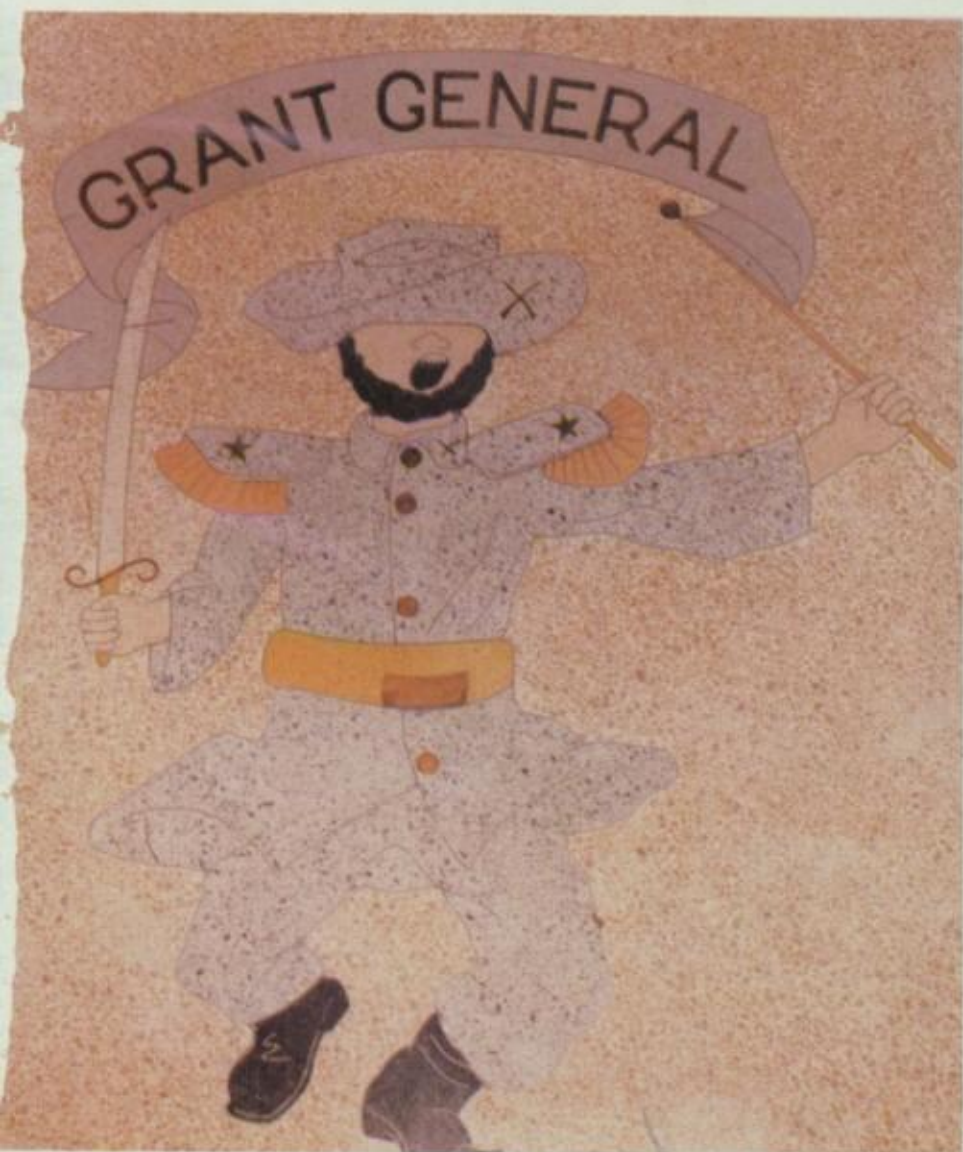

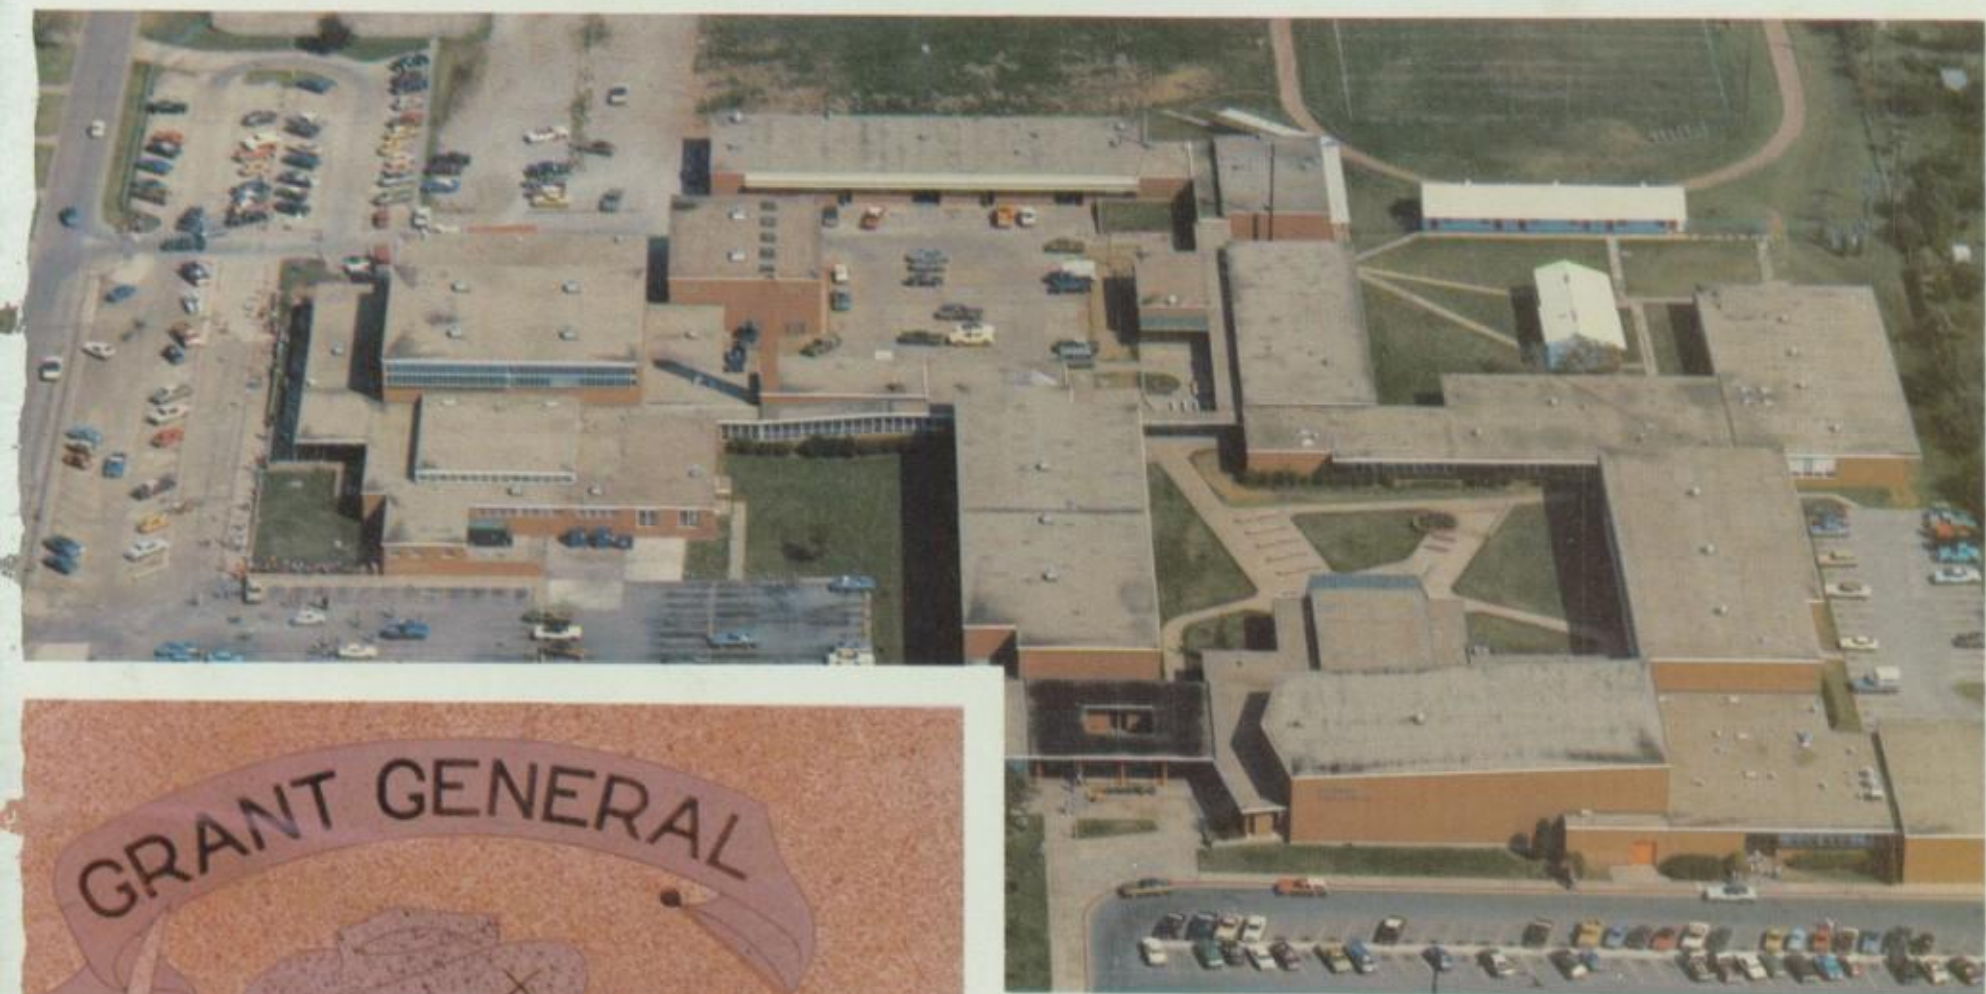

During the nine months of school, we spend 1550 hours in class and 150 hours at lunch. In the course of four years we spend over 6000 hours in class and 600 hours at lunch.

Spending so much time in High School has helped us to know it pretty well. We've acquired friends here and had a lot of fun.

When we leave here, some of us will never see one another again, but we hope memories of the friends and the place itself will never fade.

The courtyard, where students can go and relax and feel free. The place where it all begins — our education, our first love, our hopes and dreams, our triumphs — our future. On the football field our hearts' desires are born and nurtured, and sometimes they die there in the midst of competition. Our mascot is a symbol of our pride and enthusiasm whenever it is displayed. Taking advantage of the low prices in the express line are Connie Jacobs and Tomy Roach. In the opinion of Diane McDaniel, being late is no fun when you have to answer to the attendance secretary.

Each year we seem to see more prices going up. The dollar seems to be worth less and less.

Even as prices get higher we figure out ways to do our favorite things and still not file bankruptcy. We make some of our clothes, eat a little less often, and we don't drive around so much.

We've learned that we make our own hard times and it's up to us to make hard times a little easier.

Shocked by the high prices of clothes is Roxie Stanford, who decides not to buy. "Who says energy shortage is so bad?" think Ken Wright and Joni Roby as they keep warm. Truman Widener skims through the want ads looking for a job. "My car gets better mileage than yours!" laughs Tiffany Rogers to Tina Groves, as they fill up their cars. Crossroads Mall was built to take advantage of the natural solar energy. Lael Lake cannot believe how much the price of beef has gone up in the past six months.

During the summer a lot of changes take place.

We spend our time swimming in the nearest water hole or lying by the pool basking in the sun.

There are very few days when the humidity isn't extremely high. On those days, we find lots of places to go and plenty of things to do.

Summer is three months with no teachers, no classes, and no homework.

Taking advantage of the summer breeze is Eddie Sells, who is flying his kite. Summer is the perfect time for relaxing by the pool especially for Robert Bartl, Connie Sheffield, Scott Hahn, Laura Howery, Donna Eddington and Valarie Taylor enjoy walking through the park and sharing special moments. Fishing is Alan Moss and Brent Rutledge's favorite pastime during the hot summer months. "Oh! How sad!" thinks Trena Stewart as she watches one of her favorite soap operas.

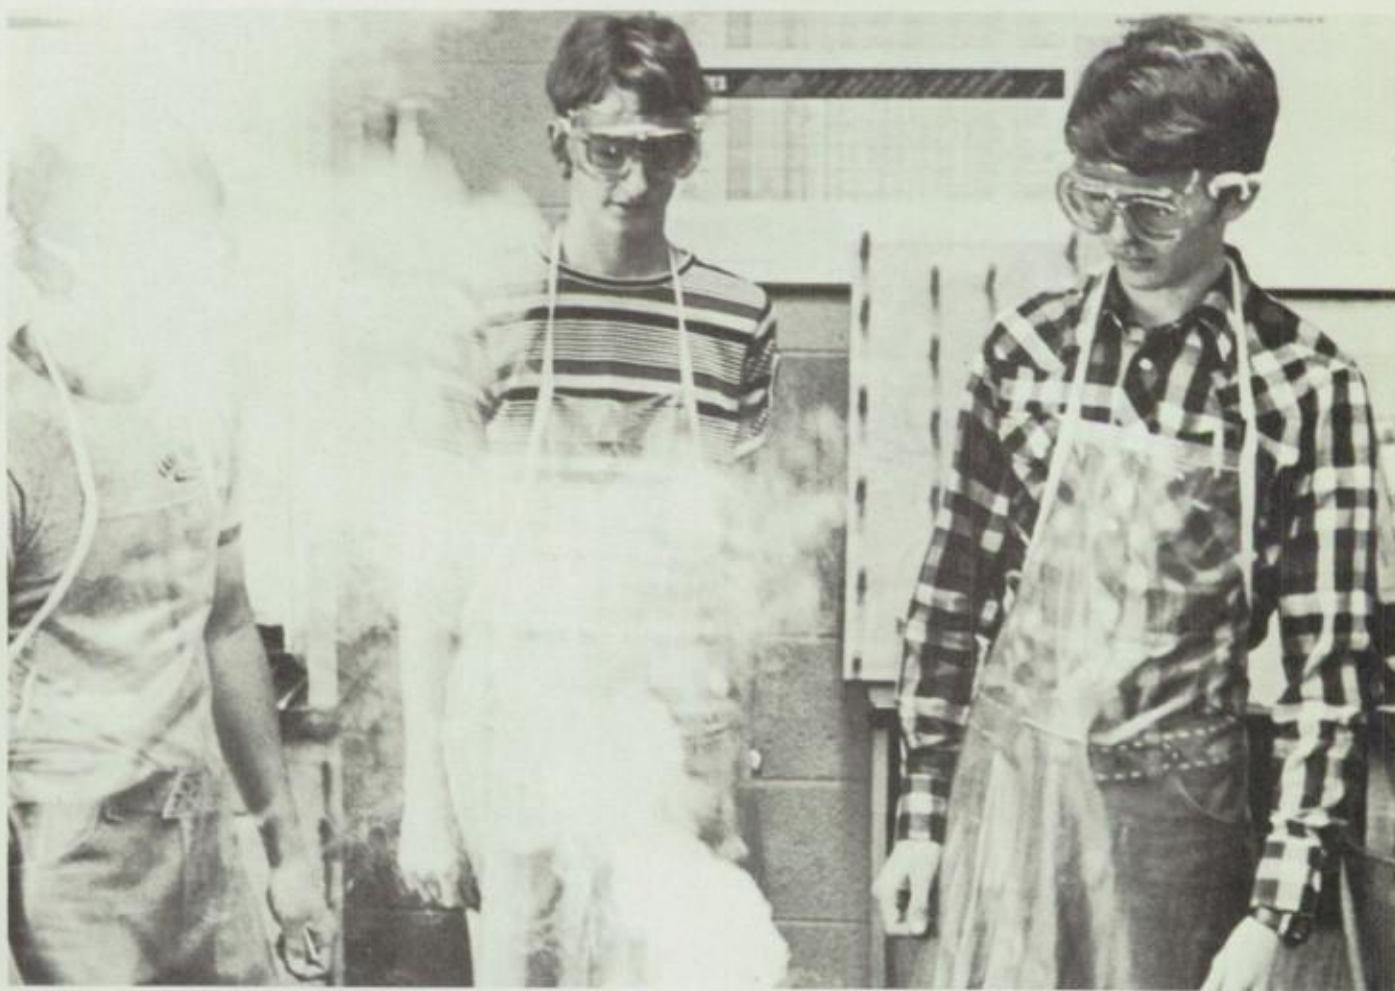

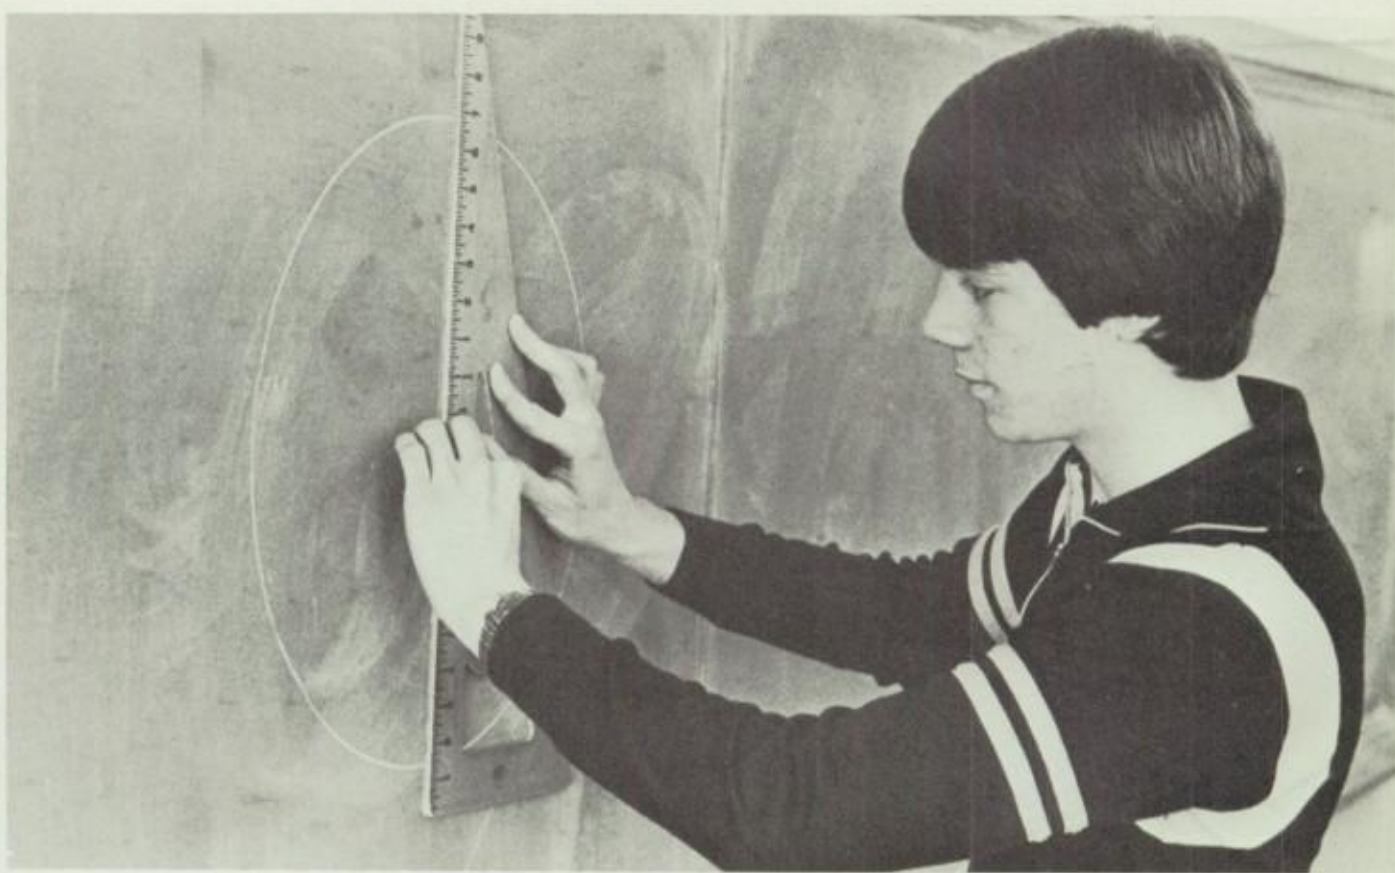

Each day we go through several classes. We go through different teachers and different books.

Each teacher has a different personality and a different way of teaching. Some teachers prefer oral work, but most prefer to give assignments, and explain them, and tell us when they are due.

It takes a lot of effort to do what we are supposed to do, but somehow we do it. We accomplish what sometimes seems impossible concentration

Shelly Molet uses her creative talents in molding a piece of pottery. Trying to improve her typing skills is Terry Ross. Curtis Cagle works at a geometry equation. Quietly blowing up the chemistry lab are Greg Brooks, John Stone, and Barry Stringer. Although sometimes English class is boring, it is something that must be done. Lending a helping hand is Anthony Alton as he gives a starter to Lenny King.

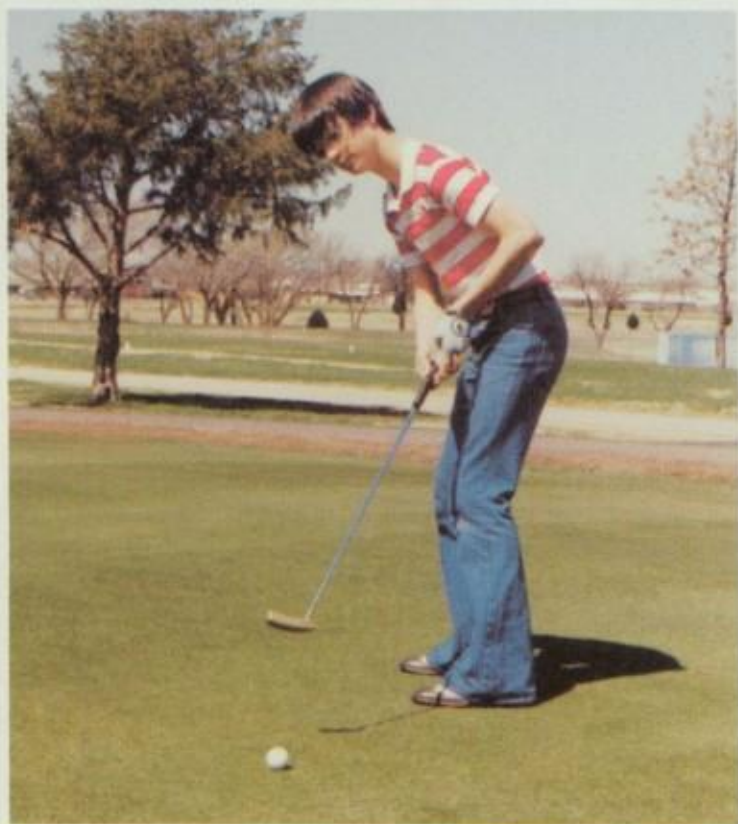

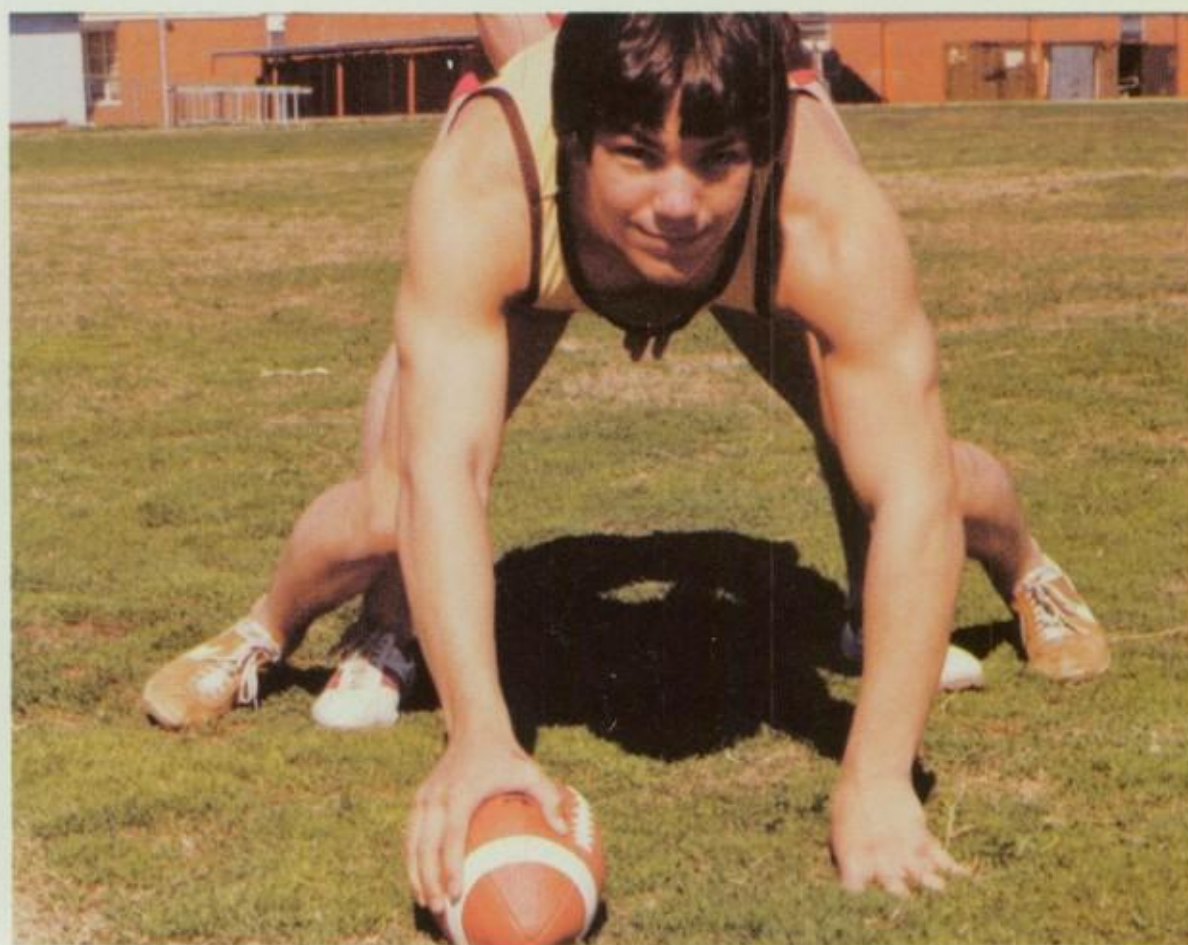

In the busy world that we live in we always seem to find time for "the tough stuff."

We're always trying to find a little time for ourselves, a little time to show the athletic part that is tucked away in us. In fact, sometimes we make time. We avoid the little things that can be done later, and we play athletes.

Sports play a vital role in our lives, and like a puppet for a puppeteer, we play the role.

Patty Thomas sets up Pam Byers for a power spike. Coming up from her double somersault dive is a pleased Laura Medley. To keep the position of center, David Molet knows he must practice many hours. Concentrating on the upcoming game are Mike Tolbert and Bret Stokes. David Williamson shoots for a birdie. Susan Clark demonstrates her powerful backhand return. Flying is Gina Whatley as she runs the hurdles.

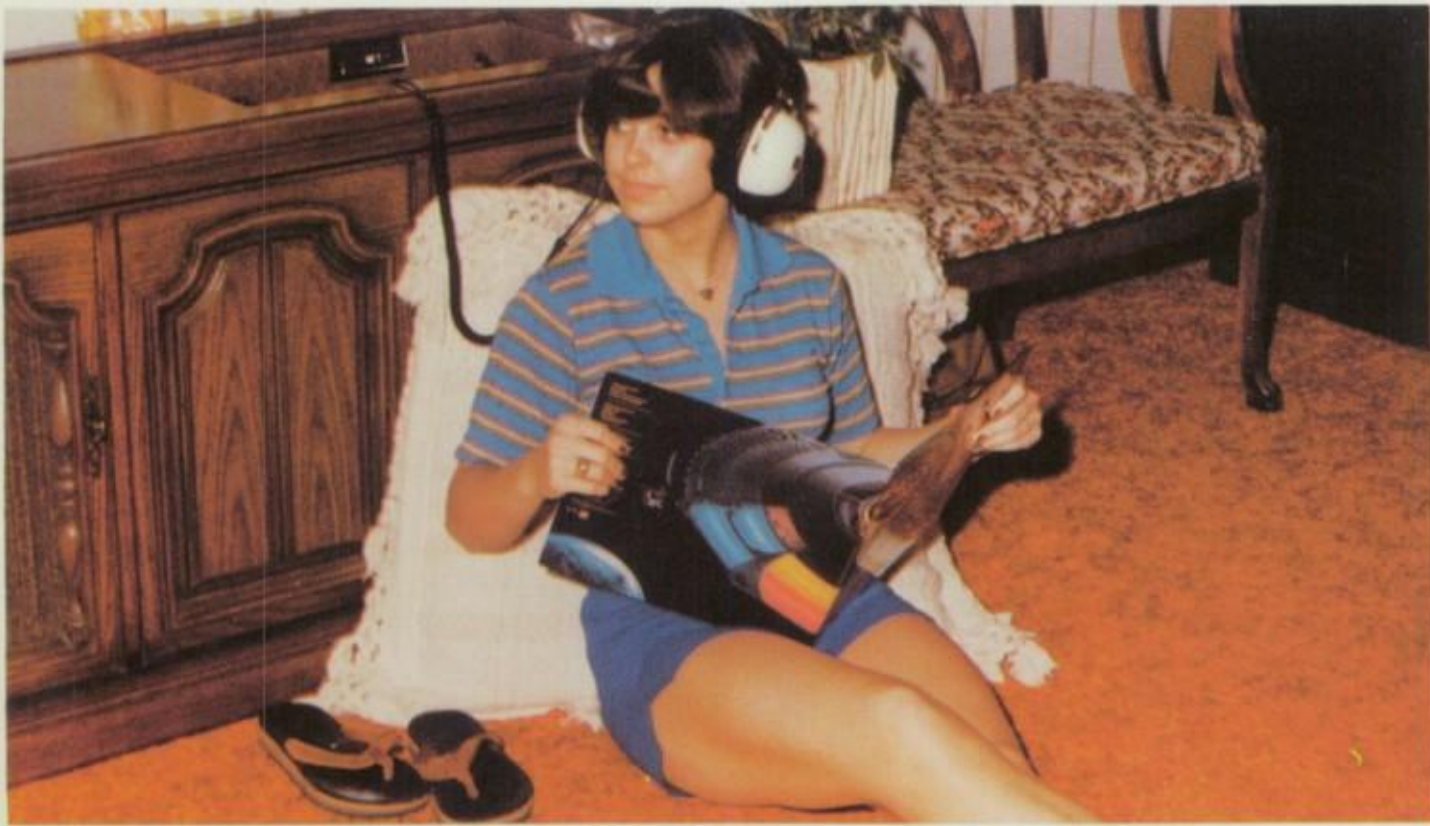

Our organizations are made up of individual people doing separate things, and when we get together things begin to tick.

We start off the year not really knowing what to do. We are trying to get more people for more parts in our organizations.

When we all learn just what is expected of us we can come together and be productive.

Working the lights for a Thespian presentation is Ruddy Chavez. Brenda Cox and Kristy Dooley dress for a party held by the Foreign Language Club. Larry Mustain helps to raise money for Mu Alpha Theta by selling a coke to Sherri Rains. "Can we trade places?" asks Jami Davis to Tobi Null as they prepare for the Pep Club ice cream social. Fifties Day is an annual event for the students at Grant, sponsored by the Student Council. Excited about about their trip to the National Convention are a few FBLA members. Diane Patton and Terry Wilson joke around as they prepare fruit baskets for an Honor Society project.

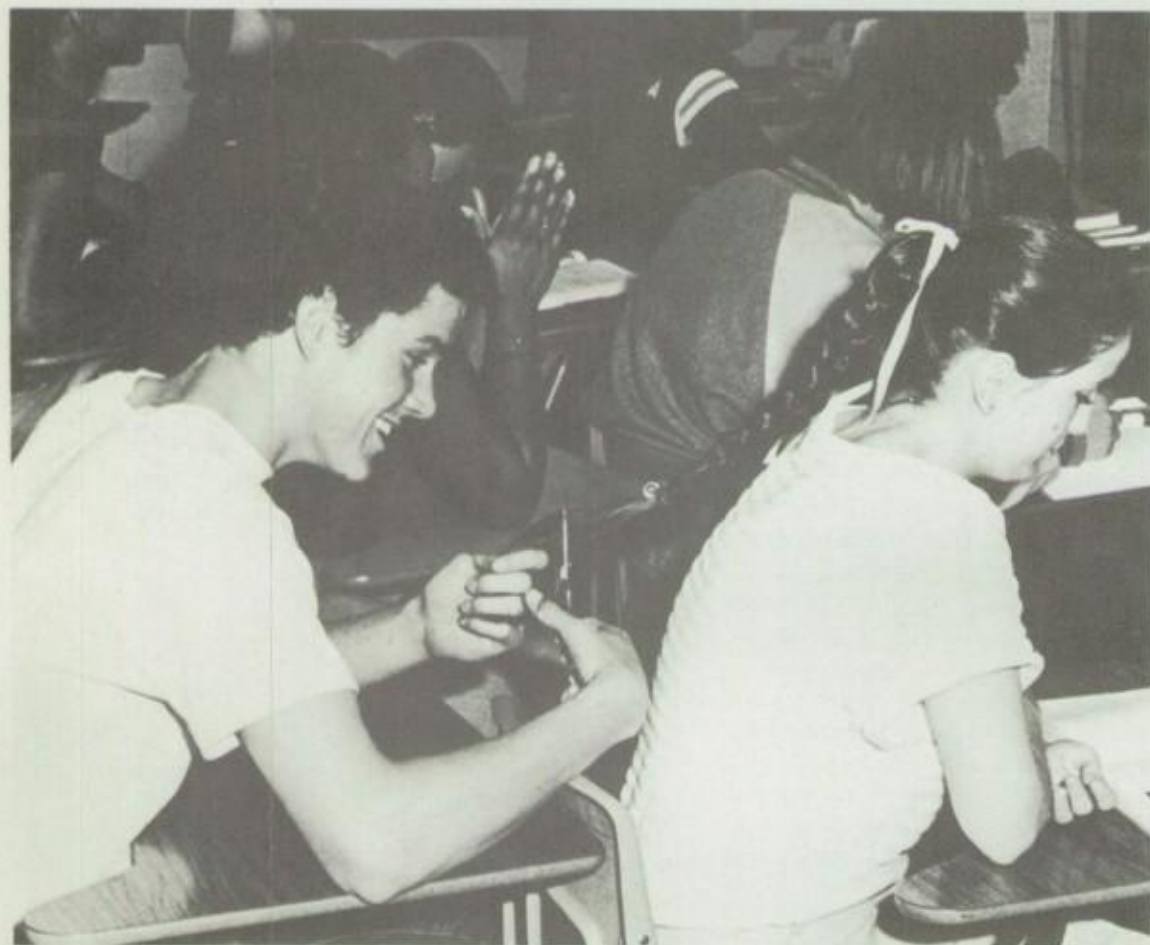

After school is out each day, we have things planned for the evening.

We go out with friends, or go to work. Sometimes we just stay at home and watch TV or do homework.

We go to a movie or maybe we go play putt-putt. Sometimes we go bowling, and other times we just drive around. Wherever we go or whatever we do, we're enjoying relaxation.

Stacy Gowens relaxes with her favorite group, ELO, before she starts studying. Sheree Floyd helps Rhonda Carpenter stash her win from the State Fair. "Look at these skates!" exclaims Bill Pickle as he puts them in order and back on the shelf. A group of Grant students wait for the slopes to Monarch Pass. Taking advantage of the spring day are Kara Cloud and Marguerite Webb, as they take Sunshine for a walk. Avery Howard says to Jay Rotrock, "One ball in the corner pocket." Dancing to the disco beat are Cory Conallis and Lauri Jefferson, Lauretha Galbreath and Richard Durham.

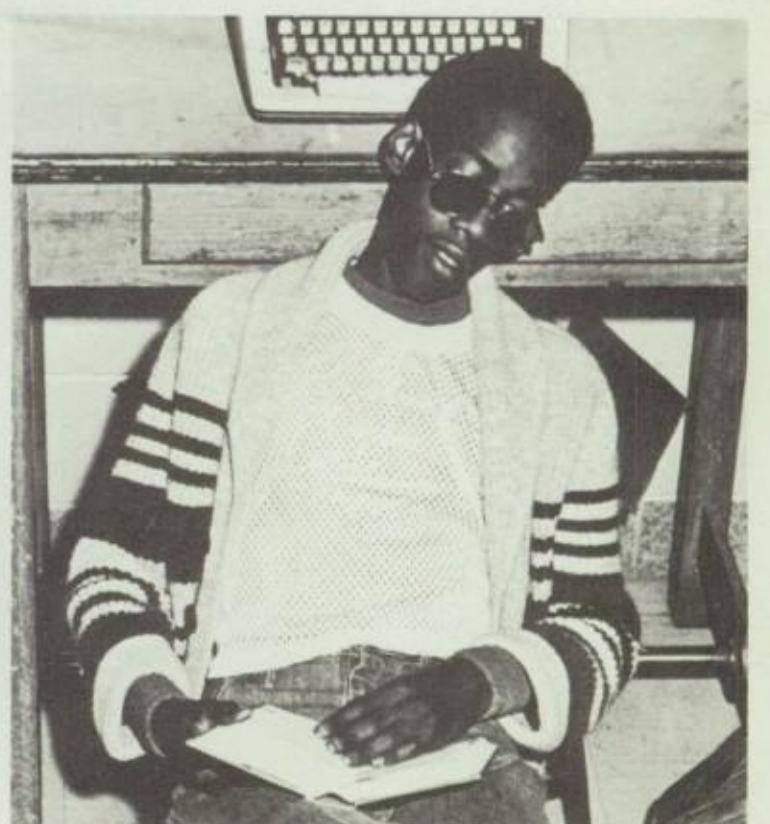

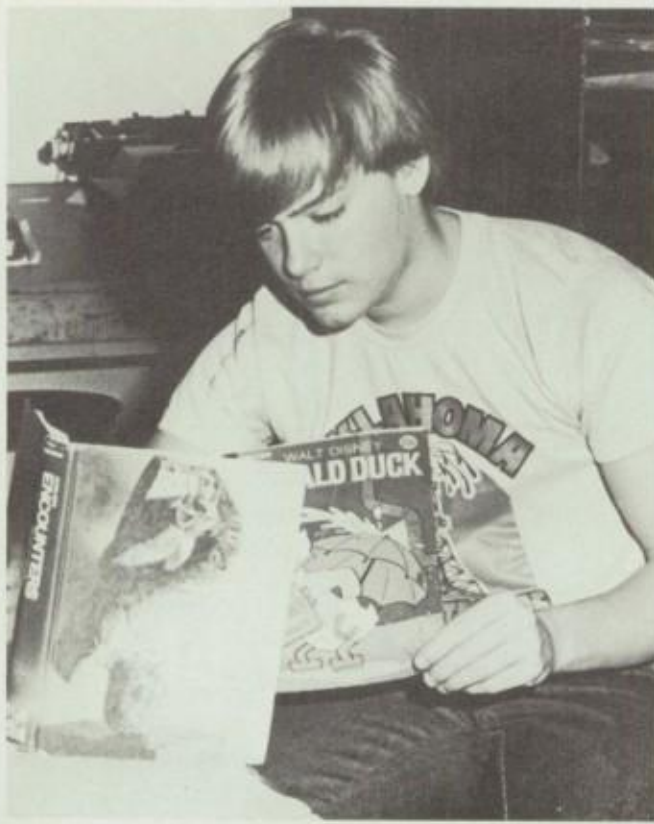

There are days when all of us have problems settling down and getting to work.

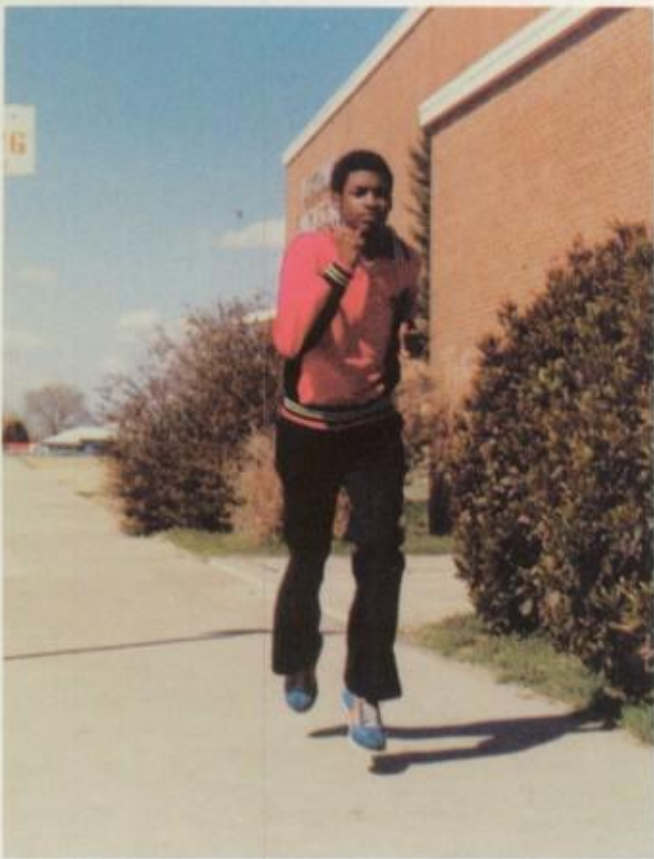

Days like these are not doing much for our education, but they sure are nice for our relaxation.

Teachers don't appreciate the days when we aren't in the mood to work, but school would be pretty dull without them.

Sharon Soltis thinks she is passing the note to Julie Waddle, but Craig Coover has a different idea. Robbie Towell is more interested in reading what is happening in his English class. Painting her long nails is more important to Kathy Scheurhoff than studying. Watching the girls go by is a popular sport to some of the guys. Taking a rest from reading in class is Alton Blakely. Getting with the beat of the music during lunch are Tammy McCoy, Tony Pickett, Robin Majors, and Cecil Thomas. Carla Hicks has no idea that she will be short of hair after Kevin Goodmiller gets finished with his prank.

If getting in shape were as easy as saying the words just about all of us would have perfect bodies. To get a good figure with firm muscles takes a lot of work and determination.

We go to spas. We get up early in the morning or stay up late to jog. We ride bikes, and most hated of all, we diet. All this is necessary, though, if we are going to shape-up and stay in shape.

Keith Dixon is joining the rising number of people who enjoy the benefits of jogging. "If it's good enough for Rocky, it's good enough for me," laughs Tim Bays. Debbie Hibdon enjoys working out and toning up her muscles. Working out at the health spa is a daily routine for John Gonshor as he builds up his muscles. Peddling off extra pounds are Tera Smiley and Leisa Hibbard. "It's not fair!" remarks Robin Wheeler as Alan Martin eats a large pizza while she has a salad. Enjoying a bike ride on a summer afternoon are Andy Gowens and Lisa Ober.

CAST

Where would the play of life be without the cast? The vital players who fit into the parts? The administrators, faculty, support personnel, and most important of all, the students, interacted to produce the 1979-80 school year.

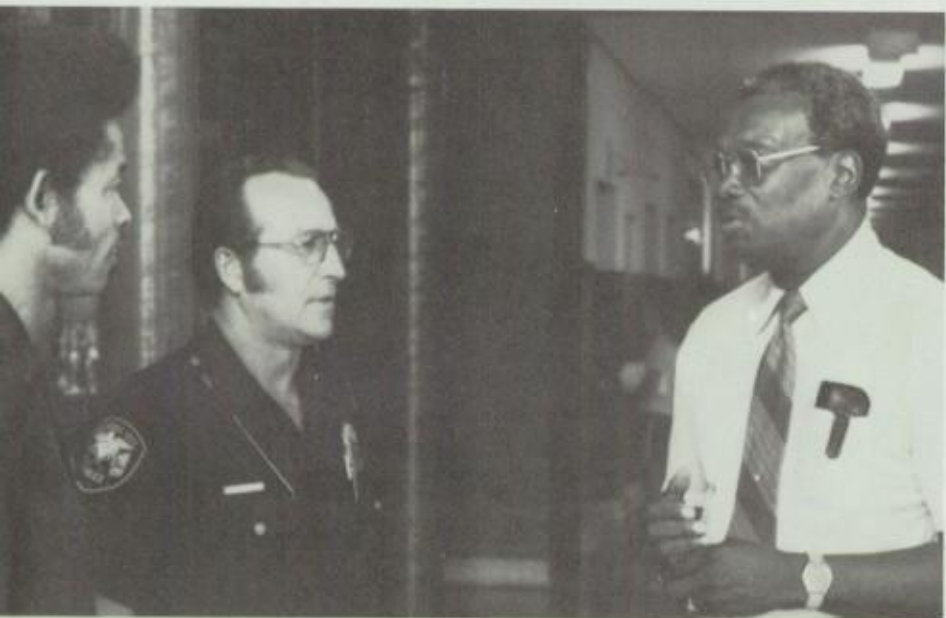

Being a principal of a large metropolitan high school in today's changing society couldn't possibly be the easiest job in the world, but it surely has one advantage: it could never be boring. Mr. Diggs, as principal of U. S. Grant for the sixth year, could attest to this fact as he adjusted to changes from the Board as well as internal changes within a complex organization.

Mr. Diggs straightens some of his paperwork before leaving. He occasionally speaks to students over the P.A. System. He often joins Mrs. Barry for hall duty. Sometimes he calls a meeting of the assistant principals; Mr. Cooper, Mrs. Barry, and Mr. McCain. When Mr. Diggs steps in the door he also steps into a new and exciting day. He gives the security guards their assignments for the day. Mrs. Lee reminds Mr. Diggs details of his busy schedule.

Being a supportive administration were assistant principals, Mrs. Kay Barry, Mr. Ollie Cooper, Mr. Bob McCain, as well as Mrs. Ann Douglas, activities director. Mrs. Barry was in charge of junior and senior discipline; Mr. McCain was in charge of scheduling and sophomore discipline; Mr. Cooper handled ninth grade discipline and supplies; and Mrs. Douglas did all the scheduling of school activities.

Mrs. Ann Douglas changes the marquee for an up-coming game. Mr. Cooper helps students as well as teachers with supplies. The assistant principals get together for a quick picture. Mr. McCain discusses a student's schedule. Abram Cooper shows his dad, Mr. Cooper, the way to the counselor's office. Mr. McCain and Mrs. Douglas run a quick errand to the Board for Mr. Diggs.

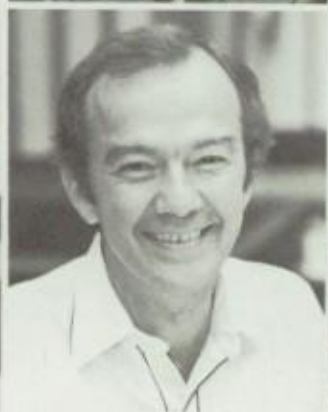

BOARD, COUNSELORS

Dr. Thomas Payzant took the reins of the City School System in January, 1979. Dr. Delbert Hamm became District 6 representative on the school board the fall of 1978. Counseling personnel at Grant remained unchanged as Mrs. Thelma Parks remained director of counseling this year.

Mr. John Moham helps explain a student's schedule to a concerned parent. Mrs. Thelma Parks works steadily to straighten her files. Mrs. Harriet Pulley takes time to counsel with her plants as well as students. Counselors: Mrs. Janet Jones, Mr. John Moham, Mrs. Thelma Parks, Mrs. Harriet Pulley. Superintendent Dr. Thomas Payzant; Board members Dr. Delbert Hamm, Mr. Floyd Donwerth, Mr. Paul English, Mrs. Betty Hill, Mrs. Pat Potts, Dr. Armond Start, Mrs. Freddye Williams, Mrs. Peggy Campbell and Mrs. Helen Woosley exchange records with each other.

Teachers actually participated with their students in many classroom projects. They did take time out to enjoy their colleagues during their lunch break, and many never missed an extra curricular activity or sports event all year.

Mr. Al Fuller and Mrs. Dorothy Dean prepare for the rush of students into the student store. Encouraging his students to open wide and SING is Mr. O. J. Thomas. Mrs. Connie Overstreet, Mrs. Ann Douglas, Mrs. Frances Hendrix, Mrs. Vicki Parker, Mrs. Vicki Stewart, and Mrs. Debbie Gandy all meet to enjoy their lunch together. Mrs. Pat Carpenter helps teachers by making copies for them. Mr. Skip Metheny and Mr. Mark Lyday try to decide on a fabric to use.

As teachers continued to help students learn, support personnel tried to keep things running smoothly. Secretaries kept track of attendance and assisted principals and teachers. The maintenance crew kept the building properly heated and adequately clean, while the cafeteria crew prepared meals which were planned by the central office.

Mr. Lathon Johnson breaks the news to one of his students about her grades. Mr. Mark Lyons tells his class "all work and no play, in my classroom." Mrs. Debbie Gandy and Mrs. Christine Baugh listen attentively to the Honor Society meeting. Mr. Allen Dukes shows his abilities in the classroom as well as on the basketball court. Mrs. Mullings, secretary, is a big help in the office. Cafeteria Staff. Mr. John Gatliff takes over the responsibility of teaching electricity. Mrs. Patricia Wear, senior sponsor, takes time out to sell a Senior T-shirt. Maintenance.

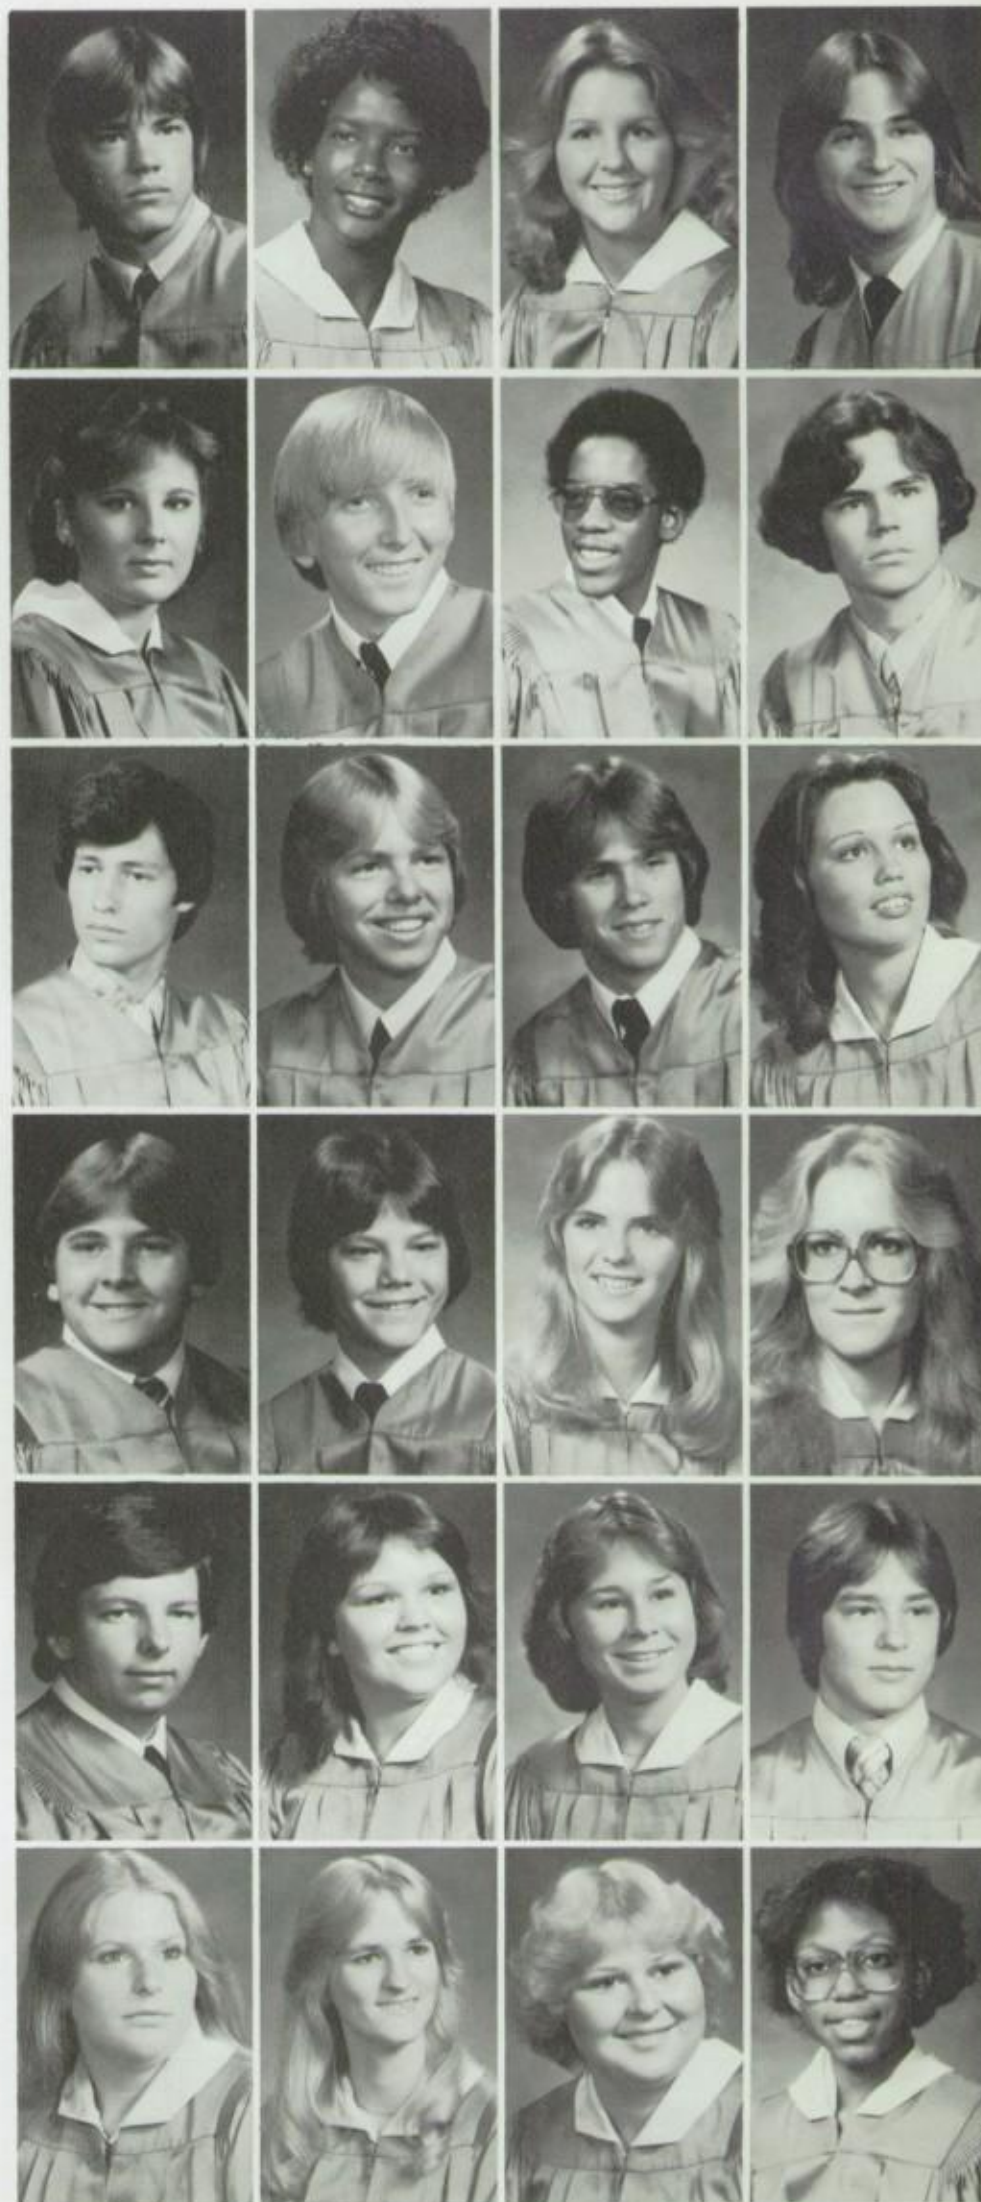

Summer

Seniors started their finale of high school on a fun note. They raced to their favorite recreation spot to enjoy their last minute of freedom before the "last act" of their high school drama began.

Putt-Putt is one of Vicki Riddle's summer enjoyments as she shoots for two. Becky San Antonio and Betsy Cravens feel like kids again as they make a choochoo train down the slide. Senior Class Planning Committee: First row; Tony Gibson, Carol Crist, Linda Black, Carla Hicks, Tina Groves, LaDonna Parish. Second row; Kristi Bowles, Vanessa Malicoate, Gail Tucker, Cheryl Smith, Stacy Rains, Kim Austin, Michele Echelle, Cathy Curry. Third Row; David Root, Tammy Greene, Mark Hise, Rhonda Hook, Michelle Parker, Linda Ogg, Sheri Floyd. Planning for a weekend of fun at the lake are James Allen, Robert Bartl, Randy Vandiver, and Mark Unsel. Sleeping in is one of Gussie Force's favorite summer activities.

Activities

Seniors stayed in the spotlight all year as they came to the forefront with royalty and all-school activities. They felt like winners, they acted like winners, and they were winners.

Senior Hall — greatest of them all. Vicki Riddle tries to convince Jeff Taylor to make a down payment on his 1980 General. Tacky Day is one of the days that seniors can come as they are. Mr. and Miss Howdy are Jeff Rogers and Gina Speegle.

Spirit

The emotion of the hour, the special impetus needed to light the spark of light for many performances, was provided by the seniors all year long. They had the spirit, they lived the spirit, and they shared the spirit.

Enthusiasm is the main stream of the pep assembly as Kelly Tompkins leads the seniors in a cheer. The Spectacular Seniors take the spirit stick one more time. Alan Martin "Blue Chipper" is one of the top seniors on the football team. Decorating a car for the S.E. game are Marquerite Webb, Lanette Smith, Patty Thomas and Robin Majors. Betsy Cravens demonstrates a routine during the pep assembly.

Spirit

The seniors got together and stayed together as they provided leadership for the school. When the occasion required it they were business-like, but when circumstances permitted, they were just kids again.

"Go! Go! Go!" chants the football team as they get up spirit at one of the pep assemblies. Wally Moya declares, "I've got a lot of spirit! How about you? Ready to dig into their Homecoming cakes are Jeff Rogers, Gary Sanders and Randy Speegle.

Spirit

They had the coach, team, pep, steam, and they were cooking all year long. Whatever the sport, whatever the coach, they worked, and worked, and then they worked some more. They were the seniors.

Brent Worcester shows his special talent as he winds up for a pitch. Bryan Story has trouble unzipping the cover of his tennis racket before a big match. Theodore Morgan has a style all his own as he dunks the basketball for two points. David Trevino, Zak Palmer, and Harve Sickles watch the Generals in the last seconds of a game. The only thing on Stacy Gowens' mind is to beat the ball to first base. Gina Whatley guards Adrianne Cooper in a practice game.

Occupation

Seniors got their act together in more ways than one. Their vision changed from a pre-occupation with the present to a preparation for the future. Their jobs became more than a cushion for the present; they became a springboard for their future.

Jeff Taylor and Terry Wilson enjoy working at Crystal's. The service desk at TG&Y is Dana McNees' working station. Curtis Cagle unloads a box of glasses from the service belt at Service Merchandise. Southwest Ford gives Connie Sheffield a lot of desk work. Stacy Rains helps a customer try on a pair of shoes at Kinney's.

Graduation

Memories are made of happy times seniors can never forget. Always at the top of the never-to-be-forgotten memories will be graduation, which represents the end of a long journey and the beginning of an even longer journey. Pictures designed to preserve all these precious memories will be cherished by the seniors forever.

Gina Longnecker gets a big surprise as she opens one of her many graduation gifts. Signing yearbooks for the last time are Carol Bays, Barry Evans, Alton Blakley, Kevin Goodmiller, Abram Cooper, and Kim Austin. Having fun on their senior trip is what Jannie Glass, Lisa Butler, and Kristi Bowles have in mind. Gail Tucker exclaims, "I finally made it!" Announcements are one of the things a senior can be proud of.

Future

The seniors' dreams become reality as they go their separate ways. Some travel the route to marital bliss. Others embark on a college oriented career; some go in style; others go any way they can get there. For the seniors, the future they have been building and planning is now.

Leonard Morris finds out how much college books really are. Linda Black realizes that riding in style is the only way to go. Michele Echelle dreams of being a college twirler. Engagement rings are very popular among the seniors. Moving in to their own apartment is a big task for Leigh Winfrey and Connie Higgins.

Juniors already had a keen eye on the future as they began to assume more leadership than they had before. As school activities opened, they began to wrap up the honor and royalty titles, while many junior athletes filled key varsity roles. The mighty and proud juniors began to think they "had it made."

Sue Clay and Mike Ellis discuss themes and decorations for the Jr.-Sr. Prom. Visions of May are seen by graduating junior Keith Smith. Tom Ebert and Melinda Holden take a break after they were announced Junior Mr. and Miss Howdy. Junior Class Planning Committee Officers. Even through stormy weather the rough-n-tough Junior Varsity Cheerleaders continue daily practices.

Juniors had fun being juniors. They were not on the top of the ladder, but they didn't want to be yet. They enjoyed having a little less responsibility than seniors had.

Kathy Lindsey is in the groove with her cheer. Laura Medley makes a pretty picture as she performs. Gary McDaniels and Dennis Clark take time to visit before hurrying to class. Dawana Vinyard and Sherry Rhodes gather necessities for the next class.

Juniors got into the pep scene early by freezing football games and thoroughly decorating junior hall. Once in a while they went to the old swimming hole and forgot it all.

Being kids for as long as they could get by with it was the objective of the juniors. They had no intentions of missing one single opportunity to have fun and support the Generals in the process.

Speaking of talent, Generals always mentioned the juniors who were in the performance arena. They filled some positions which are usually reserved for the seniors. They were the mighty and proud juniors.

Karen Curtis works very hard to make sure she lands on her feet and not her head. Mark Winter shows his unique form during the Marching Generals' halftime performance. Drum Major, Mark Winter, spends a lot of extra time helping out his fellow band members. Robin Strasmick works on putting Kellie Howard in her command through psychological hypnosis. Junior choir members work very hard to get that B flat just right.

No question about it, sophomores belonged from the first. They knew the ropes, had their friends, and carved their niches. As they turned sixteen, they gained an independence from their home families they hadn't had before — and they let everybody know it.

Stephanie Shipley and Bobby McDougal were elected Mr. and Miss Howdy by sophomores. Stephanie Piper and Wrenda Williams take advantages of the simulators in drivers' education. Sophomore Class officers: seated, Deana Stewart, secretary; Roxie Standford, vice president; Angie Moody, president; standing, Jana Gooding, historian; Mary Garcia, treasurer; Susan Trail, sergeant-at-arms; Jana Gooding was Sophomore attendant for homecoming queen.

Sophomores tackled their academic chores with expertise. They expanded their social horizons and learned more refined ways to relax. They began to feel more than followers. They began to emerge as leaders.

When people belong they really belong, and they sometimes attempt to expand the rules a bit, but when they cannot do it, they settle down and learn self discipline within the purview of the established ground rules. The sophomores learned a lot this year.

Mrs. Brenda Roberson discusses with Avery Howard the proper place for a basketball — in the classroom or out of the classroom. Mark Ryan and Vince Ellis are on the field in spirit although their bodies are on the bench. Deanna Stewart is mentally on the field too.

Although sophomores learned a lot and accepted academic leadership, they never forgot for a moment how to have a good time. They always were in the middle of the sports enthusiasm, but they always had time to be kids again.

SOPHOMORES

Freshmen resented being the babies from the first and they had no intentions of taking a back seat. They dived into all school activities with vim, vigor and vitality. They were finally Grant Generals and proud of it.

Freshman Mr. and Miss Howdy are Susie Lambeth and Vance Conallis. Having a nice little chat during lunch in the courtyard are Ronnie Green and Debbie Hallman. Freshman Planning Committee. Back Row — Annette Walker, Deana McCoin, Susie Lambeth, Brandy Dies, Ilana Badgewell, Cathie Higgins. Front Row — Lisa Ober, Becky Humphreys, Vance Conallis, Cheri Rogers, Laurie Logan. Who says freshmen don't have school spirit? Levy Levescy, Stephany Rains, Pat McCathern and Annette Walker. Brian Anderson and Patrick Love try their luck in a hand of poker. Brandy Dies, Susie Lambeth and Robin Nichols go from room to room selling candy for the freshman class.

Perhaps this was the most adaptable freshman class in a long time. They got used to the things which were new to them. They were also innovative, but when they were too innovative for their own good, they took their prescribed medicine.

Working hard trying to find the little microbes are Lisa Waldrop and Kim Goforth. Mr. Cooper takes a little warmup before he gives Pat McCathern his swats for being late to class. Vance Conallis and Scott Verdicchio get "caught in the act" while trying to ditch class. Looking for her name on the freshman list is Stephany Rains.

It didn't take long for the freshmen to feel that they belonged. Then it wasn't long until they were convinced they owned the place. They were at home. They had their friends, their "new family," and they could laugh about all the funny foibles of their earlier days.

David Gray and Dennis Maddon were very upset when they realized they can't read. Cheri Rogers makes a "big splash" when Jeff Rogers, Tommy Ebert, Cory Conallis and Bill Fraser throw her into the pool. Laurie Logan just can't put her mind to work when she is thinking of Harvey Sickels. Lisa Baugus can't wait until she gets to school to tell Lori Koci all about her new boyfriend so she calls her on the phone.

The freshmen quickly proved that they lacked nothing. They had the beauty and the brawn. They were talented in the athletic arena, and contributed from the first as they moved from their own squads to varsity and began to make their scores.

Getting involved in the Grant football games is part of being a General, and the freshmen are doing their part. Kevin Goodmiller, Gary Sanders, and Randy Speegle give Larry Robbins the "tape treatment" for initiation. Ricky McAmis is trying to explain to Jimmy Reeves and Barrett Bradburry that when you buy your freshman letter jacket you have to have "frosh" on it. Having the honor of being the freshman football attendant is Susan Lambeth.

SCRIPT

The script — the underlying plot of the play for the year — was defined by the curriculum department at the central office and implemented by the staff locally. Responding to society pressures, the authorities tried to keep the curriculum tailored to individual as well as collective needs.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Although language arts was often thought of as something we had to take to graduate, some of the offered classes gave us a chance to expand not only our language and grammatical knowledge, but also our knowledge of who we were as people.

We complained about all of the homework and tests, but we somehow survived and ended the year with a better perception of life.

Susan Porter unknowingly "helps" Alan Barber with a language arts test. Working with recording equipment is a big part of Radio and TV for Kandy Coker and Gene Pollock. Jimmy Reaves and Janet Madden act out "Romeo and Juliet" for their freshman English class. Making Piñatas is one of the most fun parts of Spanish I for David Root and Tina Gullege. Regina Stone strives for perfection in developmental reading. French I really "gets into" learning their nasal sounds.

LANGUAGE ARTS

With such a wide variety of language arts courses to choose from, every one of us found one or more that allowed us to develop aspects of our personalities.

We could have learned how to speak French or Spanish, how to work as a member of a publication staff, how to build props and even how to perform on stage. The list didn't stop there, though, as all of us inevitably discovered.

Mr. Watson's basic comp. class seems to have a very short attention span. Kelly Minyard and Debra Terry build props for stage craft. Presenting an interesting speech is one of the basic techniques of forensics, and something that Susan Clark works to perfect. Terry Wilson and Pilar Chappellar practice intense emotions for advanced drama. Marion Nelson and Kenny Hatchell acquire important journalism skills by preparing a mock magazine. Jeff Parks, Lovella White and Cindy Fansler engage in the usual theme writing.

MATHEMATICS

Math was another of our required subjects, and one which for some of us seemed to drag on for thirty years, yet for others seemed to whiz by in a streak of "x's and y's."

There were math courses of all levels available, and there was always a willing and able member of the staff to help us out when we needed it (which was pretty often).

Kent Spitz could think of better things to be doing than algebra. Kathy Lindsey could "tear her hair out" when Mr. Vaughn tries to explain a complicated trig. problem. Michelle Echelle smiles at the thought of Randy Henderson's helping her with her geometry. Coach Choate didn't know what he was in for when he asked "any questions?" about an algebra assignment. Carmen Farrell uses the "infamous" overhead projector to explain a tricky Algebra II problem.

SOCIAL STUDIES

These classes gave us a chance to explore the world of the past, and helped us to prepare for the world of the future.

Within the range of historical and psychological courses, we learned not only what people did, but why they did these things and what we could or should have done in the same situation.

Angie Burgess tries to "imagine without seeing" something that Mark Robles is explaining in Psychology I. "Where were you on the night of . . ." Sandy Vanosdoll, Ronnie Welch and Vernon Perry act out a court scene for the law and you. Human relations students Peter Roberson and Tammy Tate find that trust is the foundation of friendship. Larry Mustang and Liz Couch "take a trip around the globe" to learn more about world history. Good reference material is a big help for Ralph Thomas and Mark Winter in Bible history. Huronda Smith really "knows her stuff" when it comes to Oklahoma history.

SCIENCE

For some of us, science meant "grossing out" over dissecting a frog or taking blood samples. But to us who were curious enough to ask "why?" and "how come?" science meant a whole new world of life in a drop of water or strange chemical concoctions that we could not only identify, but even control.

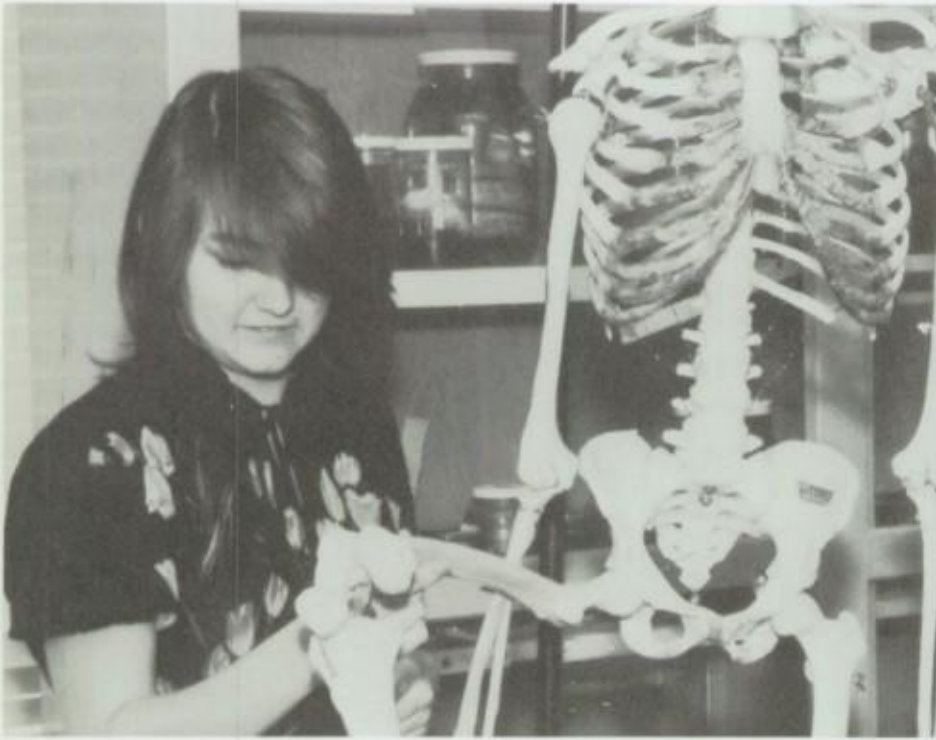

Under the direction of our teachers we could be found analyzing earth, peering interrogatively through a microscope, and proving that the world really is round.

Kim Clark is surprised to find something peering back at her through her microscope. Denise Henderson finds that general science requires quite a lot of book work. April Hubbard and Scott Perry conduct an experiment for earth science. Dena Stewart "looks in" on her chemistry class. Taking blood samples seems pretty fun to Larry Robbins, but not to his victim, Kathy Stepeny. Chemistry lab takes exactness and concentration from Debbie Russell.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

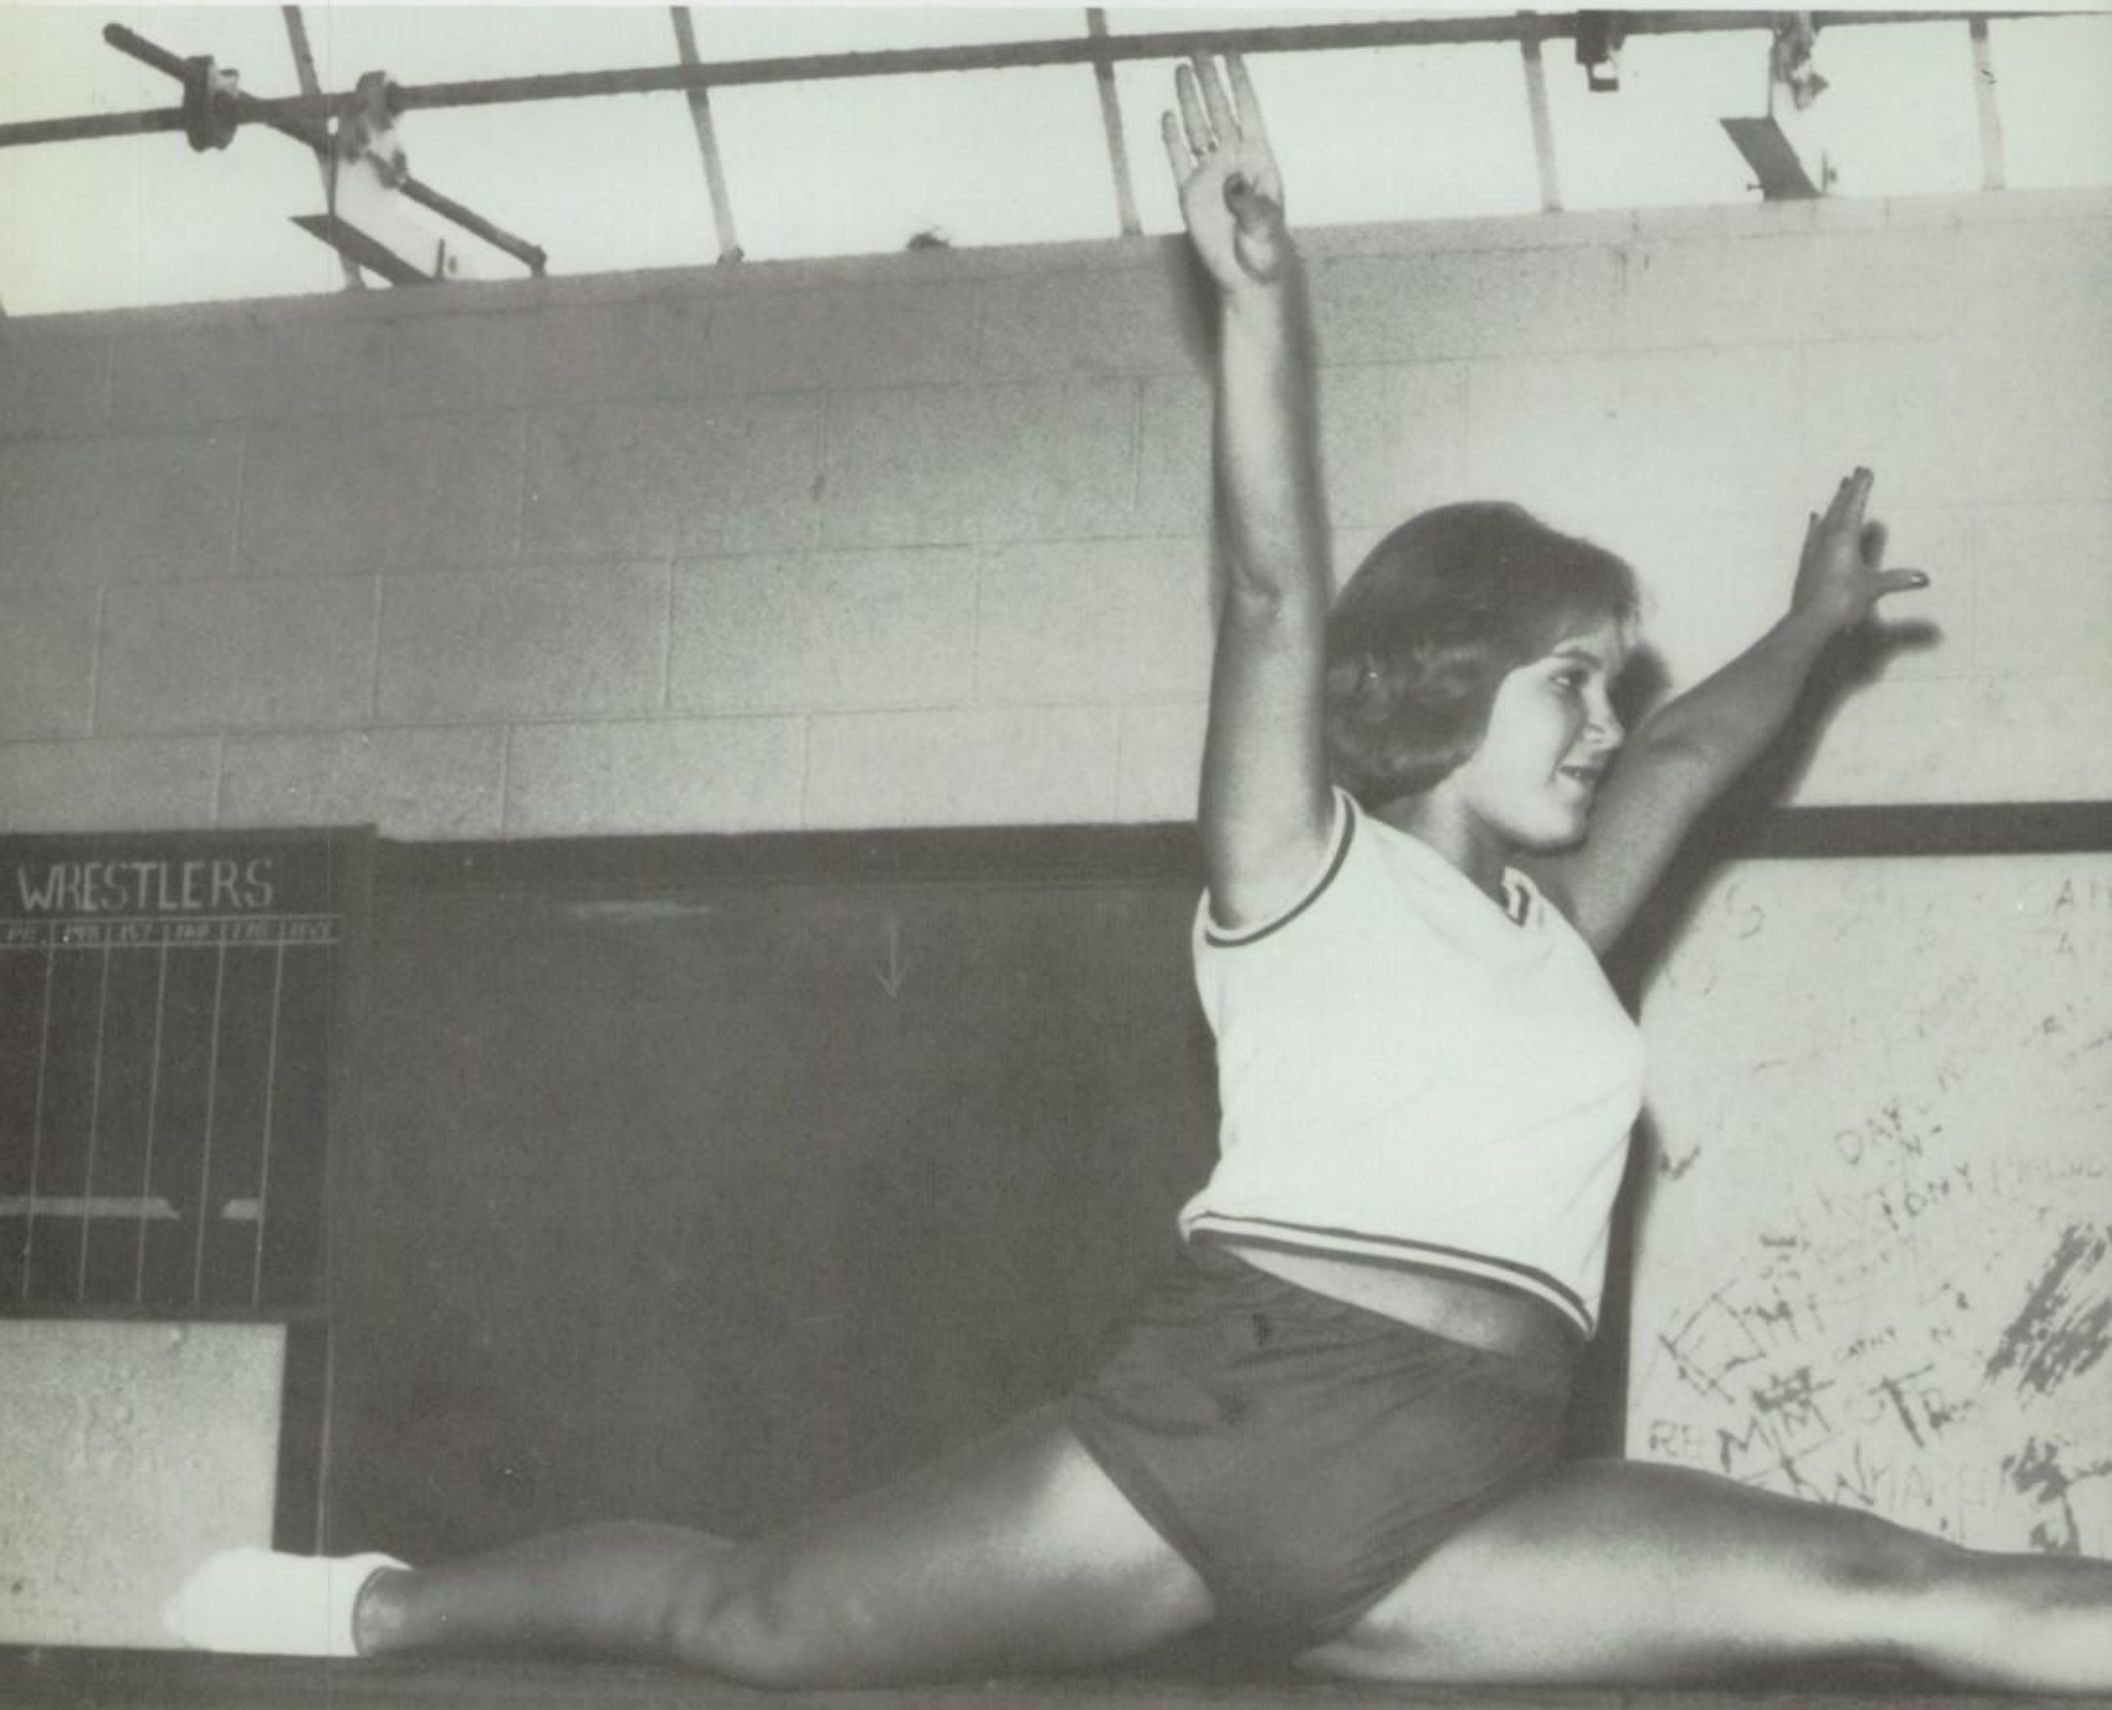

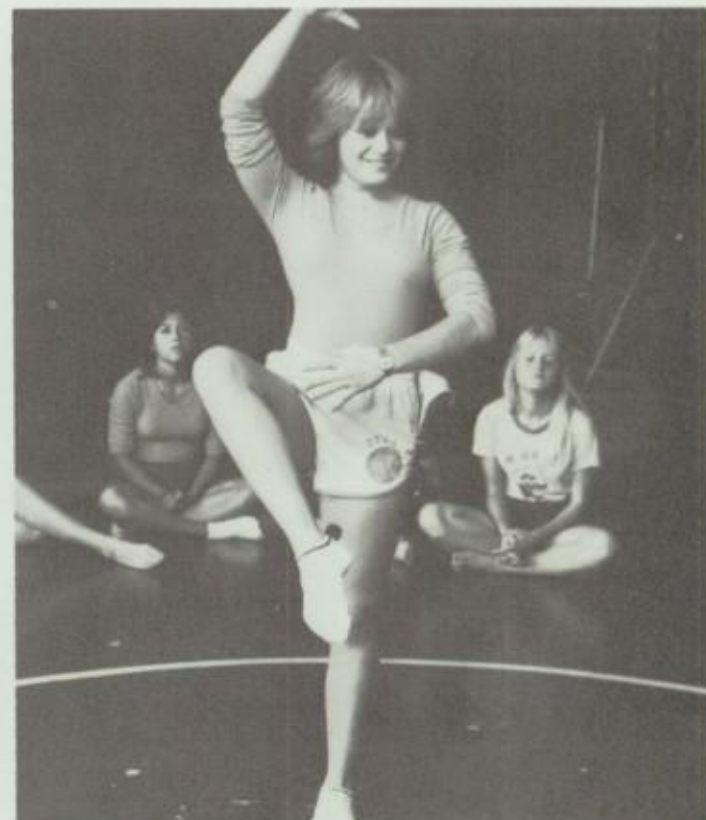

In our world of ever-growing physical awareness, many of us chose to go beyond the required year of physical ed.

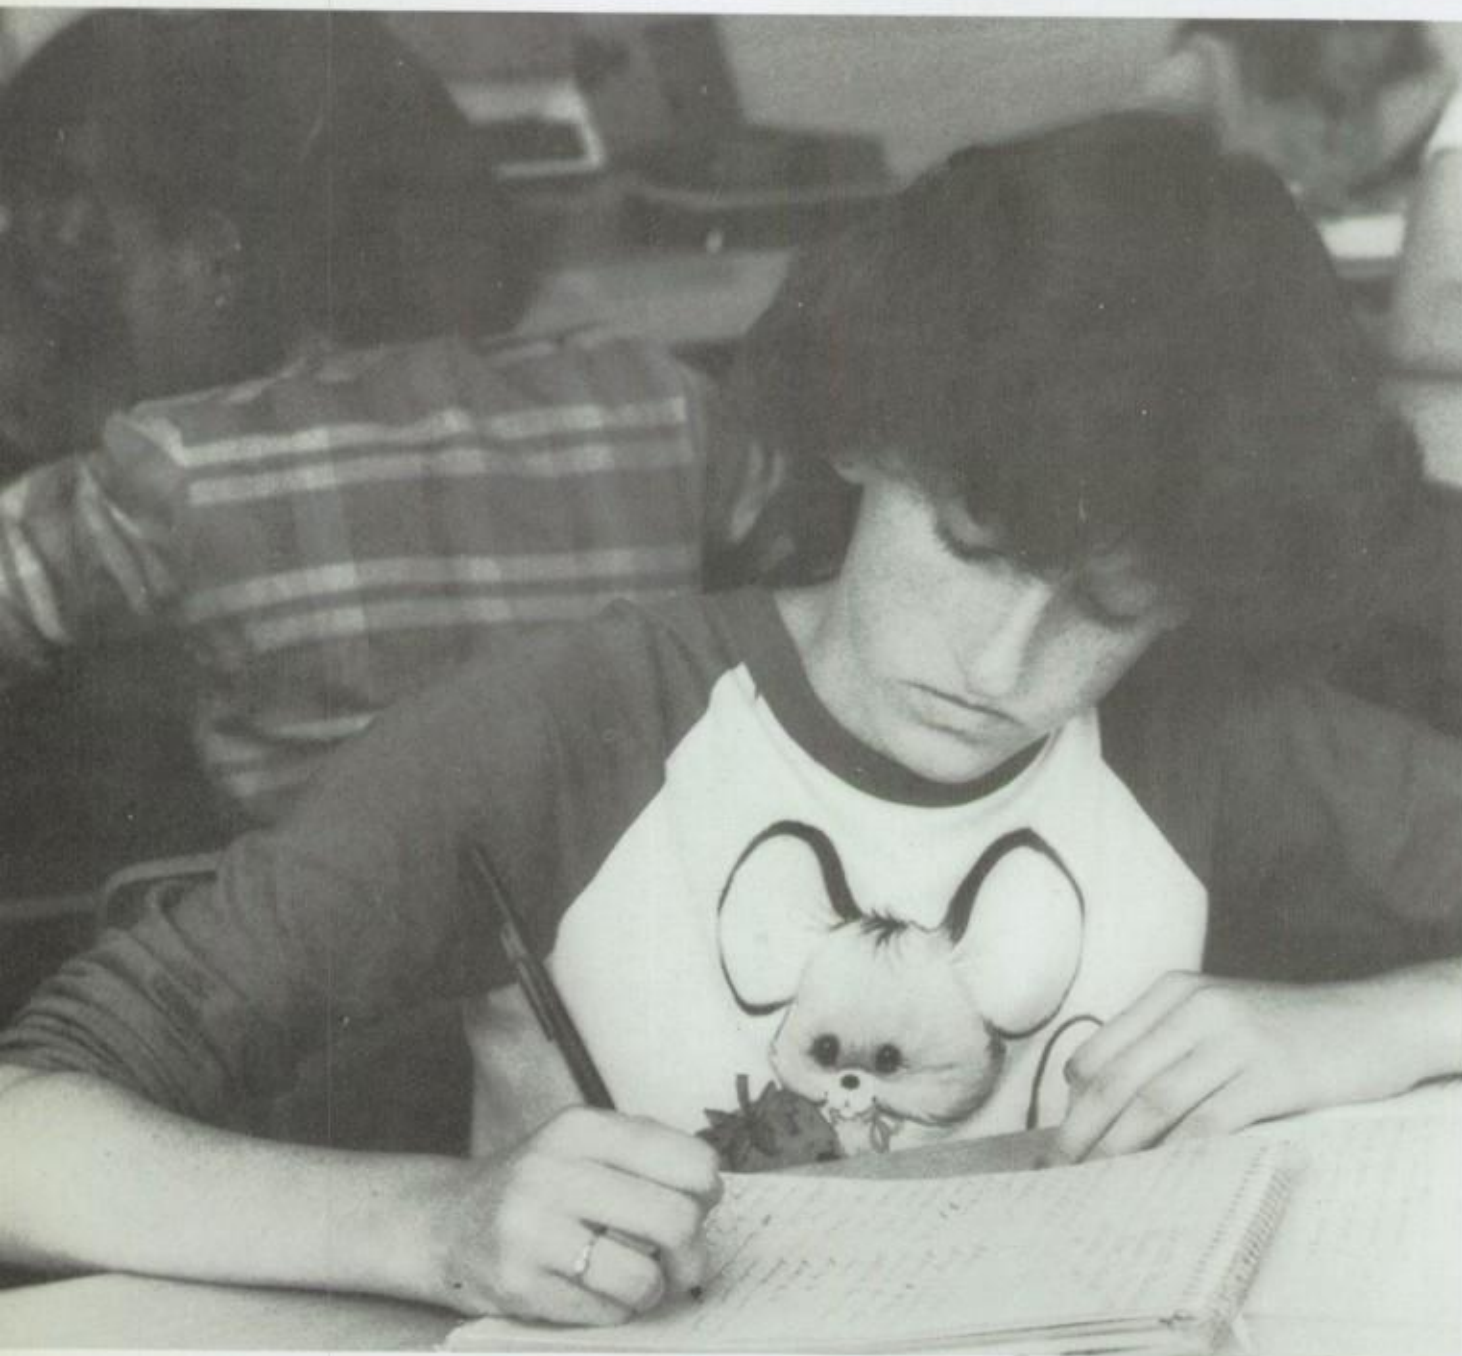

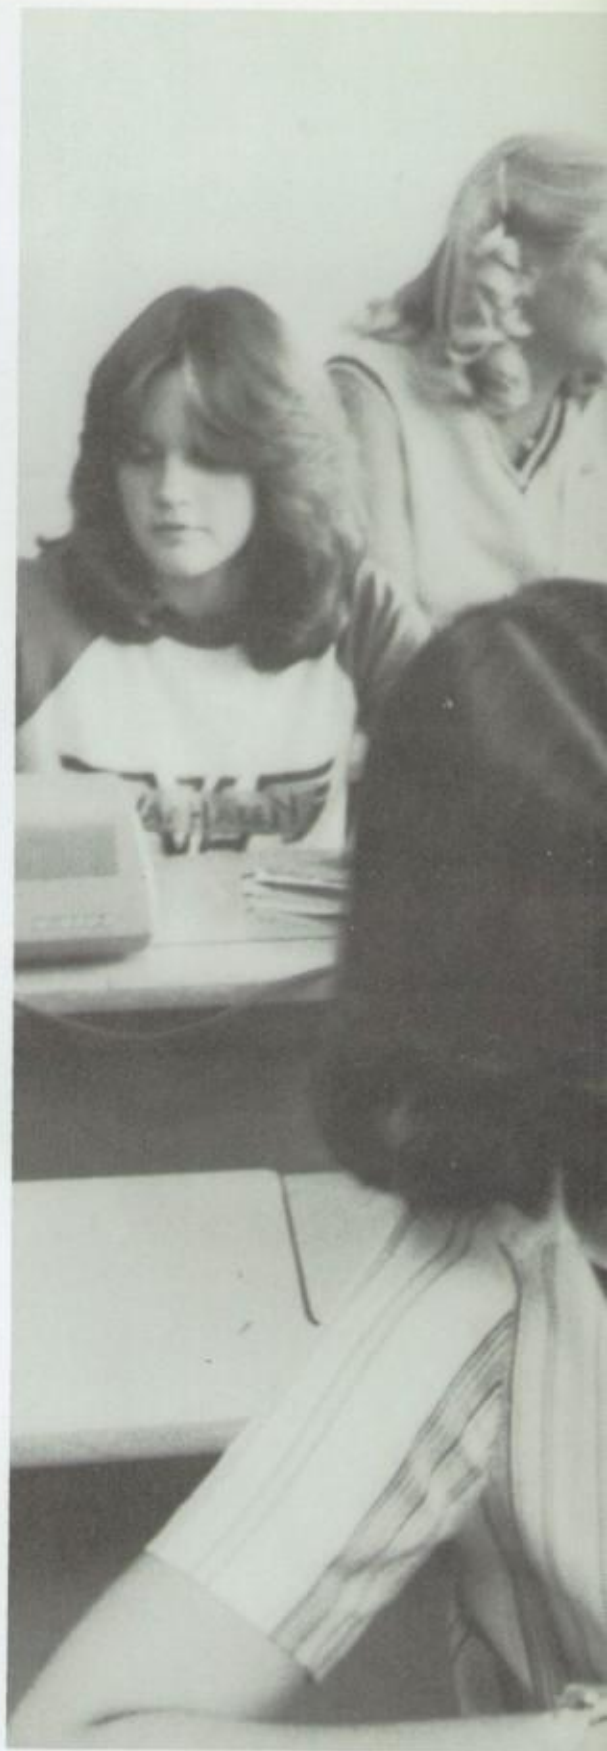

Shouts of "one-two-three-four's" could be heard regularly from the gyms, but also heard were the bouncing of the basketballs, the roll of coaster wheels and the screams of team victory or moans of defeat.

For those of us who were more physically coordinated, modern dance and advanced gymnastic classes were offered. Even a health class was available.

Julie Owens thinks it must have been all that homework that did her in. Stephanie Shipley's splits require concentration and great balance. Hoppy Williams "slams it" during a stickball game in gym. LeGina Pipes and Donna Pickens know that jogging is America's #1 pastime. Michelle Kline uses a croisé to display gymnastic expression. Liz Couch works hard in Modern Dance to build grace and endurance.

BUSINESS

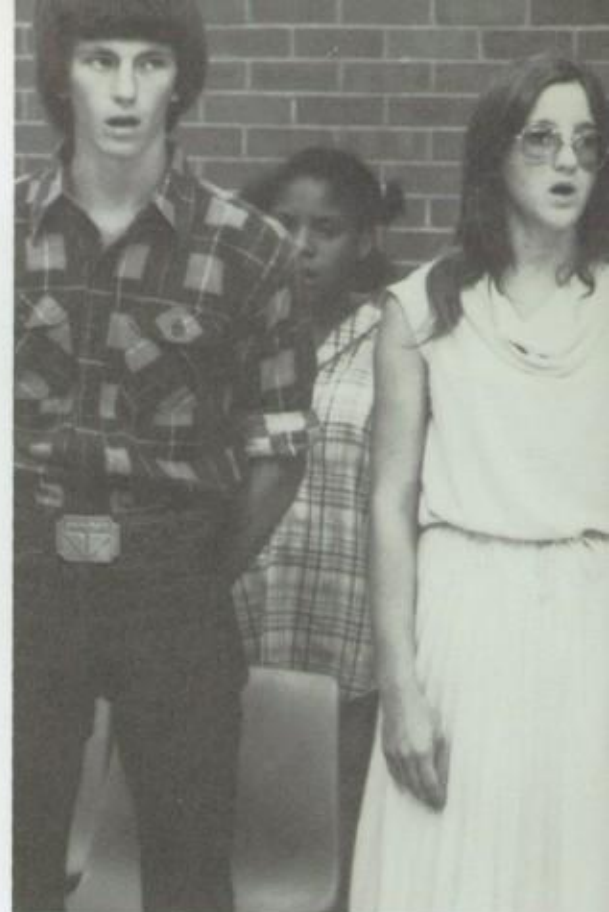

Our school offered one of the largest varieties of business classes available, and many of us took full advantage of this.

Our business department offered courses ranging from basic typing to an independent-study class, COE.

Some of us even acquired business-related jobs through these classes because of the fact that many employers called our school to inquire about the competent people our business department has been known to produce.

Jamie Wilson is sure that his mistakes are the typewriter's fault. Kerry Rogers reveals his secrets to a successful future in career experience. Most COE students find their individualized study a challenge, but Cathy Childs and Becky SanAntonio think a little comparison never hurt anyone. Sue Clay uses the office computer system to make schedule changes. Kathy Wisdom thinks talking on the telephone is the best part of being an office aid. Practice, practice, practice is a big part of Shorthand I, and nobody knows that better than Charlotte Forshee.

MUSIC

Those of us with musical abilities played an active role throughout the year. We performed at football games, pep assemblies, contests and other special events.

Even though our band director, Mr. Richard Smith, was brand-new, he somehow managed to pull us all together and get us organized.

Although we sometimes became extremely tired of the ever-remembered word "practice," we were always proud of the end results.

Robbie Sullivan, Scott Tyree, Jeanne Leonard and Michele Stanley strengthen their vocal cords as Tommy Edwards silently longs for a good pair of earphones. Ken Leverett and Rhonda Morgan just aren't in the mood for this. Eric Linfort and David Chambers find music theory an interesting topic to discuss with Mr. Smith, band director. "I hate to tell you this, but . . ." Kent Shingleton may have to teach Ross Tucker a few things about playing the trumpet.

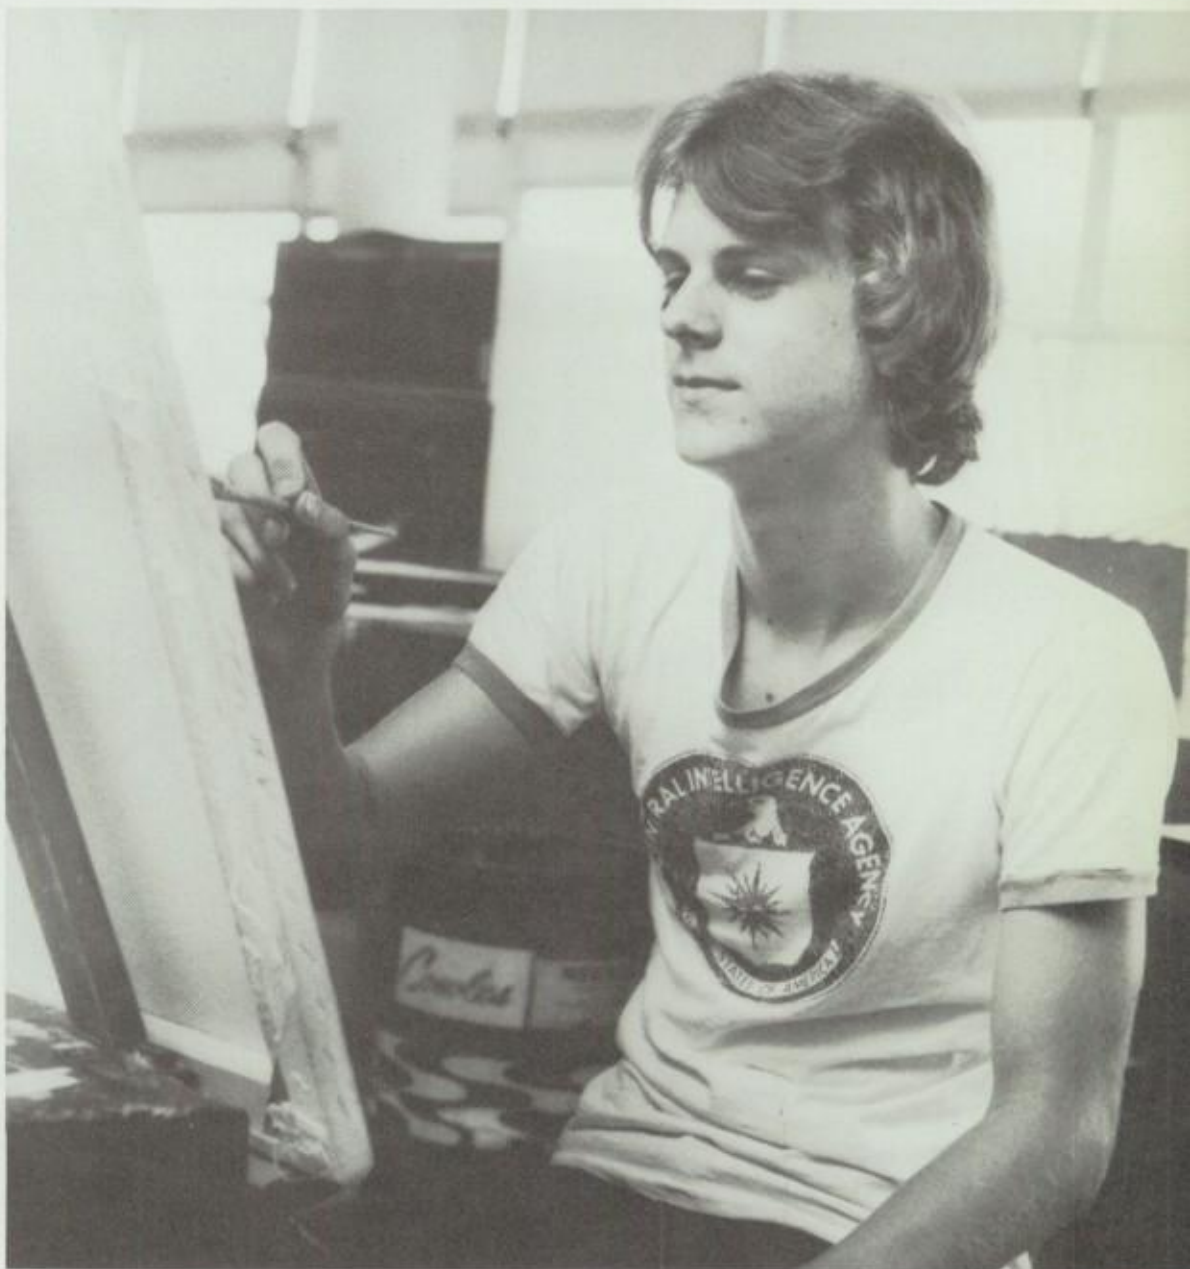

CREATIVE ARTS

Art classes opened new doors to anyone of us who cared to knock. They presented new ways to express our emotions and ideas, and, even though some of our projects didn't seem to measure up to the original objectives, they were still our own creations and could be counted as worthy accomplishments.

Not surprisingly, some of us found that we had remarkable talent in an artistic field, and, therefore, found a future career possibility.

Dorothy Walton finds that concentration is absolutely necessary to master macrame. Connie Sheffield is determined not to break another saw blade in her jewelry class. "Yuk!" is the only word Linda Newton can come up with as she wonders how she got into this mess. Mark Cantwell is positive that this one will be a masterpiece. Gussie Force demonstrates her sketching expertise.

HOME ECONOMICS

We Generals who were really thinking ahead as to "making it on our own" were those who took the classes offered in home economics. We could learn anything from scrambling an egg to designing an outfit to planning a family.

We really "had a blast" learning how to become independent of can-openers and rising clothes' prices. And as our self-reliance grew, so did our confidence.

Patricia Thomas seems to think her skirt will fit better around her neck. Sue Clay sure hopes Tobi Null knows what she's doing. David Rivers helps Jon Stewart and Cathy Oberg "tie the knot" in family relations as best man Tramble Jones looks on. Linda Ogg, Rhonda Carpenter and Jeanne Leonard learn how to be kids again in child development.

VOCATIONAL

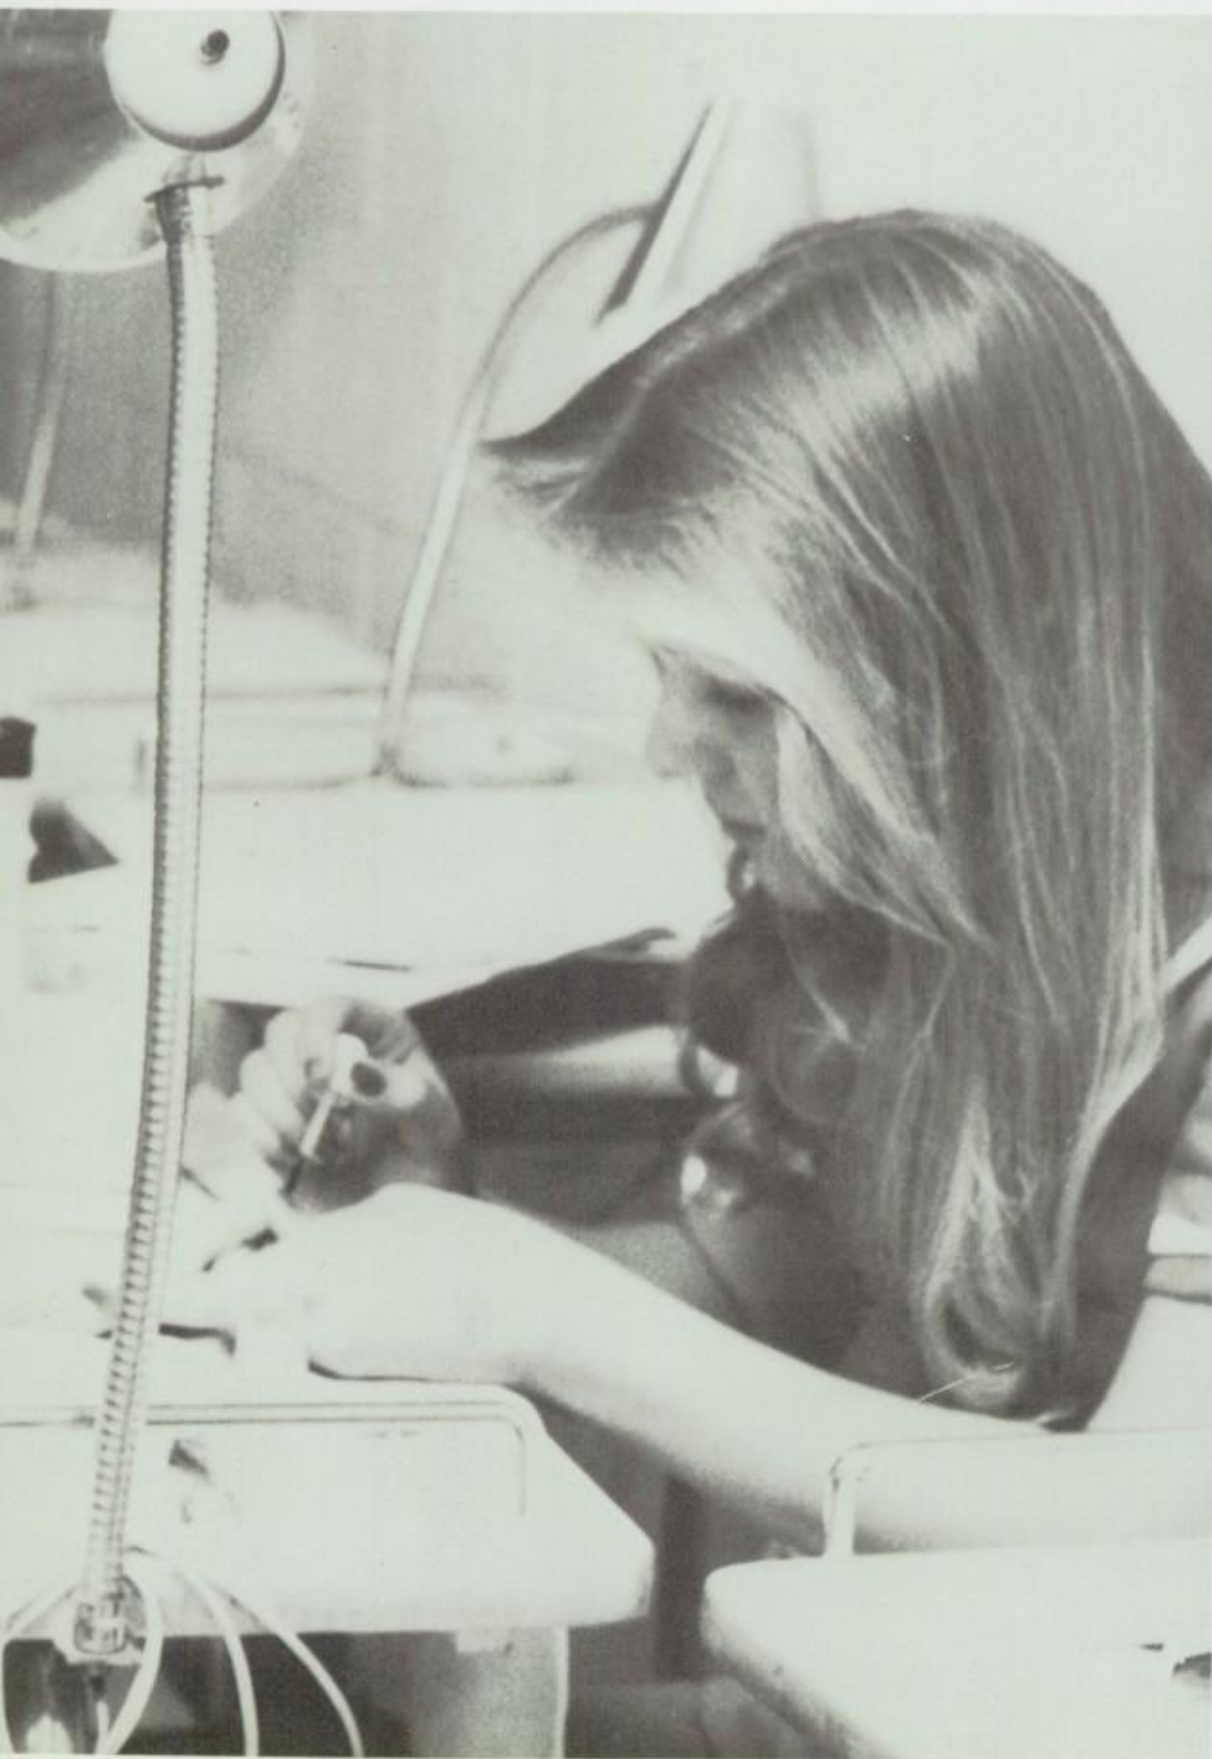

We students who were career-oriented relied on our extensive and challenging vocational system to meet our expectations.

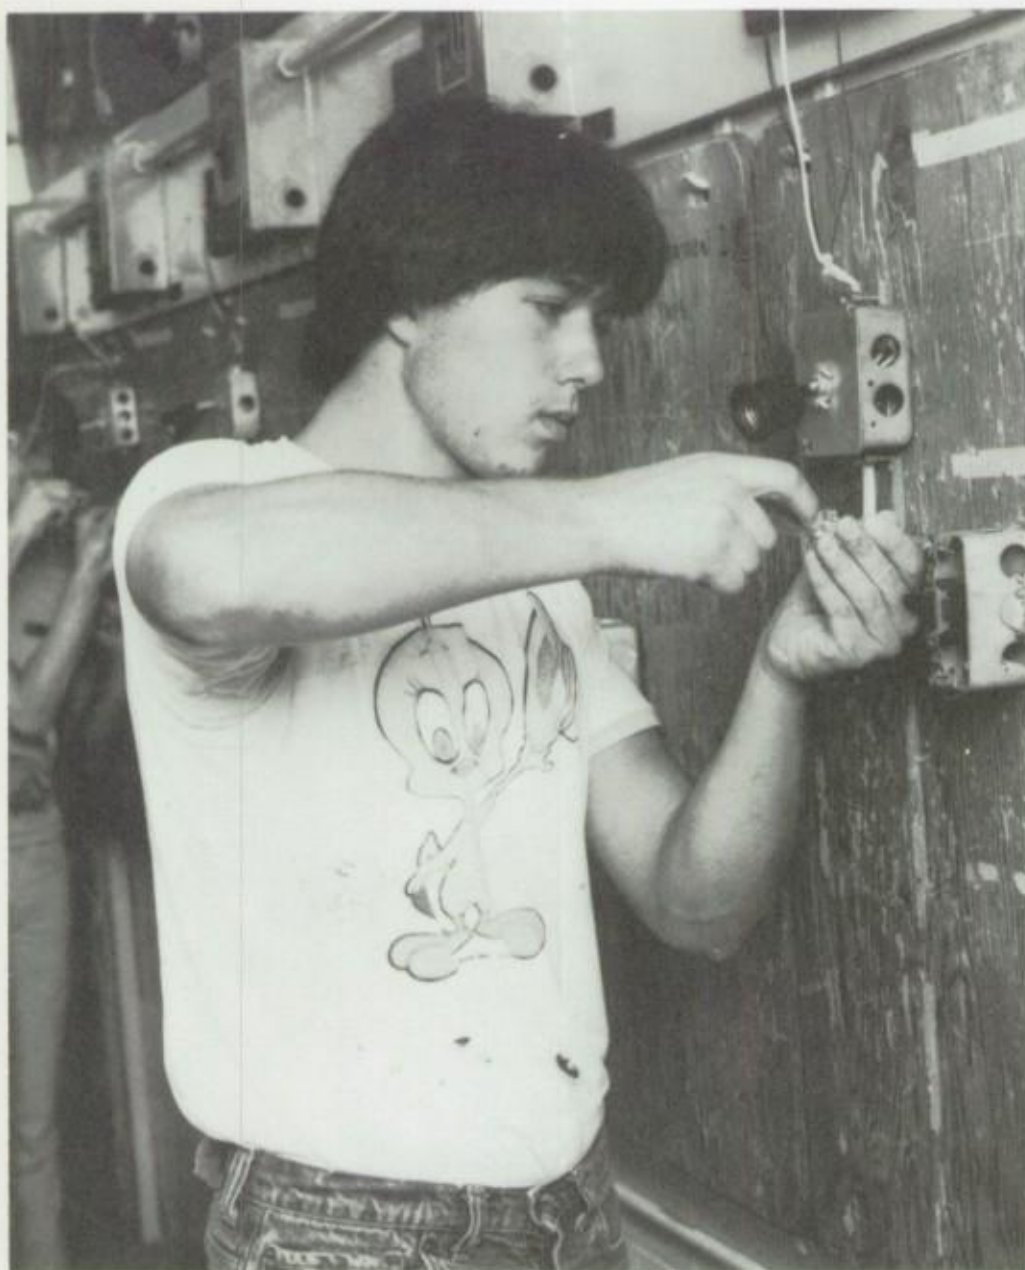

With such vocational training, we were assured of a skilled profession without the prolonged wait of college or other training.

We worked hard for three hours every day, but we received a great feeling of accomplishment from the pleased "thank you" of a "cosmo" patron or from the purr of a once-dead engine.

Theodore Morgan develops important skills (and more muscles) in his upholstery class. Regina Stone finds that backing up is harder than it looks. Daniel Kicklighter wonders what this machine does. Kathy Wisdom thinks driving must be a breeze if it's anything like the simulators. Tracy Waddle and Toni Pollard practice their manicuring on each other before trying "the real thing." Carol Crist wishes all of her patrons were as cooperative as this one.

VOCATIONAL

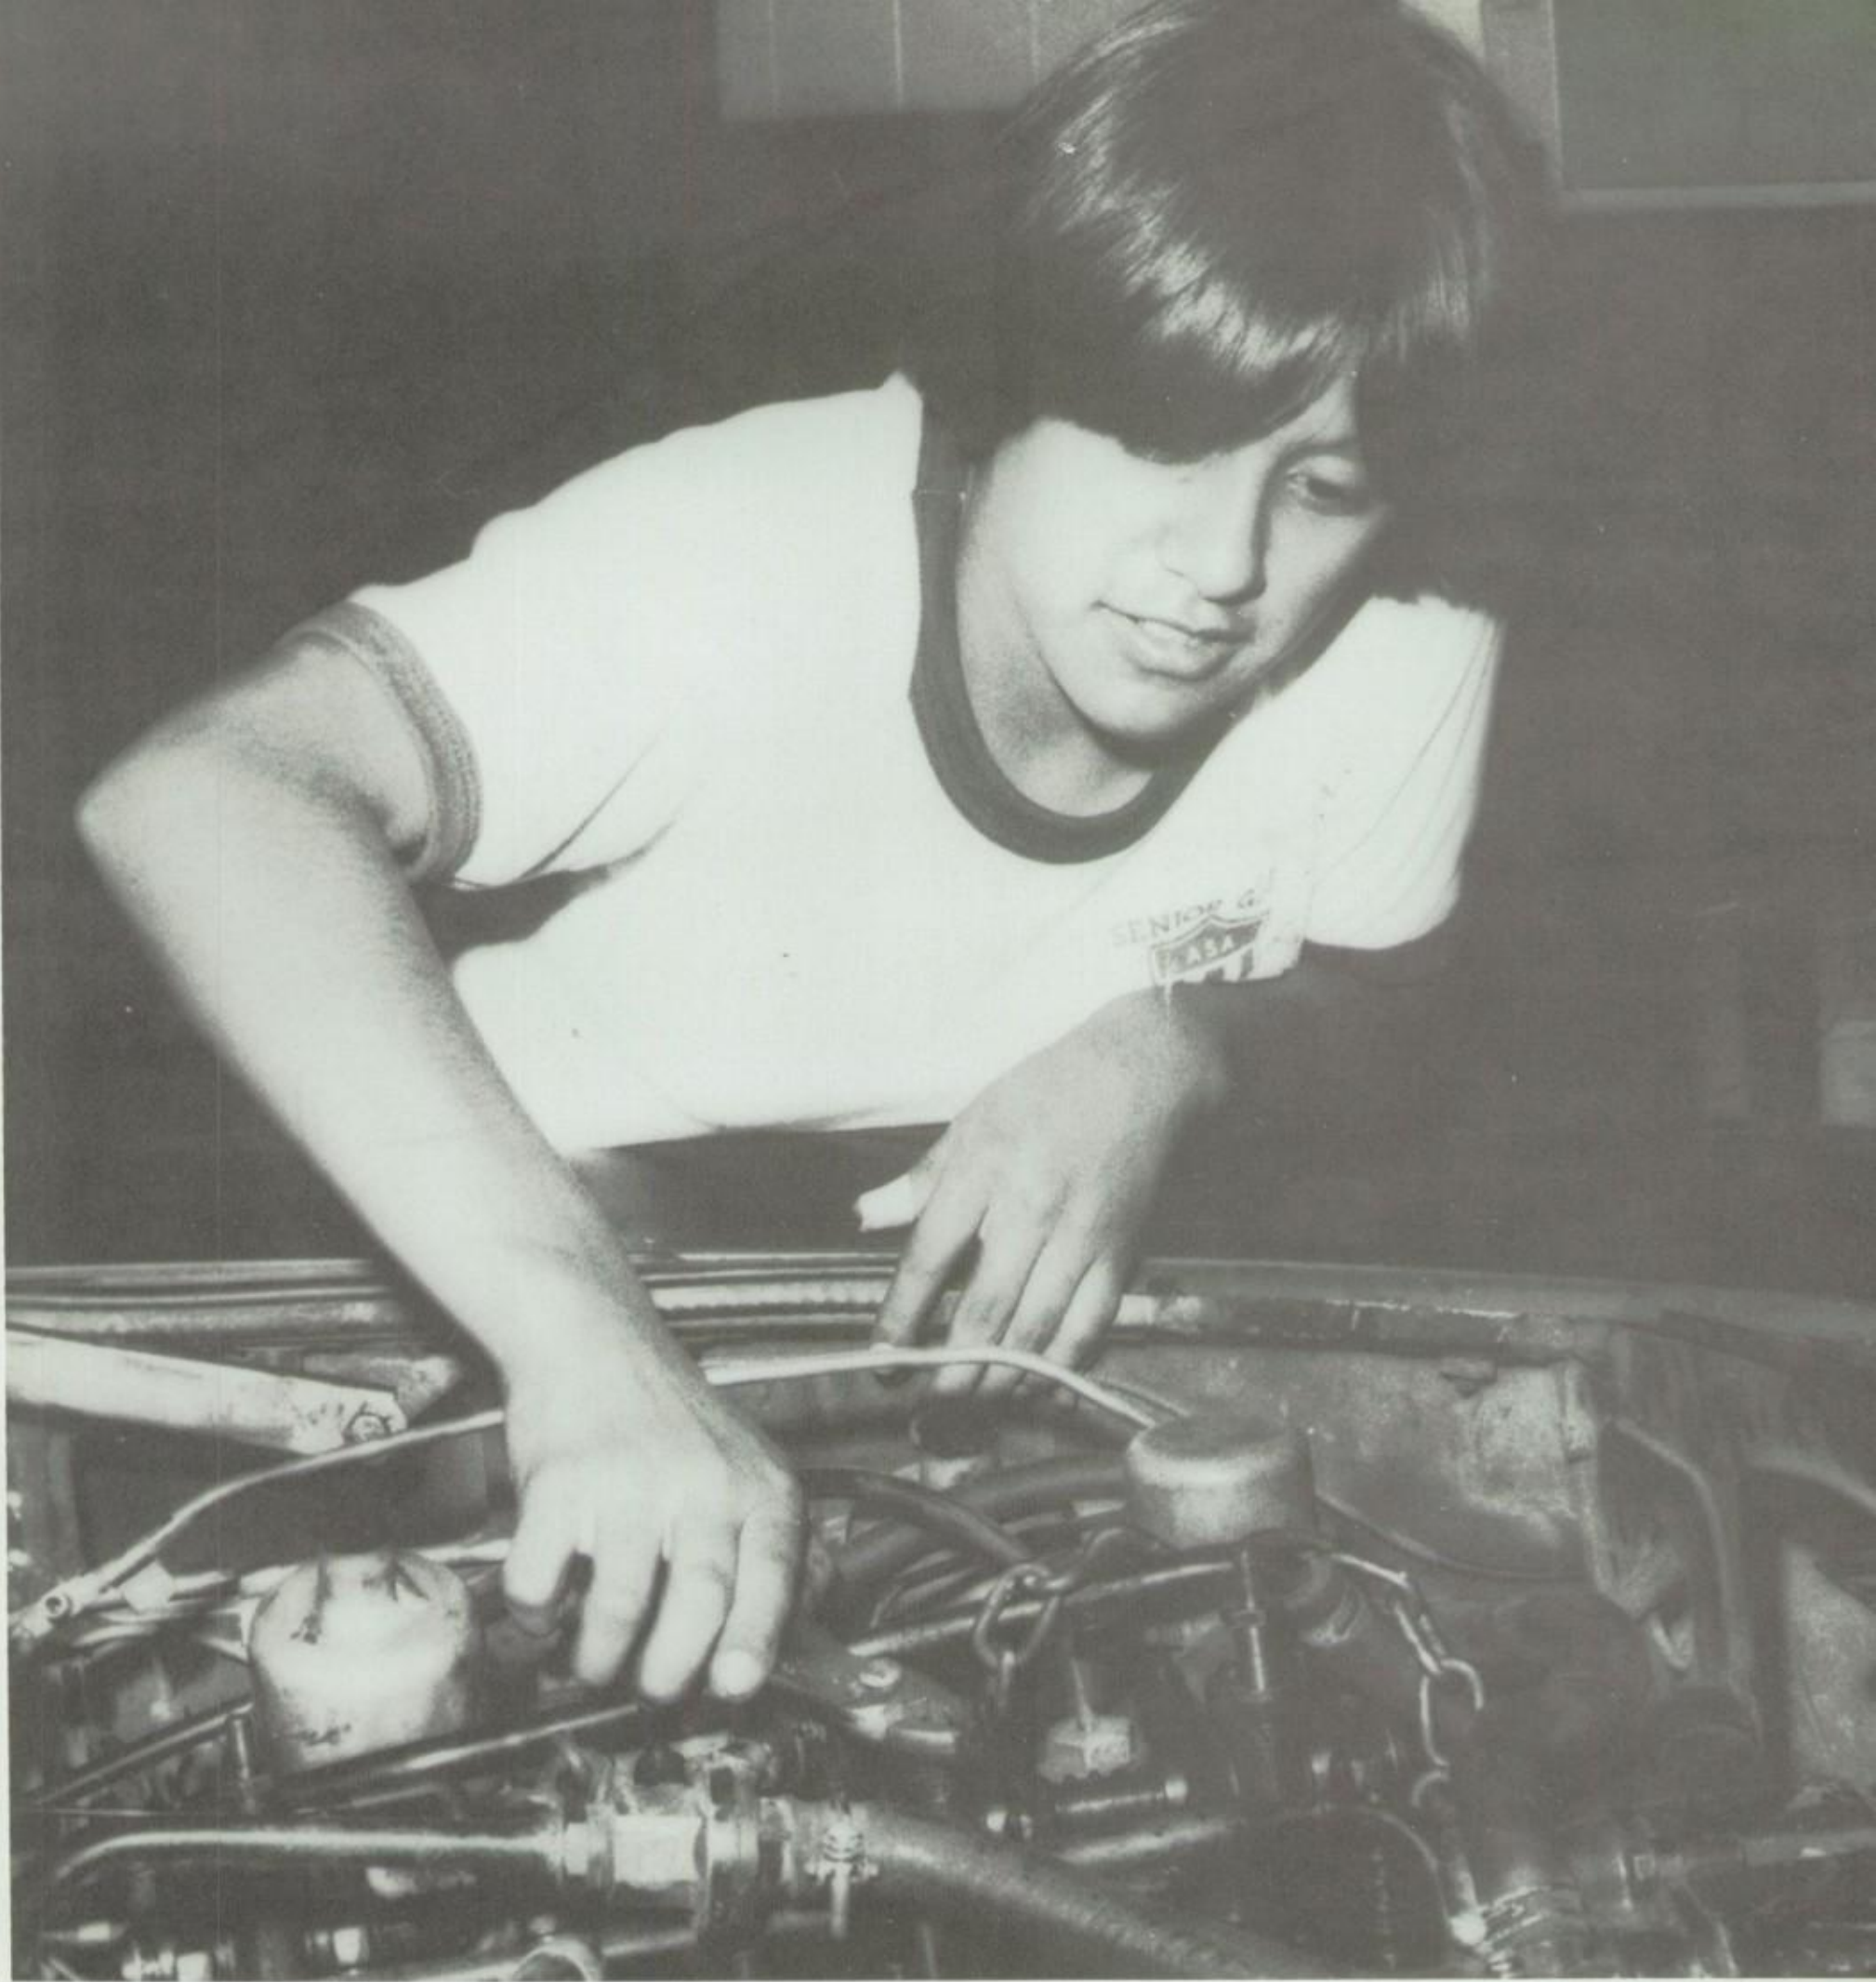

Even through the shock of mis-wired electrical outlets and pieces of sawdust in our eyes, we kept our goals ahead of us, and strove to develop our skills to their fullest potential.

Sure, we goofed off sometimes, but we always kept in mind what we were here for, and where we would be when that last bell rang at the year's end.

Electrical wiring takes patience and perseverance, and Jeff Richardson's got what it takes. James Robertson and Carlton Winn add a little "spark" to their lives in welding. Shannon Davis lets the chips fall where they may. Mike Wilson uses a planer to smooth things out. David Gibson patiently explains woodwork techniques to Russel Pierce and David Dunn.

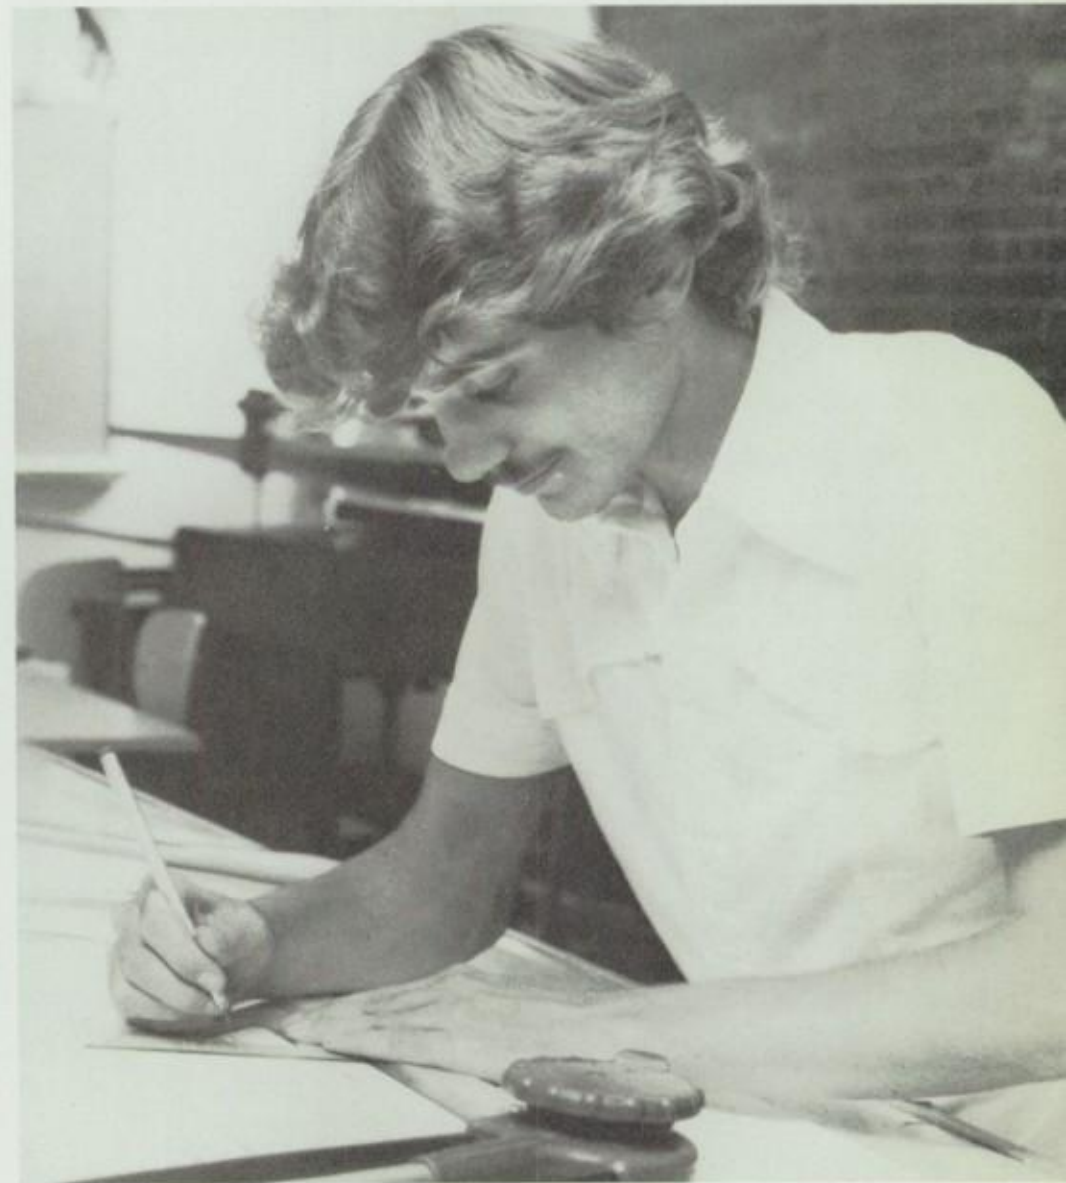

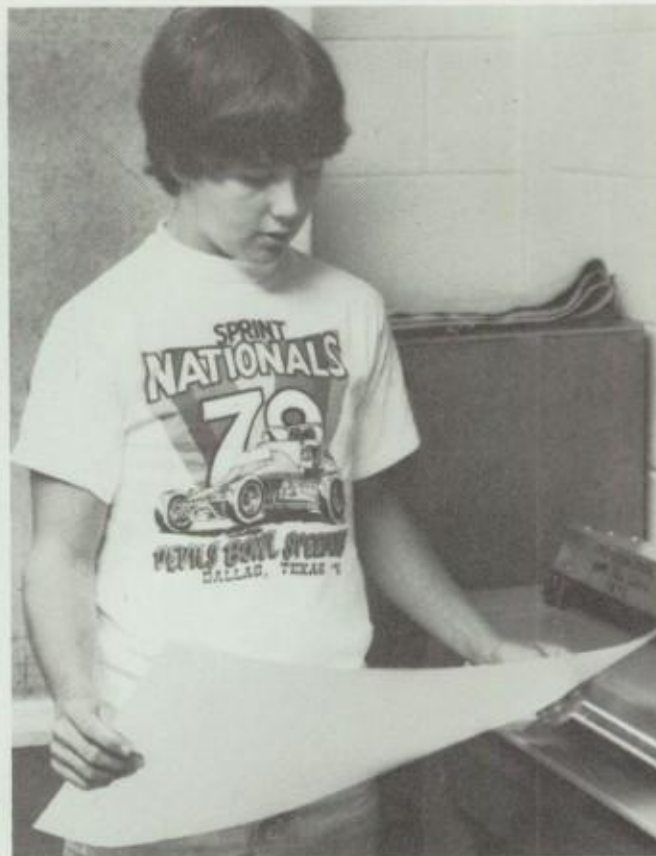

VOCATIONAL

We raced head-long toward our future careers, leaving other people standing in the dust.

Through working in a simulated job environment, we learned to solve arising problems without depending on others for assistance. That's why, by the end of the year, we felt our achievements stronger than most other students, especially if we walked away with all of our fingers and toes!

Lisa Orteiz shows that auto mechanics "isn't just for guys anymore." Ronnie Ruyle examines a construction layout that he has just run through the blue-printer. David Dawson finds drafting challenging and fulfilling work. Doing body work gives Tony Gibson plenty of time to think while looking busy at the same time. Tom Irving doesn't let his nose stop him from doing a great job of buffing in auto repair.

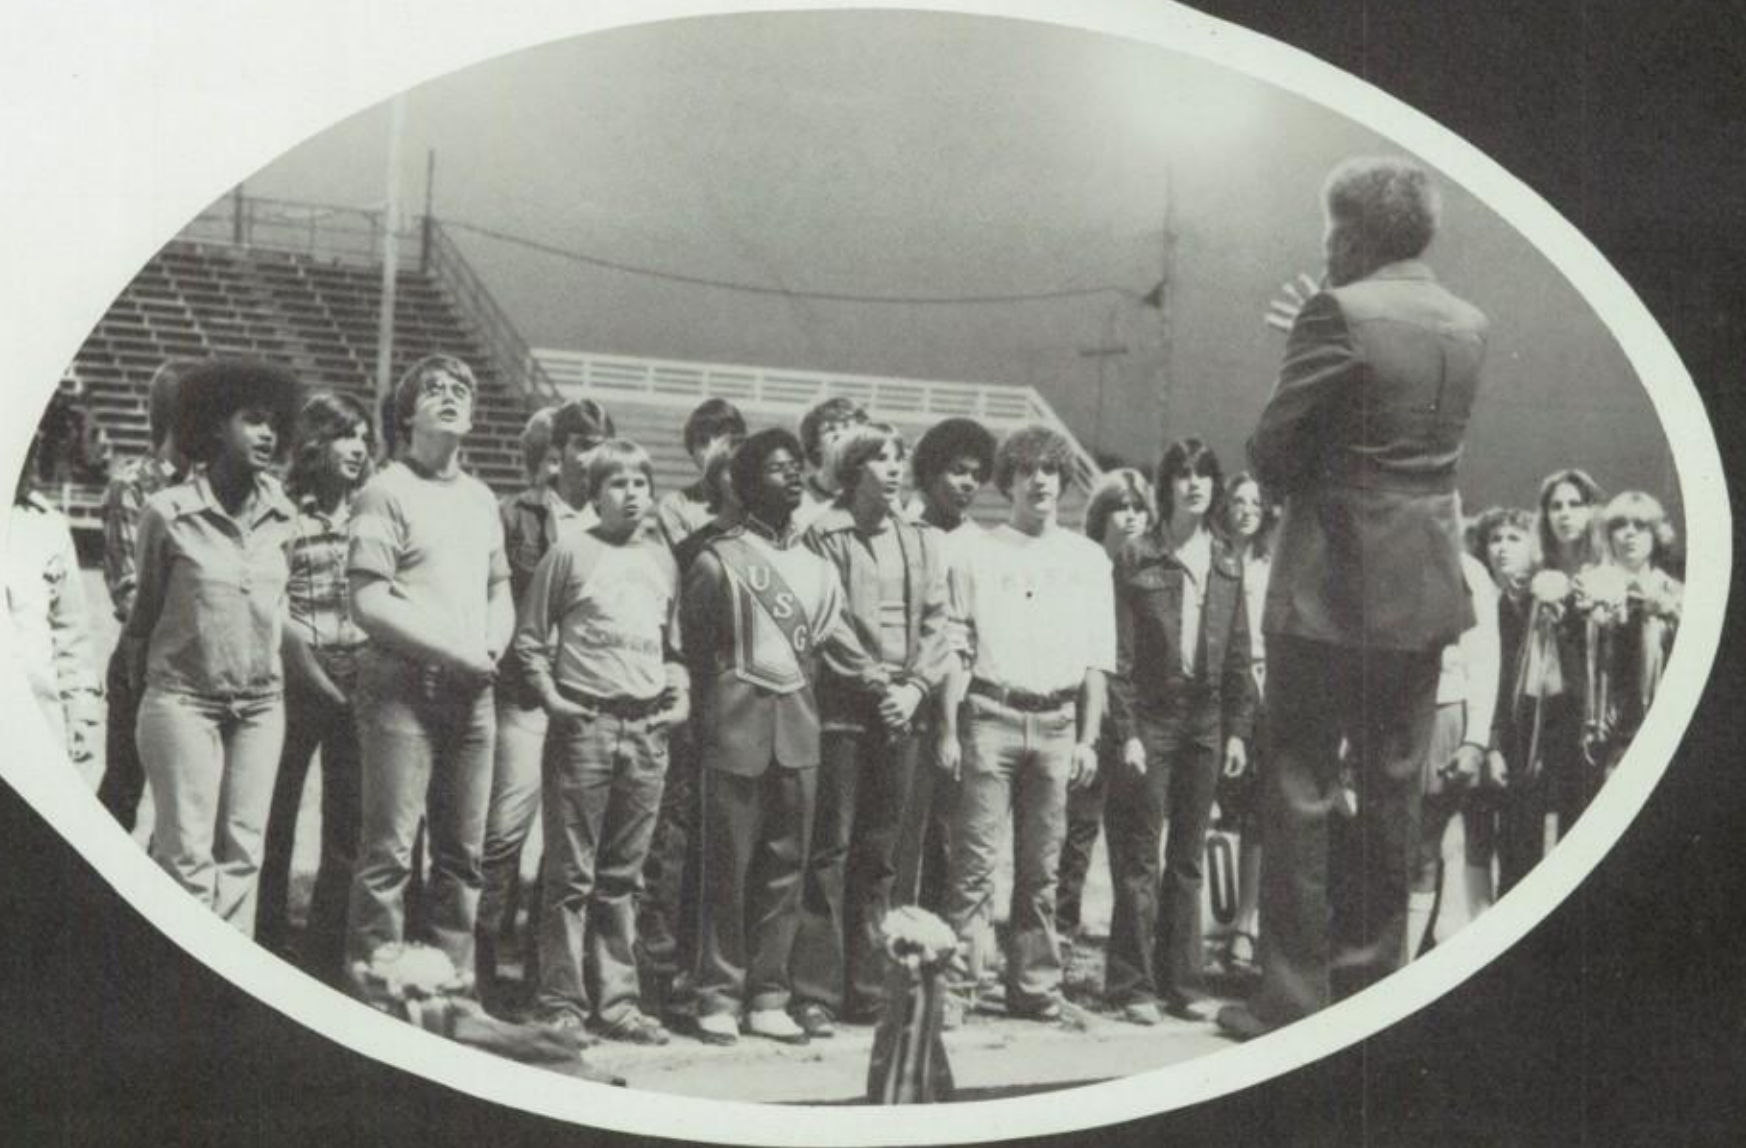

CREW

Behind every great production is a crew, and the crew of 1979-80 was the cream of the crop. They had not only the ideas, but the action as well.

The crew, consisting of each organization, formed the foundation, the backdrop, for the entire production of another year at U. S. Grant.

During summer workshop Student Council prepared to lead the school in dozens of worthwhile activities. The council united the school in a Christmas project at Riverside Elementary School, in Spirit Week, Homecoming Week, the United Appeal fund drive, and in many homeroom-oriented projects.

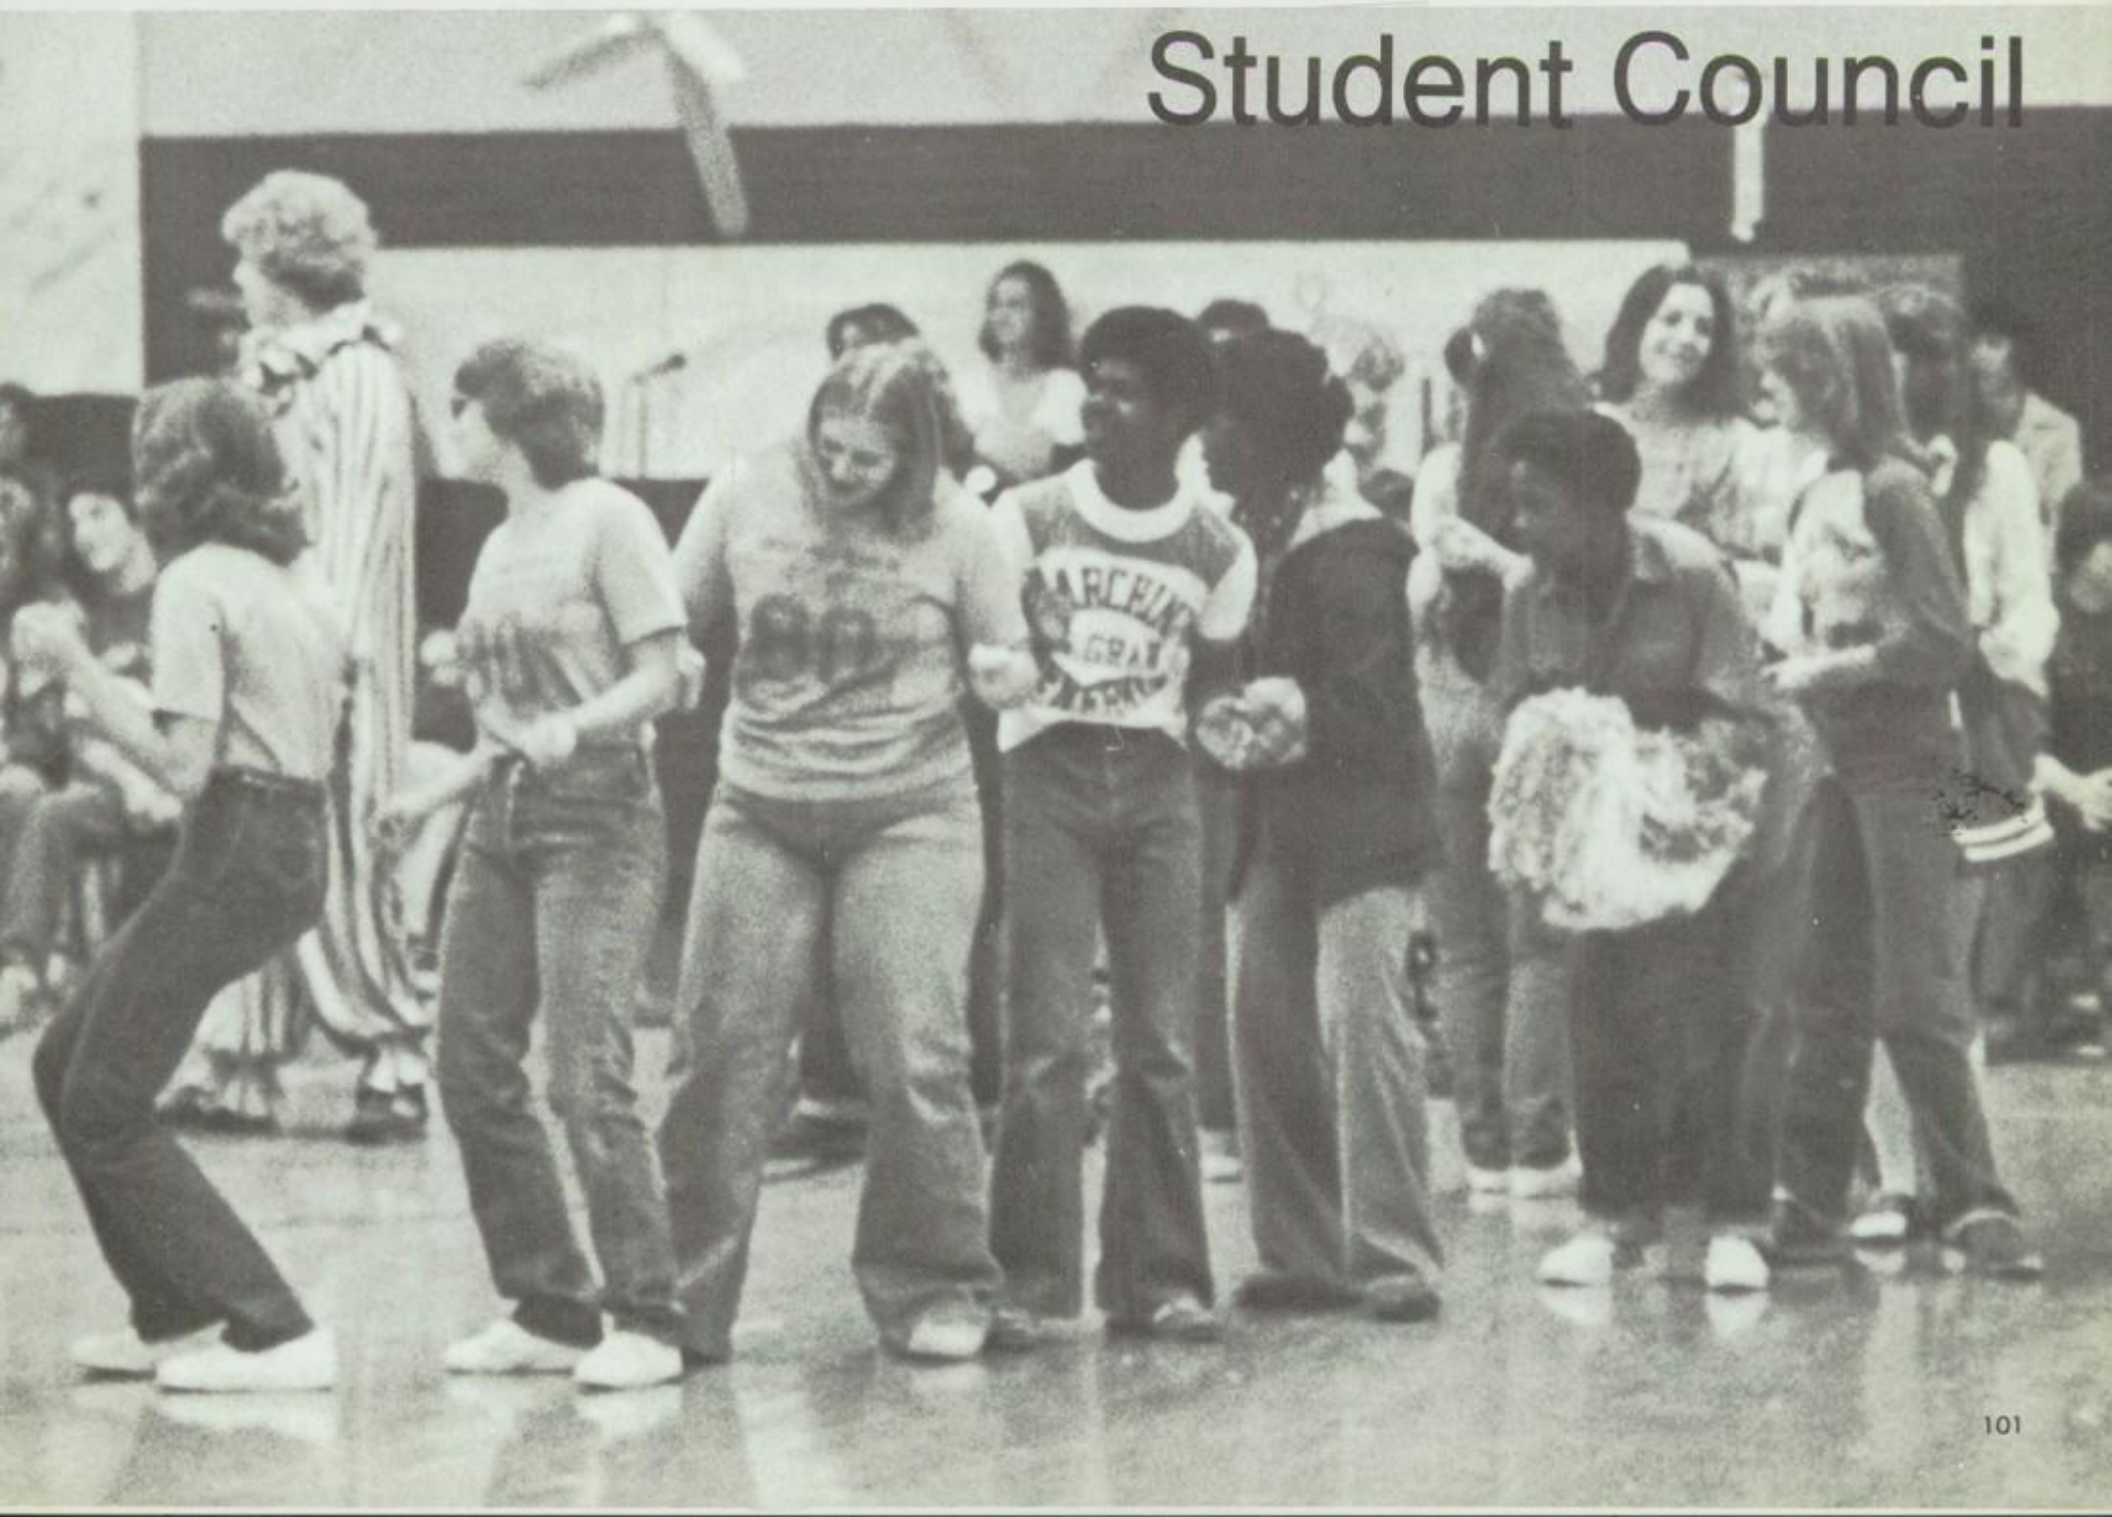

Mrs. Connie Overstreet and Michelle Echelle talk over future events. Alton Blakely and Michelle Parker dance through the halls on 50's day. Wrenda Williams and Patricia Thomas show that there is more than one way to wear a garter. Kelly Howard hangs Unicef bricks for her homeroom. During Twirp Week Deana Hewitt pays for Cory Conallis' lunch. At a pep assembly Student Council showed their spirit with a cheer.

This year Honor Society had a new sponsor, Mrs. Debbie Gandy, and, still ever-ready to lend a helping hand, sponsors Mrs. Christine Baugh, Mr. Ron Cable, Mrs. Thelma Parks, and Mrs. Harriet Pulley.

The service-oriented organization helped in a Thanksgiving project, taking more than $100 worth of food to a needy family, and also participated in the Riverside Elementary School activity.

They sold T-shirts and had a car wash to raise funds for other community service ideas and for scholarships for Honor Society graduates.

Scott Tyree and Denise Leach washed cars for a fund raiser this year. Painting the cannon is a big thing for Rhonda Howard, Randy Haskins, and Vicky Hanks. Mrs. Baugh and Ronnie Welch talk over upcoming events. Vanessa Malicoate and Gene Mundt pack can foods for a needy family at Thanksgiving.

Fellowship through social activities keyed the year for Mu Alpha Theta, the honorary math club, and the foreign language club.

In addition to their parties at Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Break, Mu Alpha Theta took baskets to needy people at both Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Mrs. Nancy Phelps and Mrs. Brenda Roberson again sponsored the foreign language club. The group visited several restaurants featuring foreign dishes.

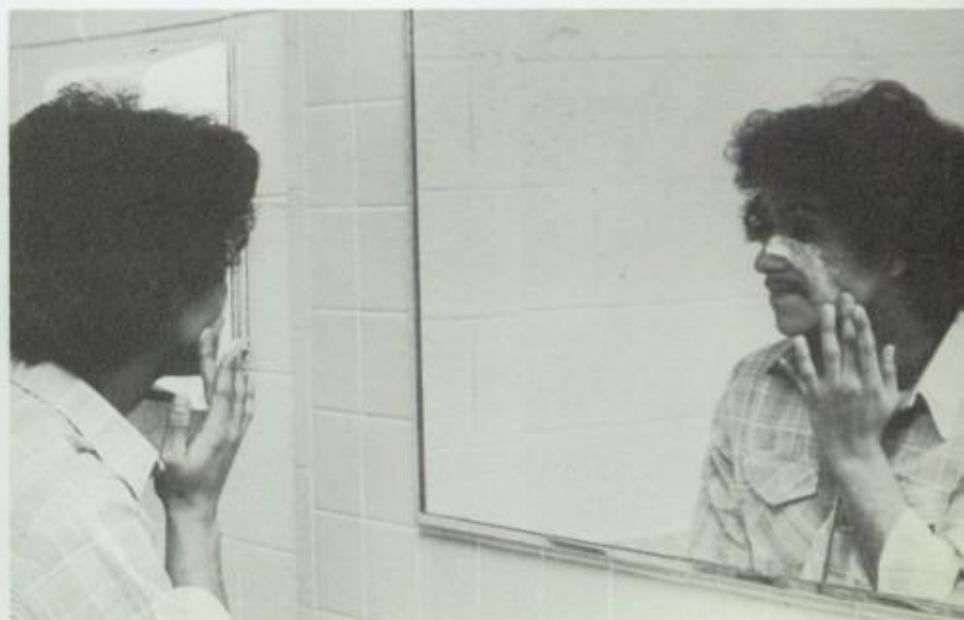

Mr. Severlan Vaughn even has to show his son, Jeff, how to do some quotients. Steve Outlaw works out a problem on the transparentese. Debbie Russell is disgusted with math assignments. Sonja Rhodes can't understand her Spanish books. Jason Hensley and Dana Muno practice up for French King's Day.

Mr. Guy Smith, sponsoring the Speech Club, led the members in several speech tournaments throughout the year. The club placed well in several of these tournaments.

The drama department, under sponsor Mrs. Jayne Thompson, presented two major plays this year, the first of which was "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

The Thespians also acted out "Will the Real Jesus Christ Stand Up" for their annual contest play, and "Who Can Fix the Dragon's Wagon?" for their children's play.

Leesa Sharp is rehearsing for the upcoming speech contest. Starting the year off right, the drama department presented the play, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." Two of the characters in the play are Steve Petty and Denise Leach. Ruddy Chavez is preparing for his role in the upcoming play. The clown troupe shows their school spirit by performing at one of the games. Leaving for one of the debates are Mark Hise and Jana Stevenson.

Creating understanding among students and teachers was the main objective of the Human Relations Club under the supervision of Mrs. Arbeecheer Hoffman and the Student Advisory Committee under Ms. Jewel Houston.

Highlighting the Human Relations activities was the teacher dress-up contest at Halloween time. Mr. O. J. Thomas won that contest for his impersonation of Flip Wilson's Geraldine.

SAC stressed self-improvement and school improvement through all its activities.

Mr. O. J. Thomas was the winner of the Human Relations club teacher dress-up contest. Connie Jacobs leads Eric Clark on a trust walk. George Kerford hopes for a strike as he bowls with the Human Relations Club. Tana Hefner helps Kim Austin with her rollers on Tacky Day. Lisa Ortiz helps Robin Majors put up the SAC calendar. More popular than ever, teachers wait for the winner of teacher dress-up to be announced.

Newspaper. Front Row: T. Terrazas, B. Stringer, A. Burgess, J. Stone, K. Thomas. Back Row: D. Staggs, T. Bryant, M. Robles, K. Wright, D. Molet, D. Williamson, R. Kraemer, sponsor.

With Barry Stringer as their new editor-in-chief, the Grant Dispatch worked to keep their deadlines so that papers could come out on the second Thursday of each month. David Molet was sports editor; David Williamson was news editor; Kim Thomas was feature editor; and Frank Corey served as editorial editor. Also on the staff were Tim Bryant, cartoonist; Tammie Terrazes, business manager; and Mark Robles, staff photographer.

Don Staggs and Mark Robles interview David Gray for a story. Angie Burgess, Ken Wright and David Molet concentrate on cutlines for newspaper pictures. Kim Thomas and David Williamson gather headlines for their stories. John Stone and Barry Stringer study old newspapers for new ideas. Tammie Terrazes types a story for the Dispatch.

"The General Review" was the theme chosen for the 1979-80 yearbook, with a famous Shakespearean quote serving as the statement of this theme. Sponsor Dr. Ruth Kraemer supported the yearbook staff through deadlines and last-minute pictures, while Kelly Young served as editor of this annual publication.

LaDonna Parish, Stacy Gowens and Tina Groves prepare pictures for the '80 General. Tammie Terrazes and Duana Logan sell an '80 General to Jackie Webb. Working on index this year are Shane Boyd, Gail Tucker, and Cindy Fansler. Getting new ideas from old ideas are Cheryl Smith, Kelly Young, Sheree Floyd and Vicki Riddle. Nita Micue and Resa Orr crop pictures for the sports section.

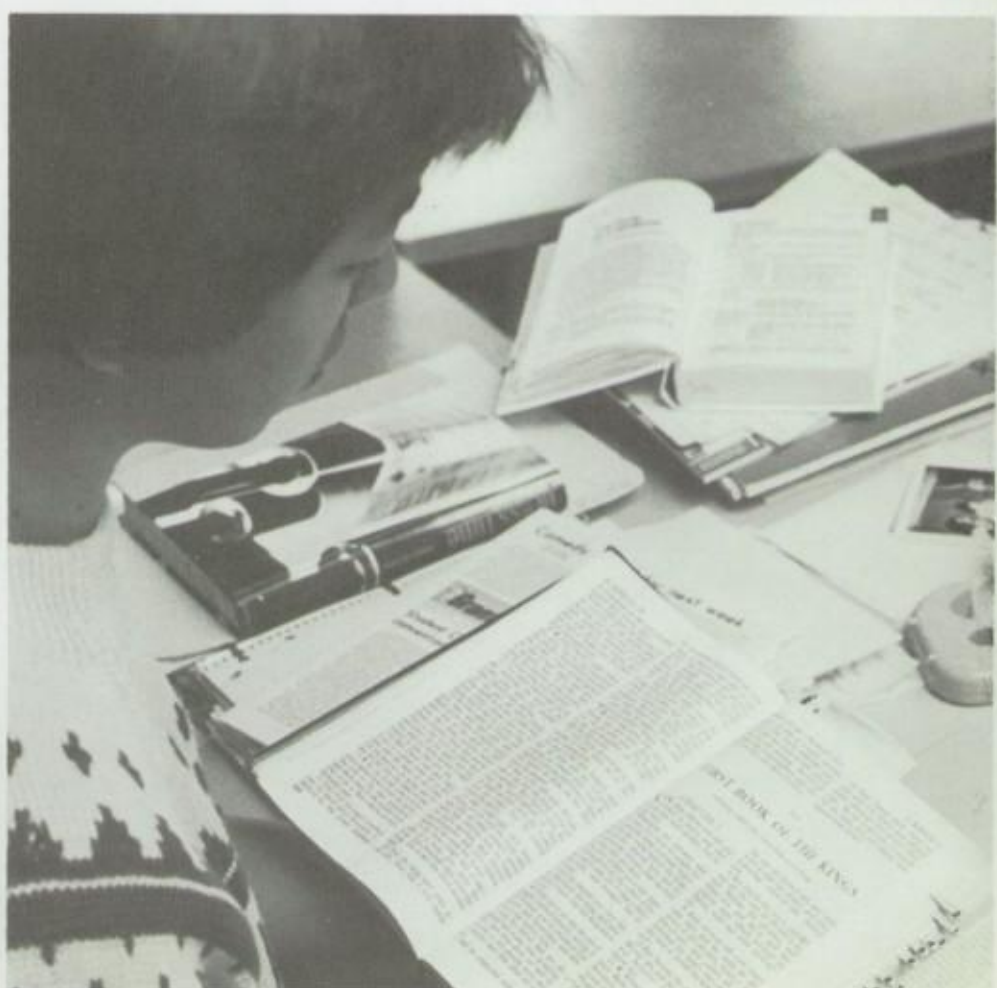

Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Radio-TV club, and Science club all featured changes this year. With new sponsor, Mr. Chuck Page, baseball coach, FCA invited prominent athletes from a variety of sports to be guest speakers at their meetings. Radio-TV club, under the supervision of Mr. Guy Smith, applied skills they were learning as they did promotion work and made special appearances. The Science club made more field trips than usual this year.

One of the FCA fund raising projects was selling eggs. Mrs. Ann Douglas and Gene Pollock prepare for the daily announcements. Greg Brooks keeps up with his Bible studies for FCA. This year's Science club went to the Wichita Mountain Wildlife Refuge. Hiking through the Wichita Mountains is the Science club.

Photography, Safety-Red Cross

Both the photography and Red Cross-Safety Council concentrated on expanding certain skills of their respective members this year. The Red Cross-Safety Council, under Mr. John Savage, staged an annual mock disaster to determine just what to do if the "real thing" happens. Although the photography club didn't get started until second semester, the members were eager to share their ideas.

Cathy Childs wants to see if she takes good pictures. Annette Parker poses for Robbie Sullivan. Jana Jordan combs her hair instead of driving in drivers education. Tom Seeley helps Lisa Baugas from a faint. Dena Stewart gives mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to Scott Lehman.

Some very unusually dressed girls could be seen walking around the halls in November — the result of Girls O'Club initiation. To celebrate their "humiliation," they had a party at Pizza Hut, and went to McDonald's and Godfather's where the initiates were "privileged" to join in other "fun" activities.

To raise money for their various parties, and for medals and letters, the club sold candy.

Another special event was the softball banquet held in November at Dodson's Cafeteria.

FBLA

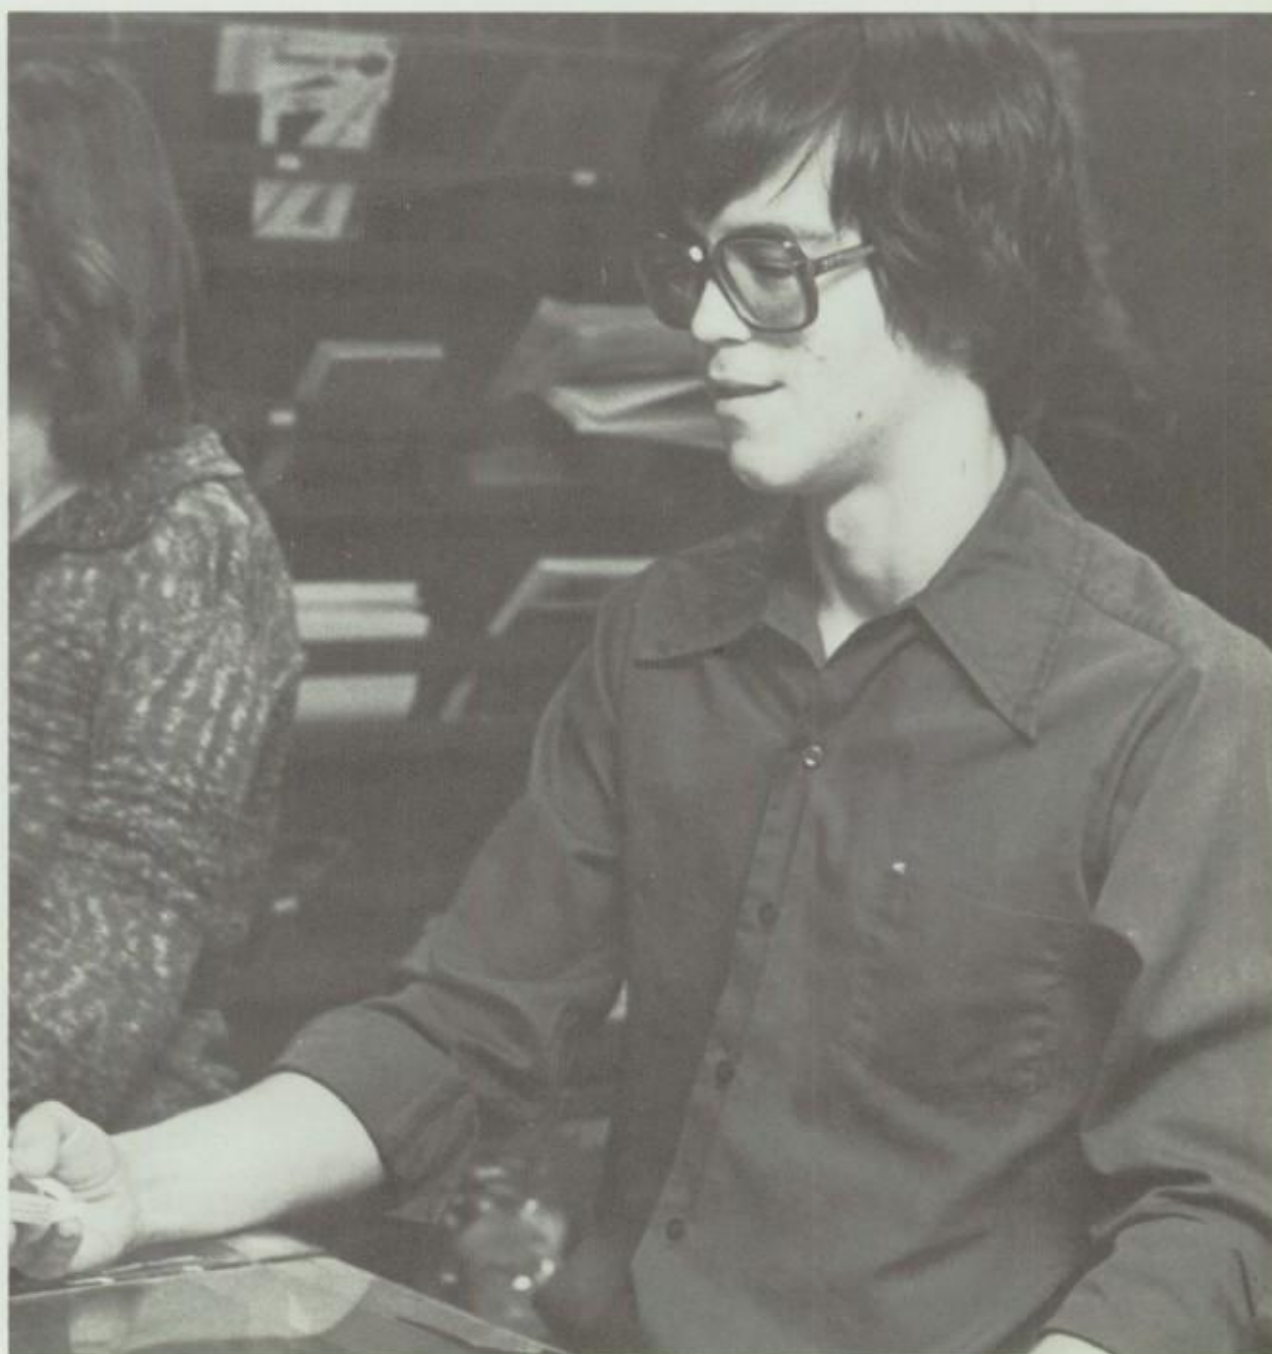

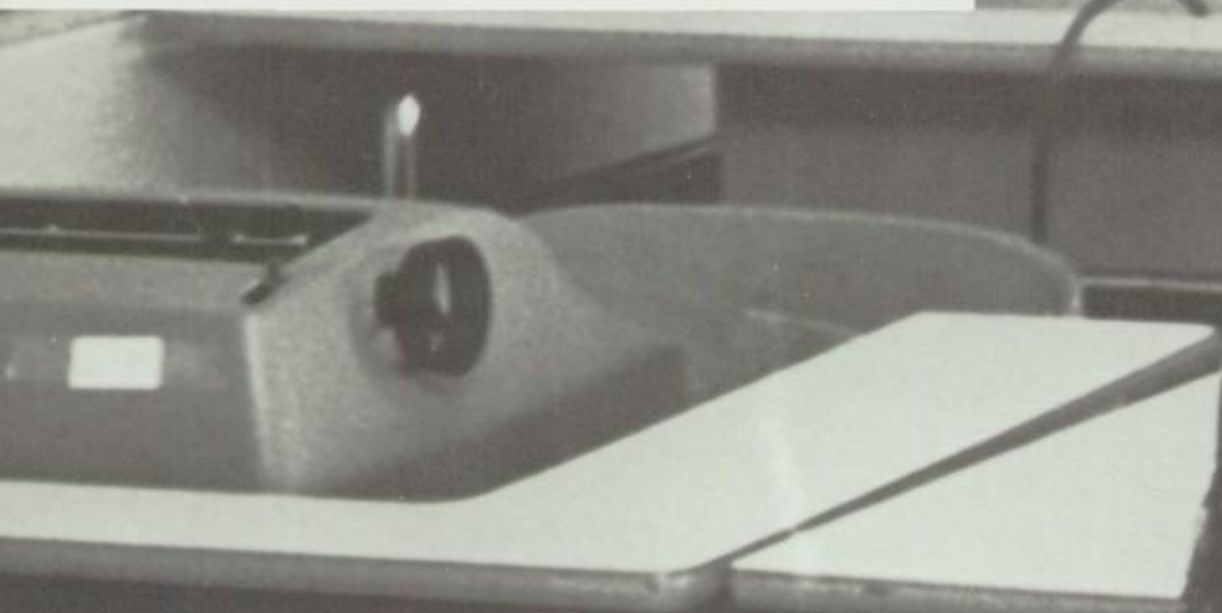

The goal of many Future Business Leaders of America this year was the impending trip to Washington, New York, and Bermuda at the end of the year. Mr. Al Fuller, sponsoring his 17th year of FBLA, led the group in selling candles, sausage, cards, gift items, and more to earn their way to state and/or national convention.

Lisa Butler and Terry Ross practice for the state typing competition. Steve Verdicchio works in the student store during lunch. Kathy Roberts tries to convince Donna Seymore to buy some sausage. Debbie Ray decorates the FBLA bulletin board for Thanksgiving. Scott Feland tries to decide whether or not to buy a candle from Carla Hicks.

FBLA. Front Row: S. Outlaw, president; N. Raiden, vice president; A. Hebert, secretary; M. Webb, treasurer; T. Aynes, reporter-historian; D. Ray, parliamentarian; F. After a year of competition, service, and activities, VICA culminated their agenda with a "Blow Out" at Six Flags. The group attended the district contest in February and the state contest in April. They also sponsored a hair design show at Moore High School. Each month they had an early morning breakfast.

Melinda Swafford sits quietly as Terry Musgrove blows her hair dry. Pam Colbert and Darlene Fitzgerald sit patiently waiting for their hair to dry. Sherry Adams says to Marsha Tune — "This new shampoo does wonders for your hair." Steve Maloney gets a shock out of life in electricity class. Venetta Shene cuts hair for a very patient Lisa Duford. Mr. Larry Killebrew helps keep his men and women informed on the latest electricity knowledge.

After winning seven superior ratings in competition during the 1978-79 year, the choir planned to attend both district competition at Bethany Nazarene and state competition in Norman.

Programs for the three choirs — concert choir, Choir I, and Choir II included Christmas performances at Shepherd Mall and at school as well as a PTSA community sing.

Pam Franco enjoys singing by the piano. Mr. O. J. Thomas directs a song on the Southside field. Karen Frazier, Kenneth Leverett, and Rhonda Morgan sing a little tune in class. Gayla Liles thinks a little squirt will help.

Back Row: G. Huddleston, K. Vanzant, D. Coffman, B. Graham, J. Wilson, D. Edwards, B. Erwin, W. Blethrow.

The marching band, directed and sponsored for the first time by Mr. Richard Smith, attended Oklahoma State University's Homecoming and Band Day, and played at the Oklahoma City Fidelity Bank, and sponsored their annual spaghetti dinner. They presented the annual Christmas and spring concerts. Mark Winters served as drum major.

Charlette Forshee plays at this year's homecoming. Dennis Clark can't seem to find the right size of uniform. Trying to find the best music that fits him is David Edwards. Steve Leonard practices before upcoming competition. Jason Hensley toots his tuba. Mark Winter leads the band in marching. Christopher Miller gets down with his beat.

Drill Team. Front Row: J. Harris, S. Waldrop, C. Childs, C. Noble. Back Row: K. Maddox, D. Walton, K. Lindsey, B. San Antonio, M. Lindsey, captain.

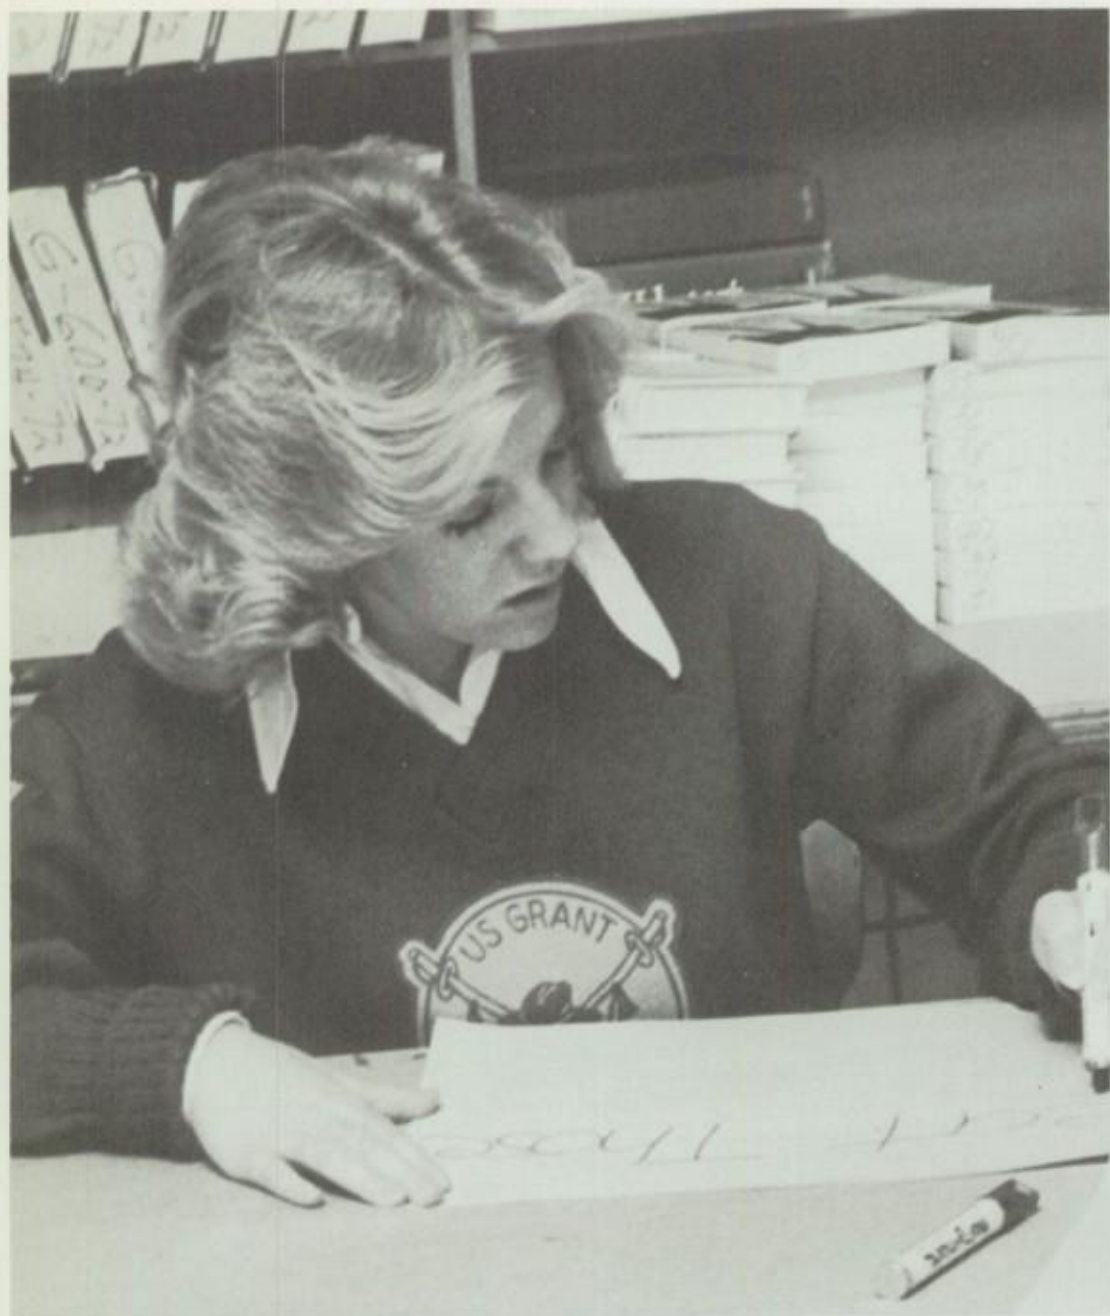

Flag Corps. Front Row: K. Stokes, M. Staggs, M. Dickerson, K. Hanley. Back Row: V. James, captain; S. Langston, T. Sims, K. Nance, K. Huffman, K. Wall.

Supporting the Marching Generals were the Drill Team, Majorettes, and Flag Corps. This year's drill team captain was Marti Lindsey; co-captain was Becky San Antonio; head majorette was Betsy Cravens, and flag corps captain was Vicki James.

Cathy Childs, Kathy Lindsey, and Becky San Antonio get their kicks out of drill team. At a football game Michelle Echelle concentrates only on twirling. Vikki James can't understand why her flag keeps getting twisted. Drill team takes their hats off to U. S. Grant. Demonstrating her abilities to other drill team members is Marti Lindsey. Kristi Nance and Melonie Staggs whip around those flags.

The pep club provided spirit at every pep assembly and sports event in the 1979-80 school year by making decorations for all coronations, and giving goodies to the athletes.

They sponsored an ice cream social for new members and students at the beginning of the school year and a dance to end the football season.

The squad ended the year with the annual Pep Club Banquet.

Marquerite Webb makes posters for a pep assembly. Marie Garcia put up her bulletin board. Susan Lambeth and Brady Dies leave class for a pep assembly. Pep club always gets into the spirit of things. Donna Pickens cheers her little heart out for the Generals. Homecoming was an exciting time for pep clubbers.

Both the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders won the superstar squad award at the annual summer clinic at Oklahoma University. Under the leadership of Rhonda Hook, all-school cheerleader, and Gina Speegle, co-all-school cheerleader, the squad practiced two to three hours daily in preparation for the year's games. Winning two spirit sticks at OU and taking all superior ratings, the girls brought one spirit stick home.

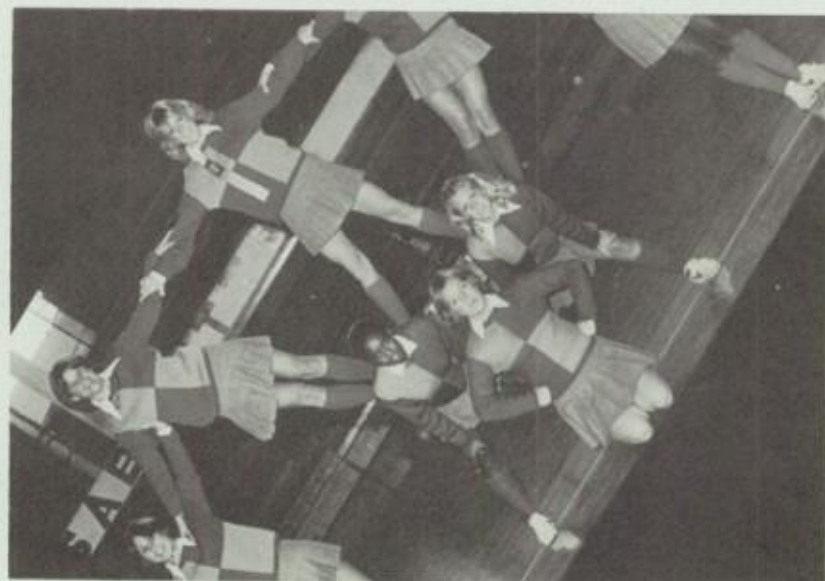

Kelly Quinlan, Jana Gooding, and Marsha Maxwell practice a cheer. Rhonda Hook, Karen Curtis, and Resa Orr show off their cheerleading ability. Stephanie Shipley cheers as Gina Speegle (and broken leg) looks on sadly. Susie Sorrels and Marsha Maxwell get into cheering at a pep assembly.

THE PLAY

The center, the hub of everything was the play. There was not a single person at Grant who didn't have a part in this play — whether it was a small or a large part. Each character was vital to the performance that was presented in the halls and classrooms each day.

ONE ON ONE

All through high school we found ourselves in groups, just another face in the crowd, but there came a time when we had to break away and communicate with others on a personal level. We had to find out about their ideas and dreams and in return we learned about ourselves. We found that it was important to relate individually . . . to share ONE ON ONE.

For Kathy Wisdom and Darla Boyd, one of the nicest parts of Christmas is exchanging gifts with a close friend. It's nice to watch a football game with someone special think D. J. Galbreath and Marshall Shells. "Say Cheese," says Shane Boyd to Cathy Childs. Mr. Crosley enjoys helping Detra Dixon with an assignment.

When good things came our way, we didn't argue or question, we just sat back and enjoyed all that we could. After all, why fight it when you're in your own PARADISE ALLEY.

Steve Outlaw feels a sense of achievement as he examines his business award. The crowd of General fans comes alive when their team makes a score. It can be nice to take a short rest from a day of hard work. "Ahhhh, what peace!" sighs Mrs. Cindy Foote, after her class has gone. Showing off rings and sharing wedding plans are Eugena Walton, Rhonda Lathrop, and Rhonda Howard.

PARADISE

ALLEY

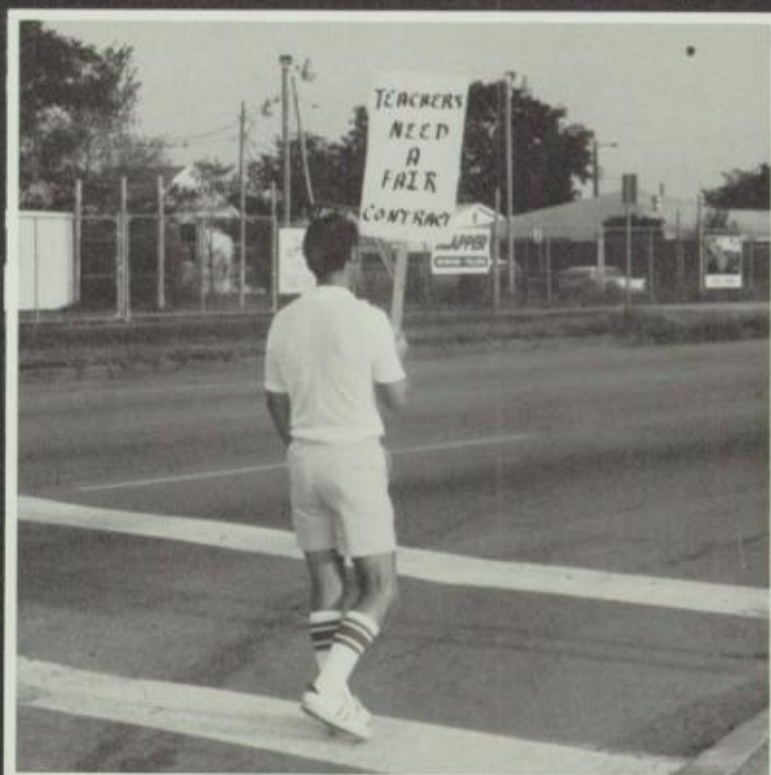

And Justice For All

Life is full of ups and downs, just when we thought we were going forward something would happen to set us back. Even though at times it seemed unfair, we would pick ourselves up and keep on going, because we believed in ourselves and our goals. We believed in the principle of JUSTICE FOR ALL.

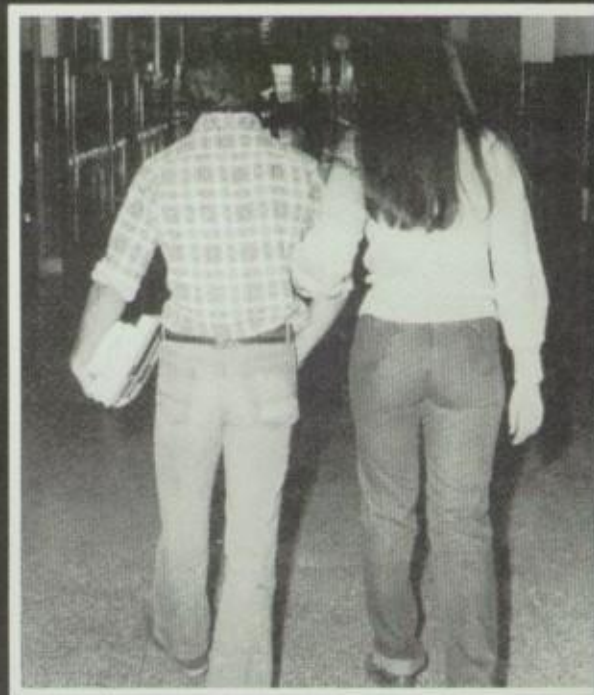

Jason Hensley informs Captoria Bailey of the most recent developments in the Iranian Crisis. Thinking about the responsibilities that come with being able to vote are Robbie Sullivan, Stephany Rains, and Jannie Glass. Dede Wilks wonders which is worse, rising gas prices or no gas at all. Mr. Vaughn expresses his viewpoint on the delicate issue of the teachers' strike. Discussing the possibilities of joining the armed forces with an army recruiter is Lisa Ortiz.

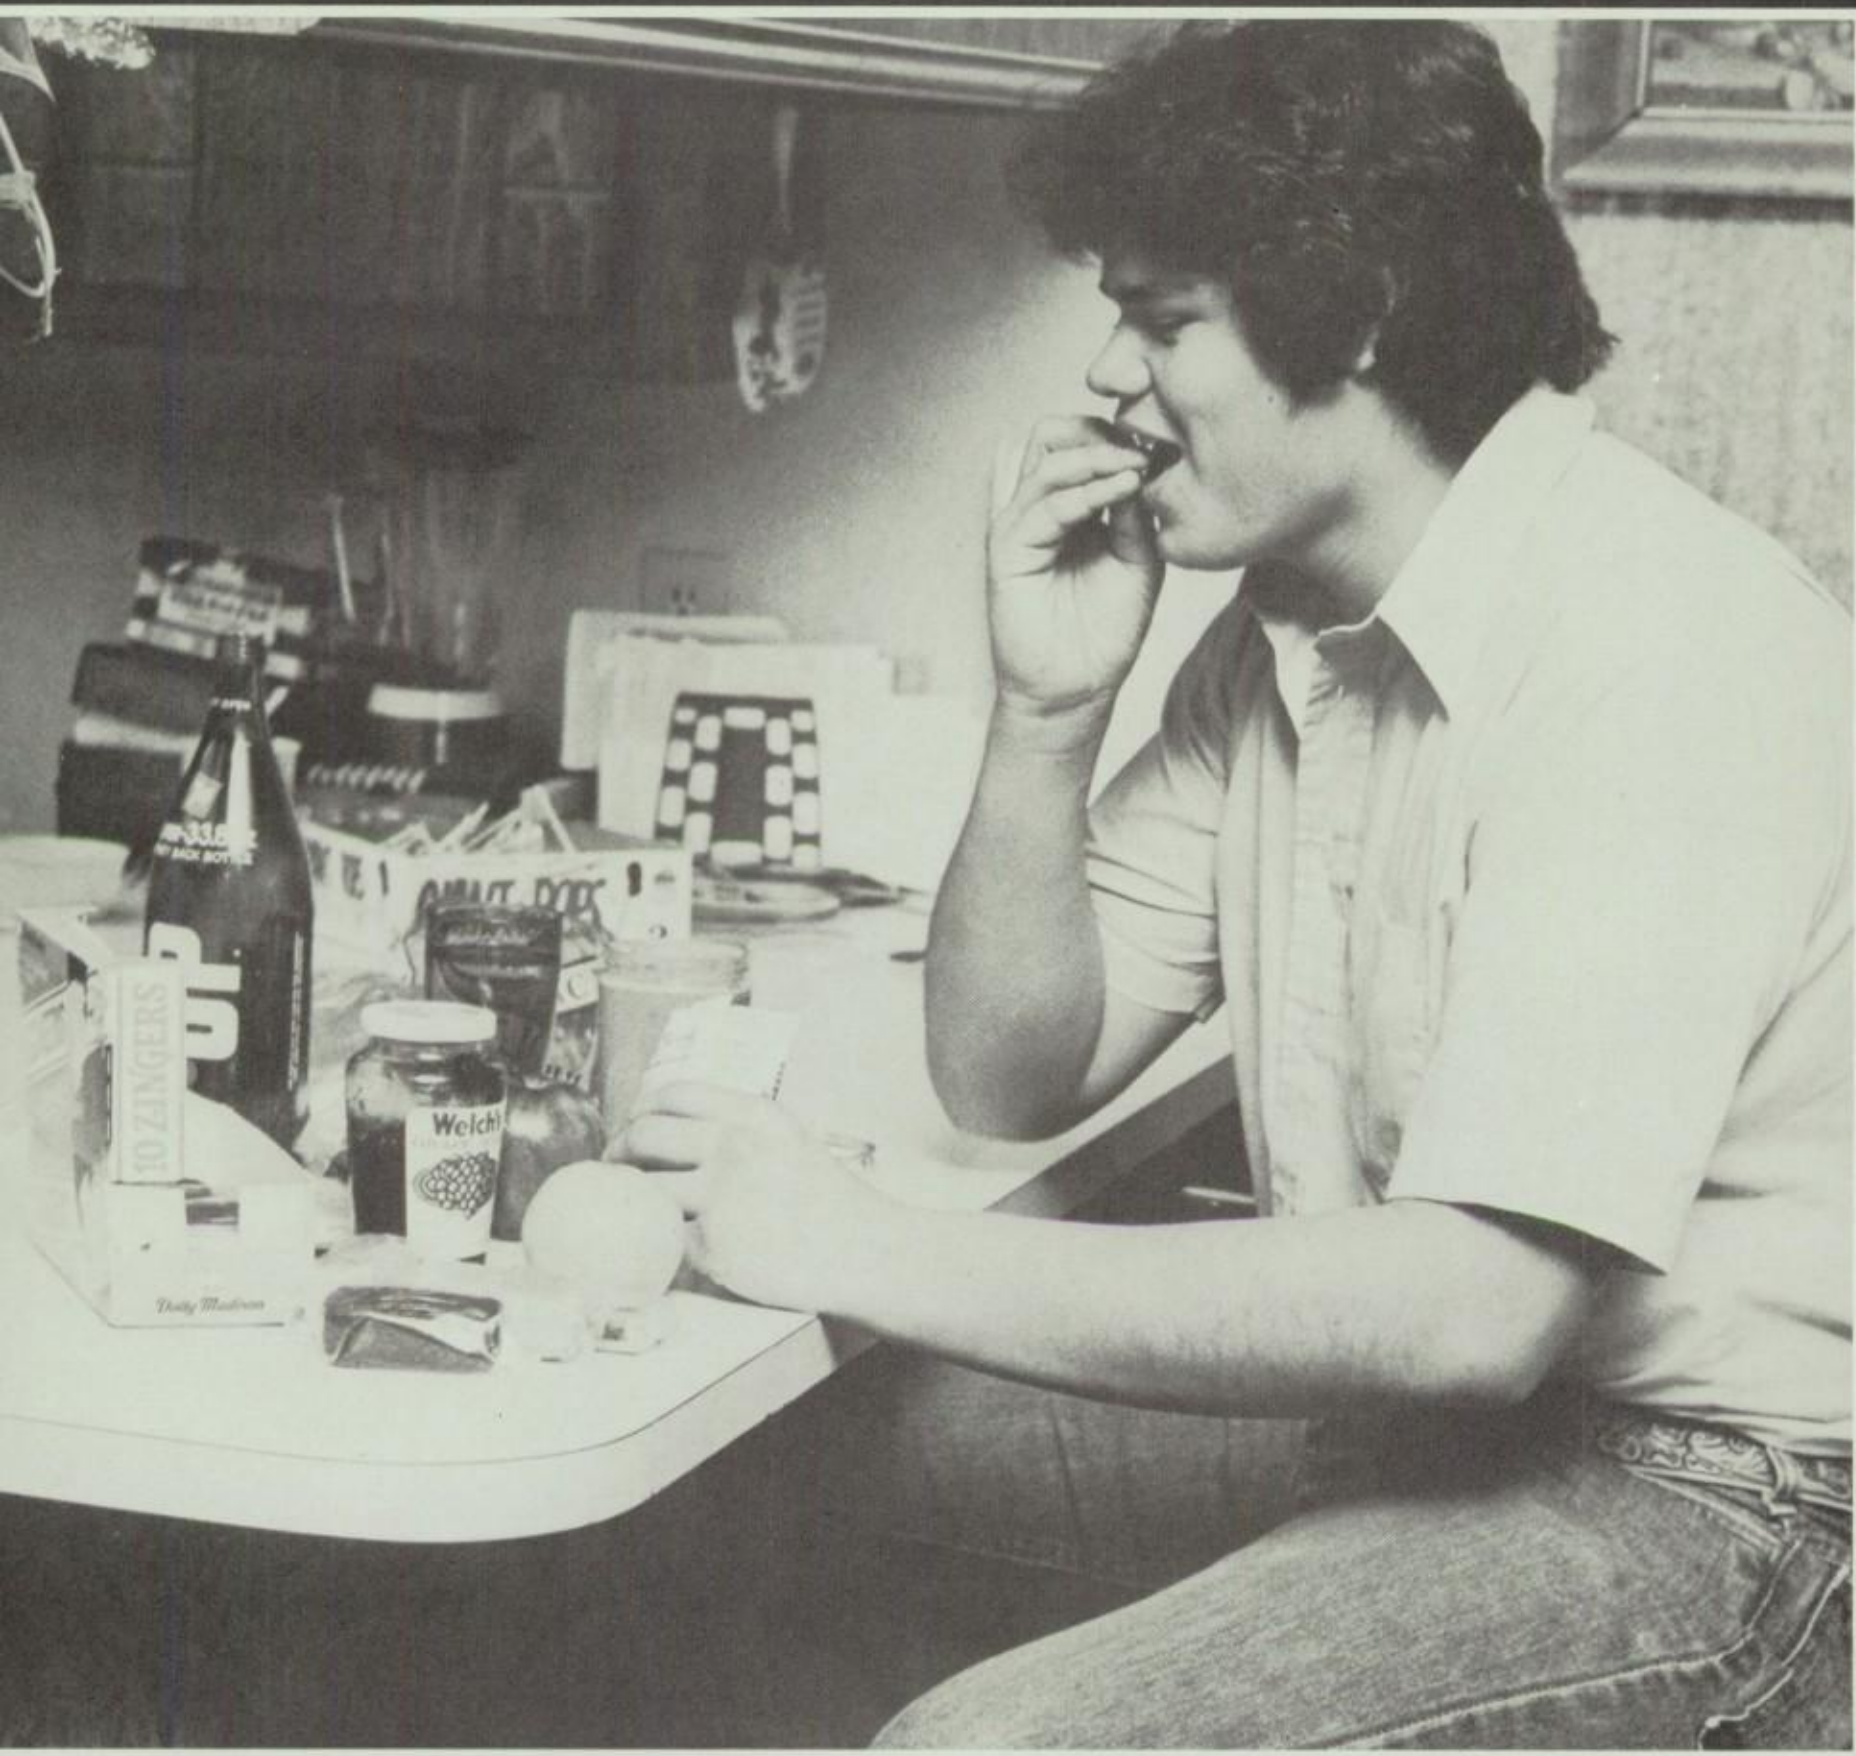

During the past year, we came in contact with many different people and situations. Some of the encounters were fun and exciting, while others were somewhat less enjoyable. Regardless of the evaluation, there is no doubt that we made it through some CLOSE ENCOUNTERS.

Kandi Coker has a close encounter of the unpleasant kind. "Ouch! you are stepping on my foot," thinks Tommie Jefferson as she has an encounter of the painful kind. Janna Jorden and David Rivers have an encounter of the really pleasant kind as they become friends in an unusual way. George Vasquez smiles as he has a close encounter of the tasty kind.

CLOSE

THE WAY WE WERE

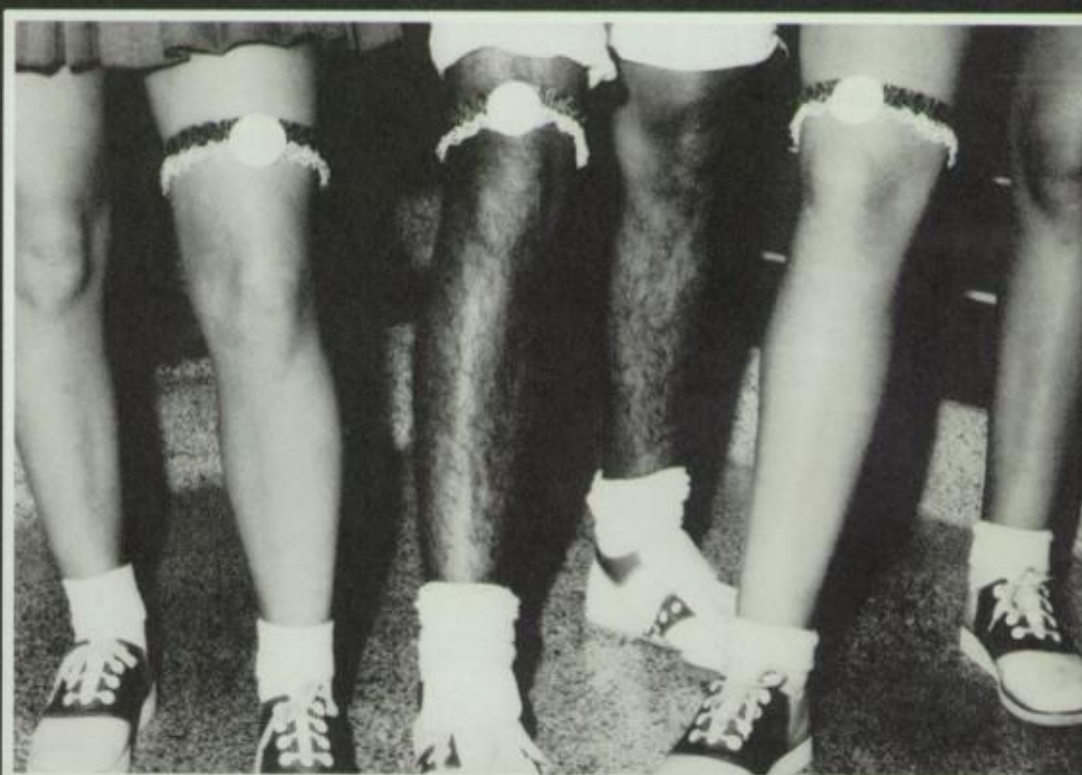

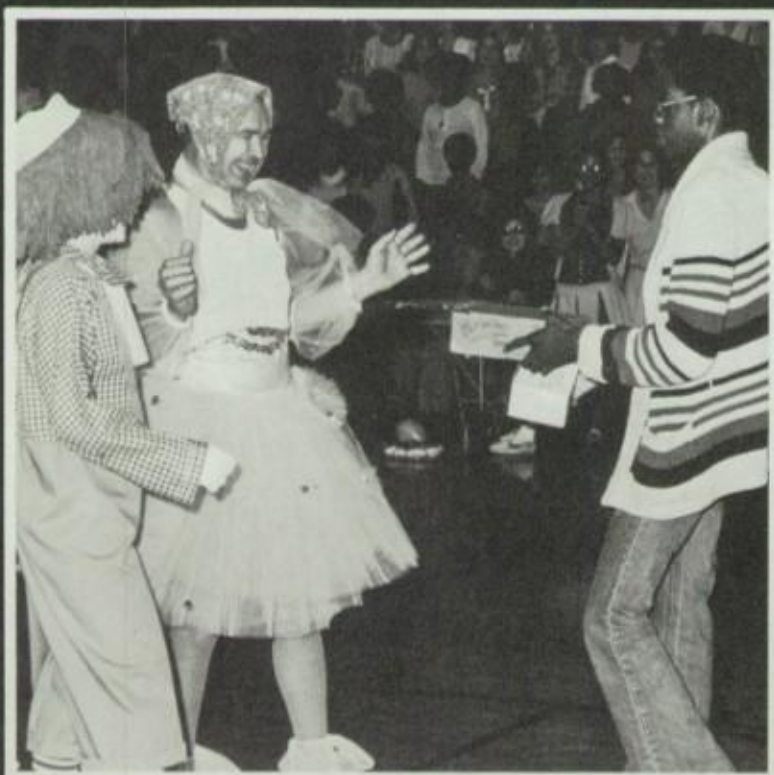

As Seniors we laughed and we cried. We played hard but still found time to study. Our relationships with others gave us the experiences that have made us the way we are. In the future we will always have the fondest memories of THE WAY WE WERE.

Clark Johnson feels saddened at the thought that there will be no more games for him in this stadium. These seniors are proud of the class of 1980 and want everyone to know it. Debbie Washington prepares for entering college by filling out the ACT form. The senior circle is a Grant tradition. Seniors show off their spirit and new T-shirts at a pep assembly.

U. S. Grant an animal house?! Not really, but sometimes we would wonder! With all the mass confusion and the hilarious antics of our very own comedians we never knew what would happen next. Truly, at times it seemed as though we were in the midst of an ANIMAL HOUSE.

We are just a bunch of "Wild and Crazy Kids" — when the teacher is out of the room, that is. After a pep assembly, the gym becomes a mad house of confusion. "For me? Oh how sweet!" exclaims Mr. King, the runner-up in the teacher dress-up contest. "Oh no! I forgot to shave this morning." Dancing is a great way to have fun and meet people.

ANIMAL HOUSE

BLAZING

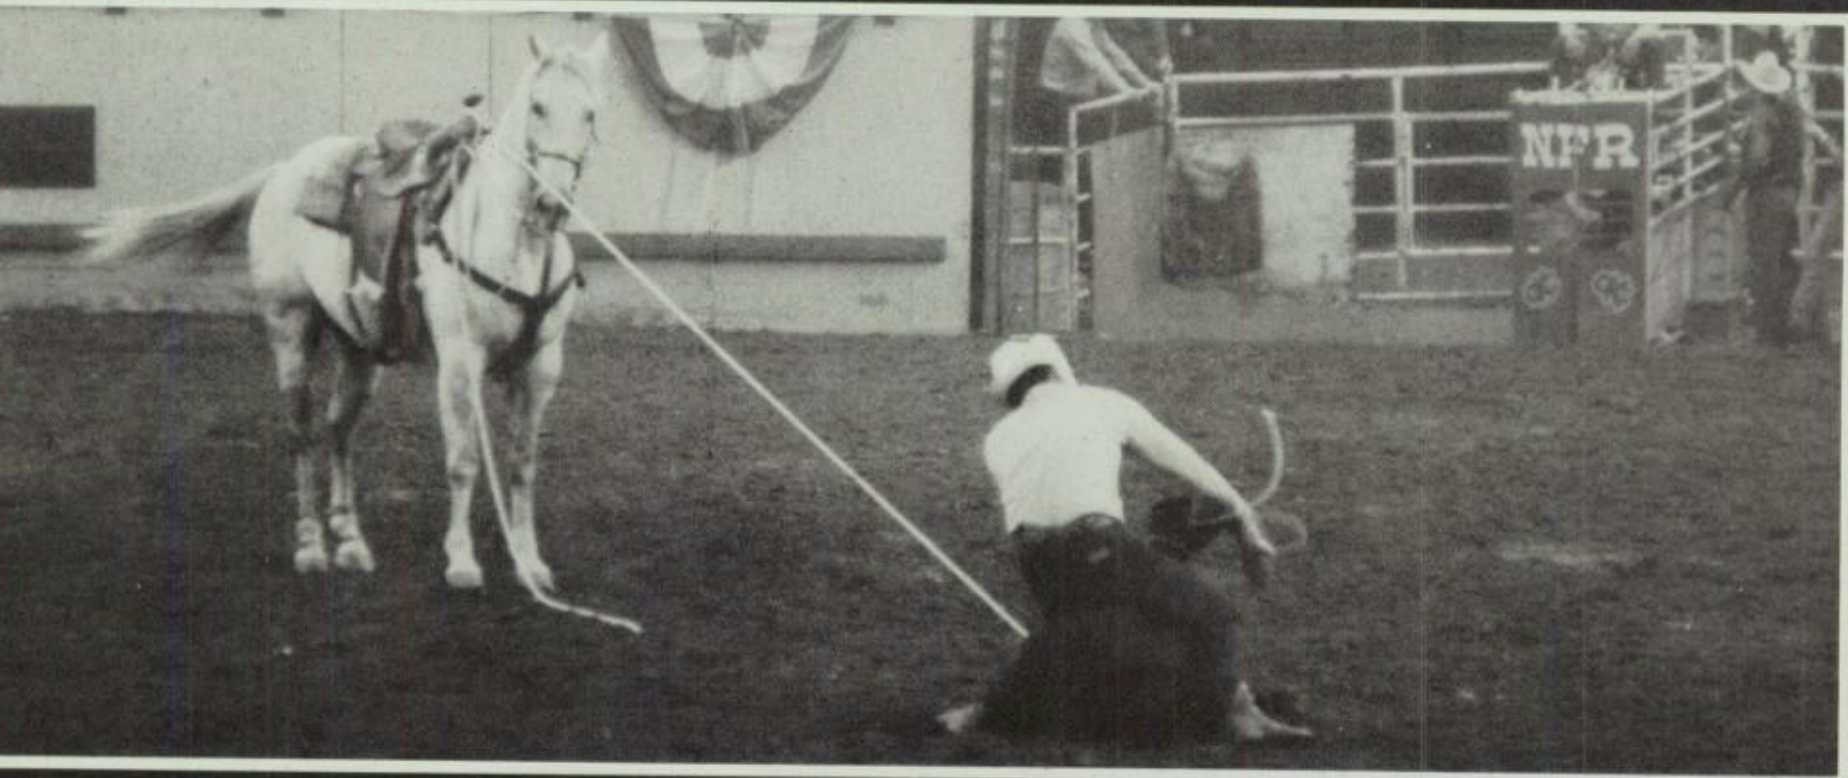

SADDLES

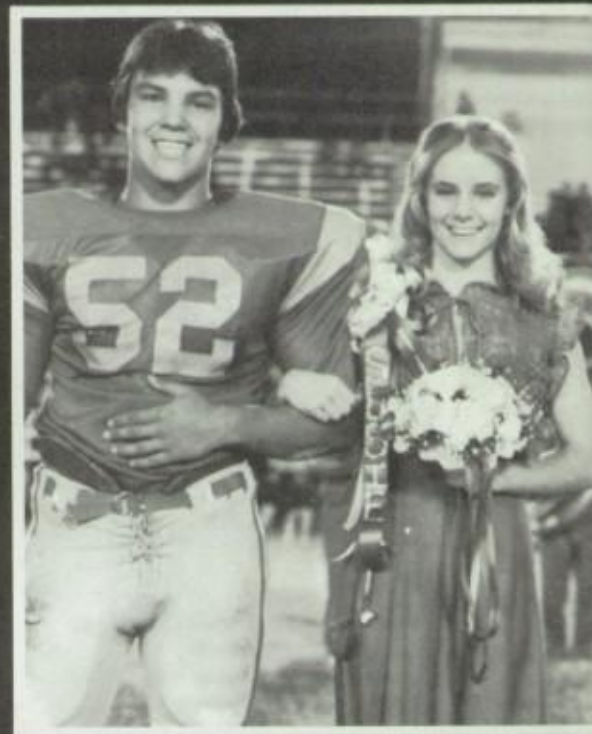

Most of our state's heritage came from the old west, and we were proud of that fact. We in return kept up the western way of life in our own way. We worked on riding high in our own BLAZING SADDLES.

David Molet and Tim LaRue bravely ride single-handed on these ferocious animals. One of the country and western stars performs at the Oklahoma State Rodeo. Sammie Flowers chooses boots to go with the rest of her western apparel. Calf roping is a major event of the rodeo.

The air held a feeling of excitement and expectation as the homecoming royalty candidates paraded before the crowds. For the spectators and for those involved in homecoming, the night was special; it was MAGIC.

MAIN EVENT

PART I

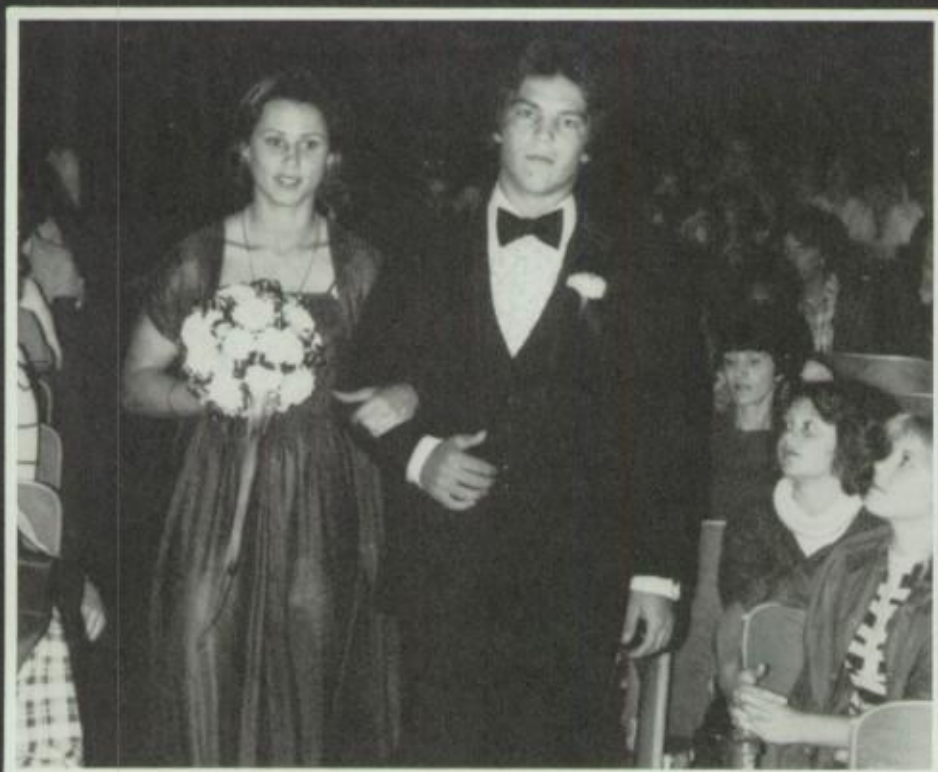

After much work and preparation, the annual crowning of the Prince and Princess of Print arrived. It was considered to be the first important event to take place during the assembly. It was ... the MAIN EVENT Part I.

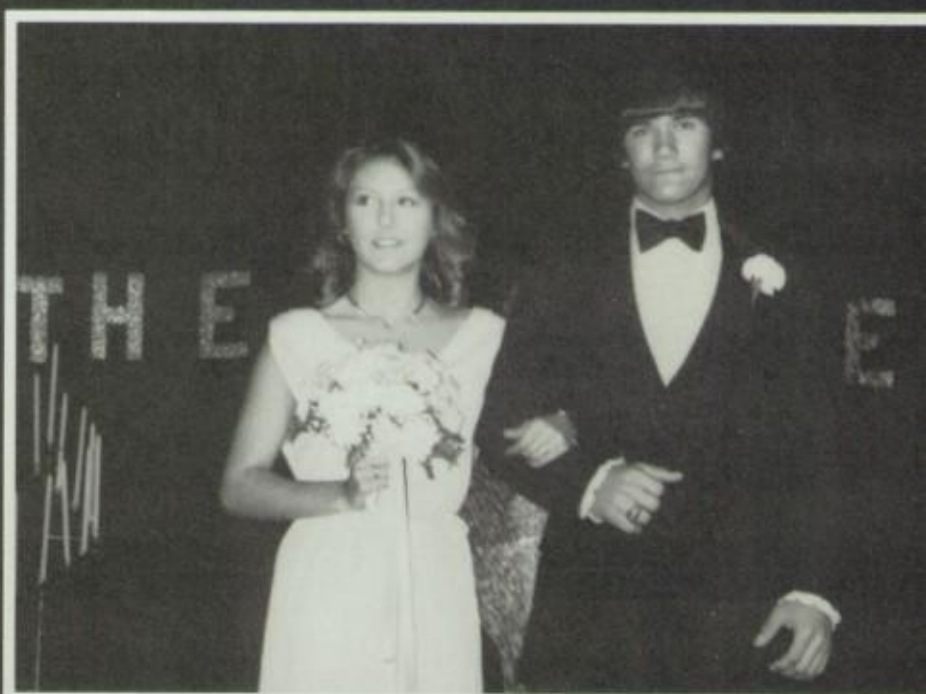

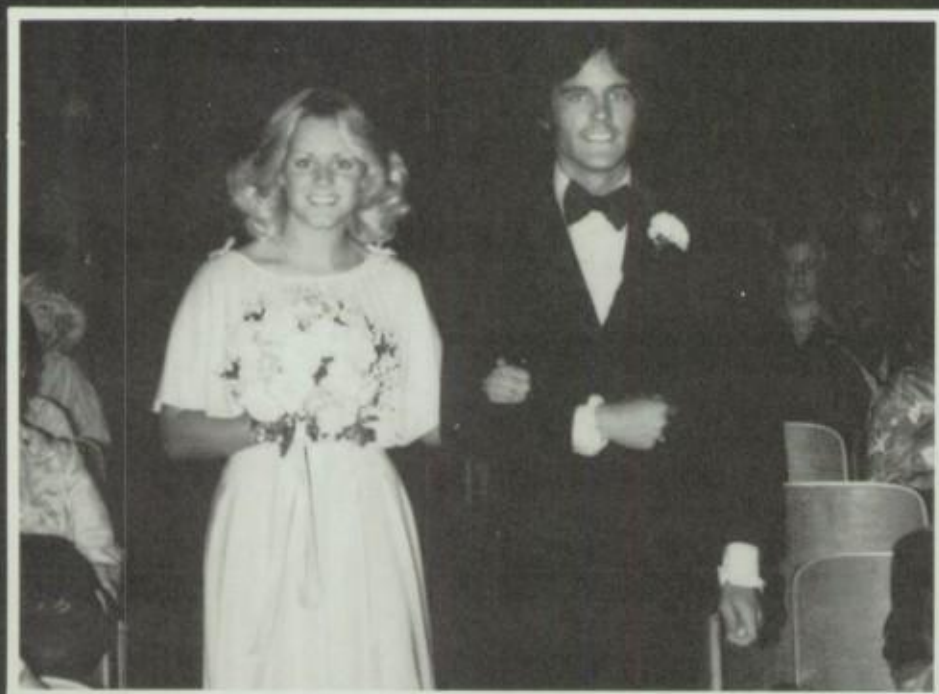

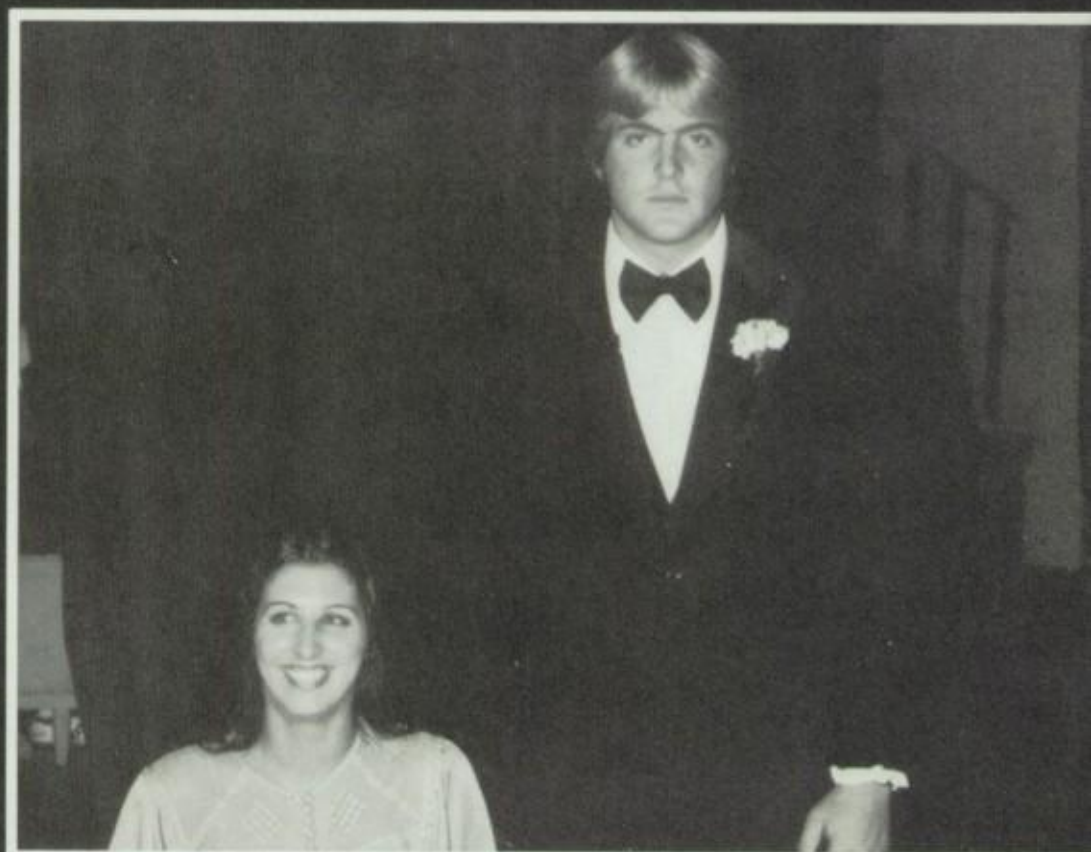

Prince and Princess of Print are Arita Micue and Don Staggs. Runners-up are Tina Groves and Ken Wright. Vickie Riddle and LaDonna Parish gave an exceptional performance as the MC's for the royalty assembly. Among the entertainment were the gopher girls, a hilarious chorus line of football players. During the assembly Jeff Taylor was carried away after admitting he hadn't made a yearbook down payment. Elizabeth Couch sang the theme song of the assembly, "The Main Event."

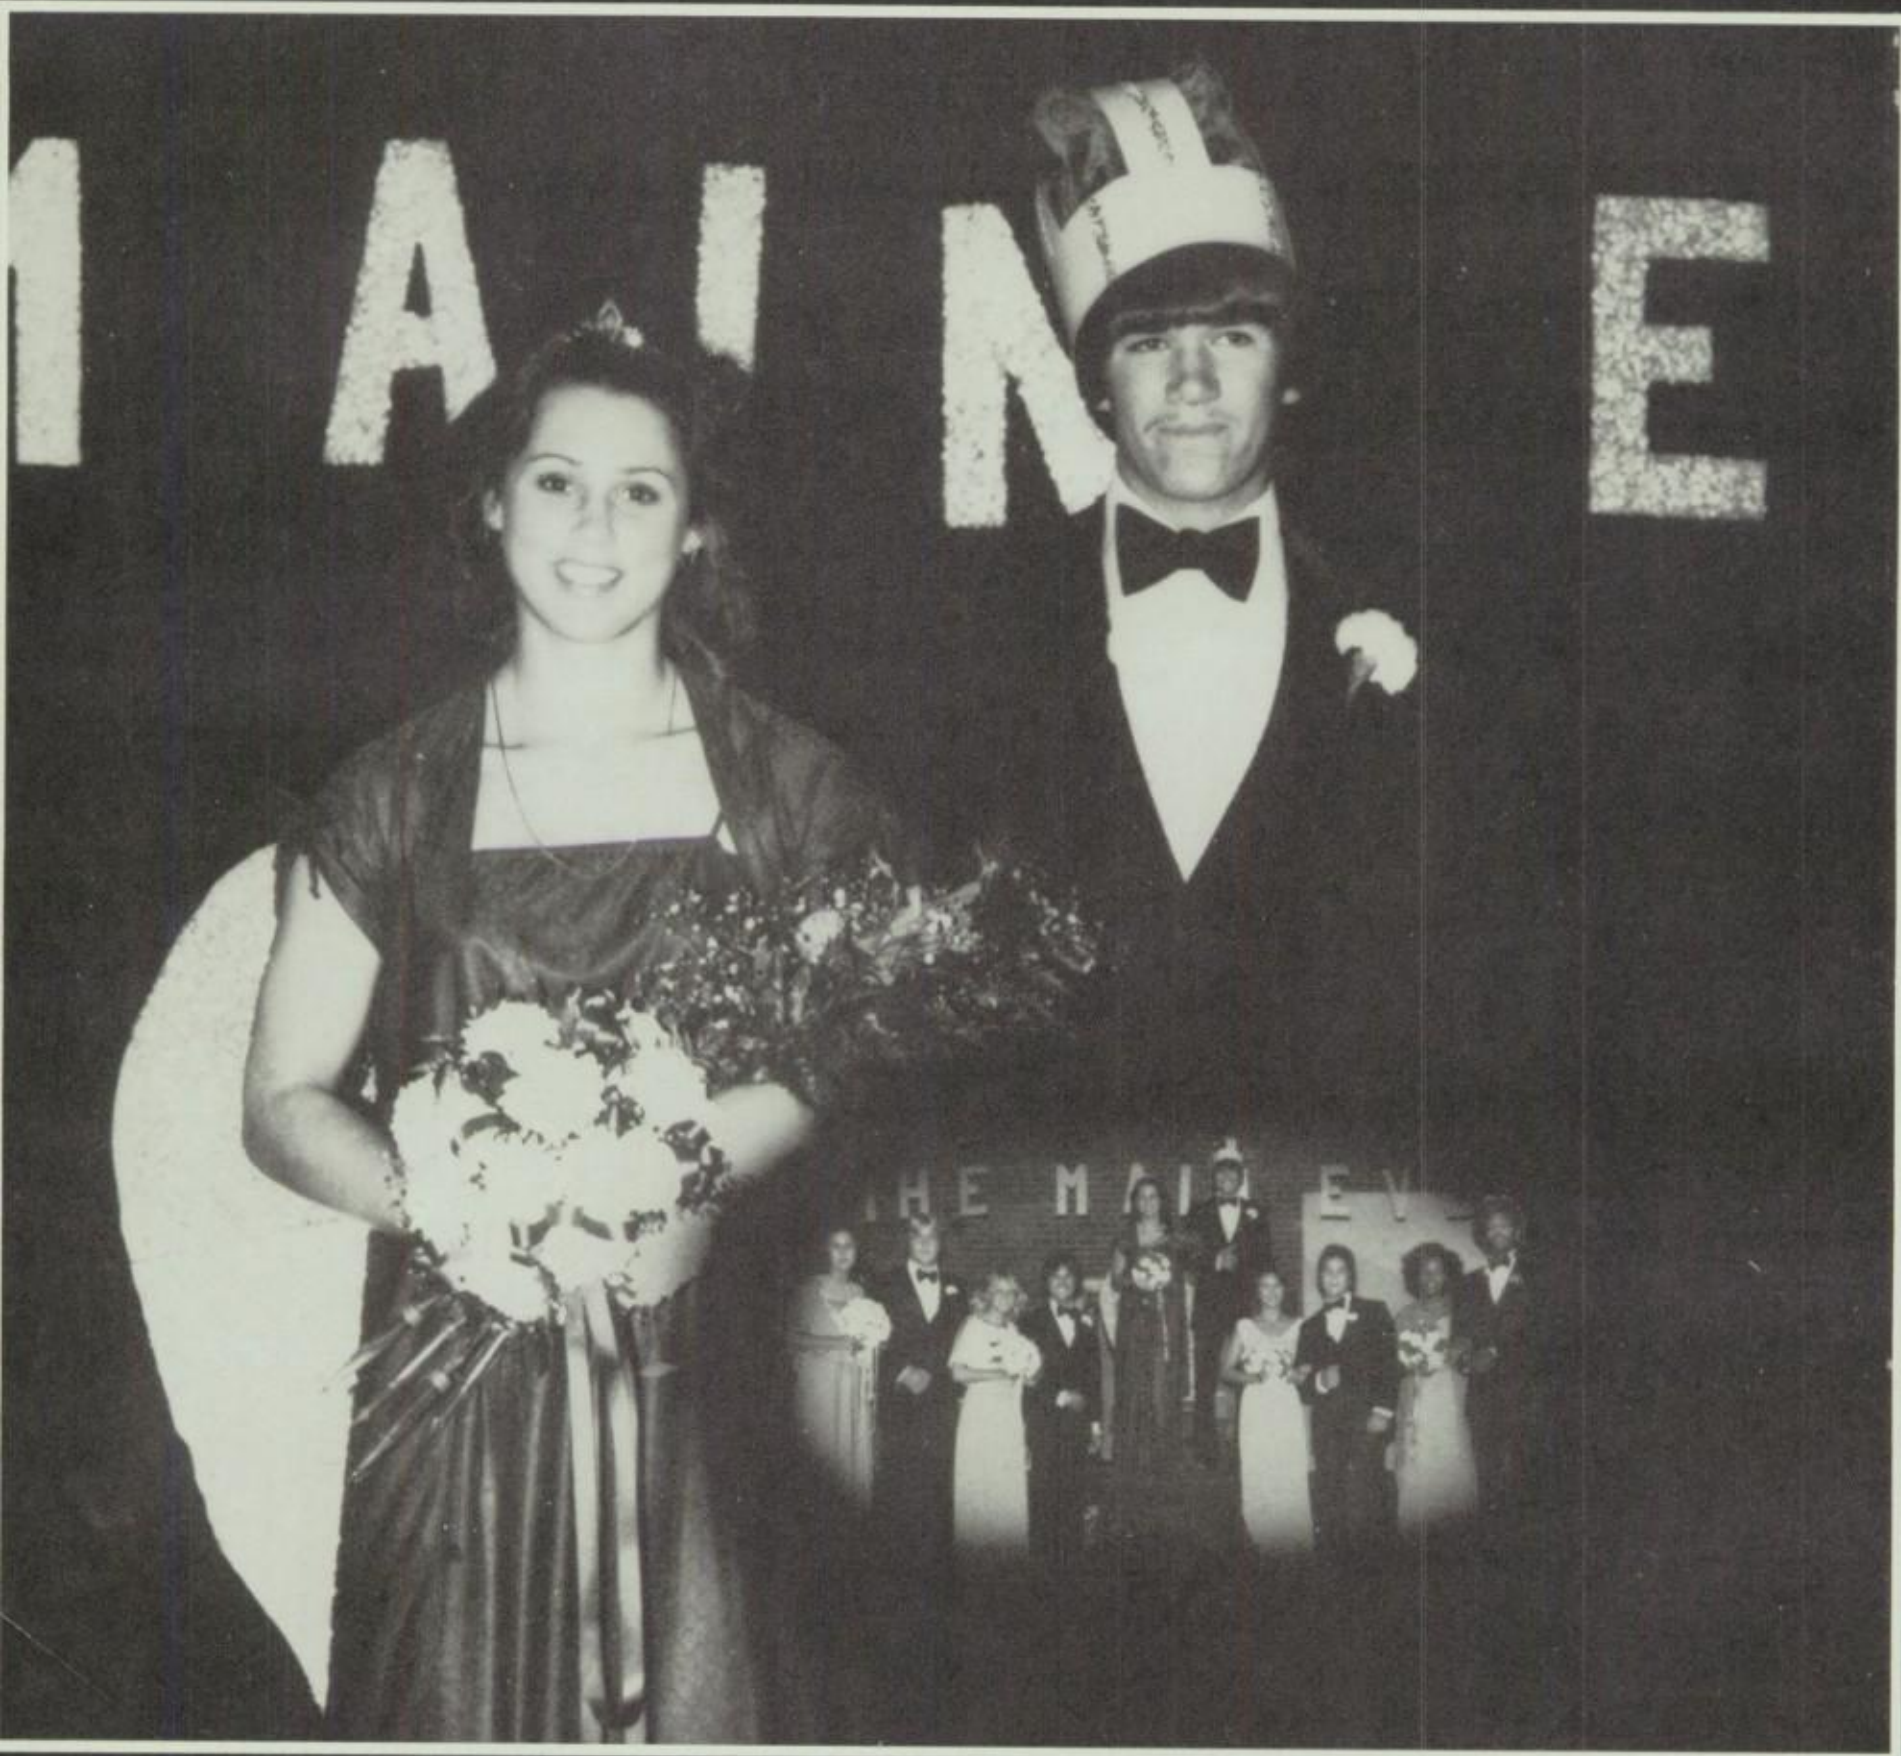

Perhaps the highest point of the 1979-80 school year was the announcement of who had received the honor of being named General and His Lady. Those representing royalty felt as though being nominated to the school's highest form of royalty was certainly the MAIN EVENT of their high school days.

PART 2

GOING

IN STYLE

As our thoughts turned toward the winter sports of basketball and wrestling, we looked on as the royalty for these sports were selected. We saw that the evening was definitely Going in Style.

Once again band, choir, and drill team chose their royalty for the 1979-80 school year. It was in keeping with the tradition of selecting a senior girl and boy to represent these clubs that have filled our halls with the Sound of Music.

Marti Lindsay was selected as drill team queen. Drill team candidates and escorts are Becky San Antonio, Jamie Wilson, Marti Lindsay, Mark Winter, Kathy Childs, and Paul Wood. Robbie Sullivan and Janie Glass were chosen as choir king and queen. Choir attendants: Billy Altstatt, Natalie Leimer, Robbie Sullivan, Michelle Stanley, Alfonzo Johnson, Janie Glass, Tom Edwards, Angela Moody, Leonard Morris, and Stephanie Rains. Band candidates: Betsy Cravens, Terry Wilson, Michelle Echelle, David Edwards, and Vikki James. Not pictured is Kim Borum. Band king and queen are Terry Wilson and Betsy Cravens.

SOUND OF MUSIC

ACTION

The most elaborate props in the world, the best actors available, the most accomplished script mean nothing without the Action. The life, movement, and story sometimes take form in sports.

Although pre-season difficulties denied the Generals 16 practices, the Gridsters managed to salvage their third straight 2-8 season.

After dropping three straight conference games to Mid-State powers Midwest City, Del City and Edmond, the Generals rebounded with hard-fought victories over rival Capitol Hill (21-6) and Northwest Classen (12-6).

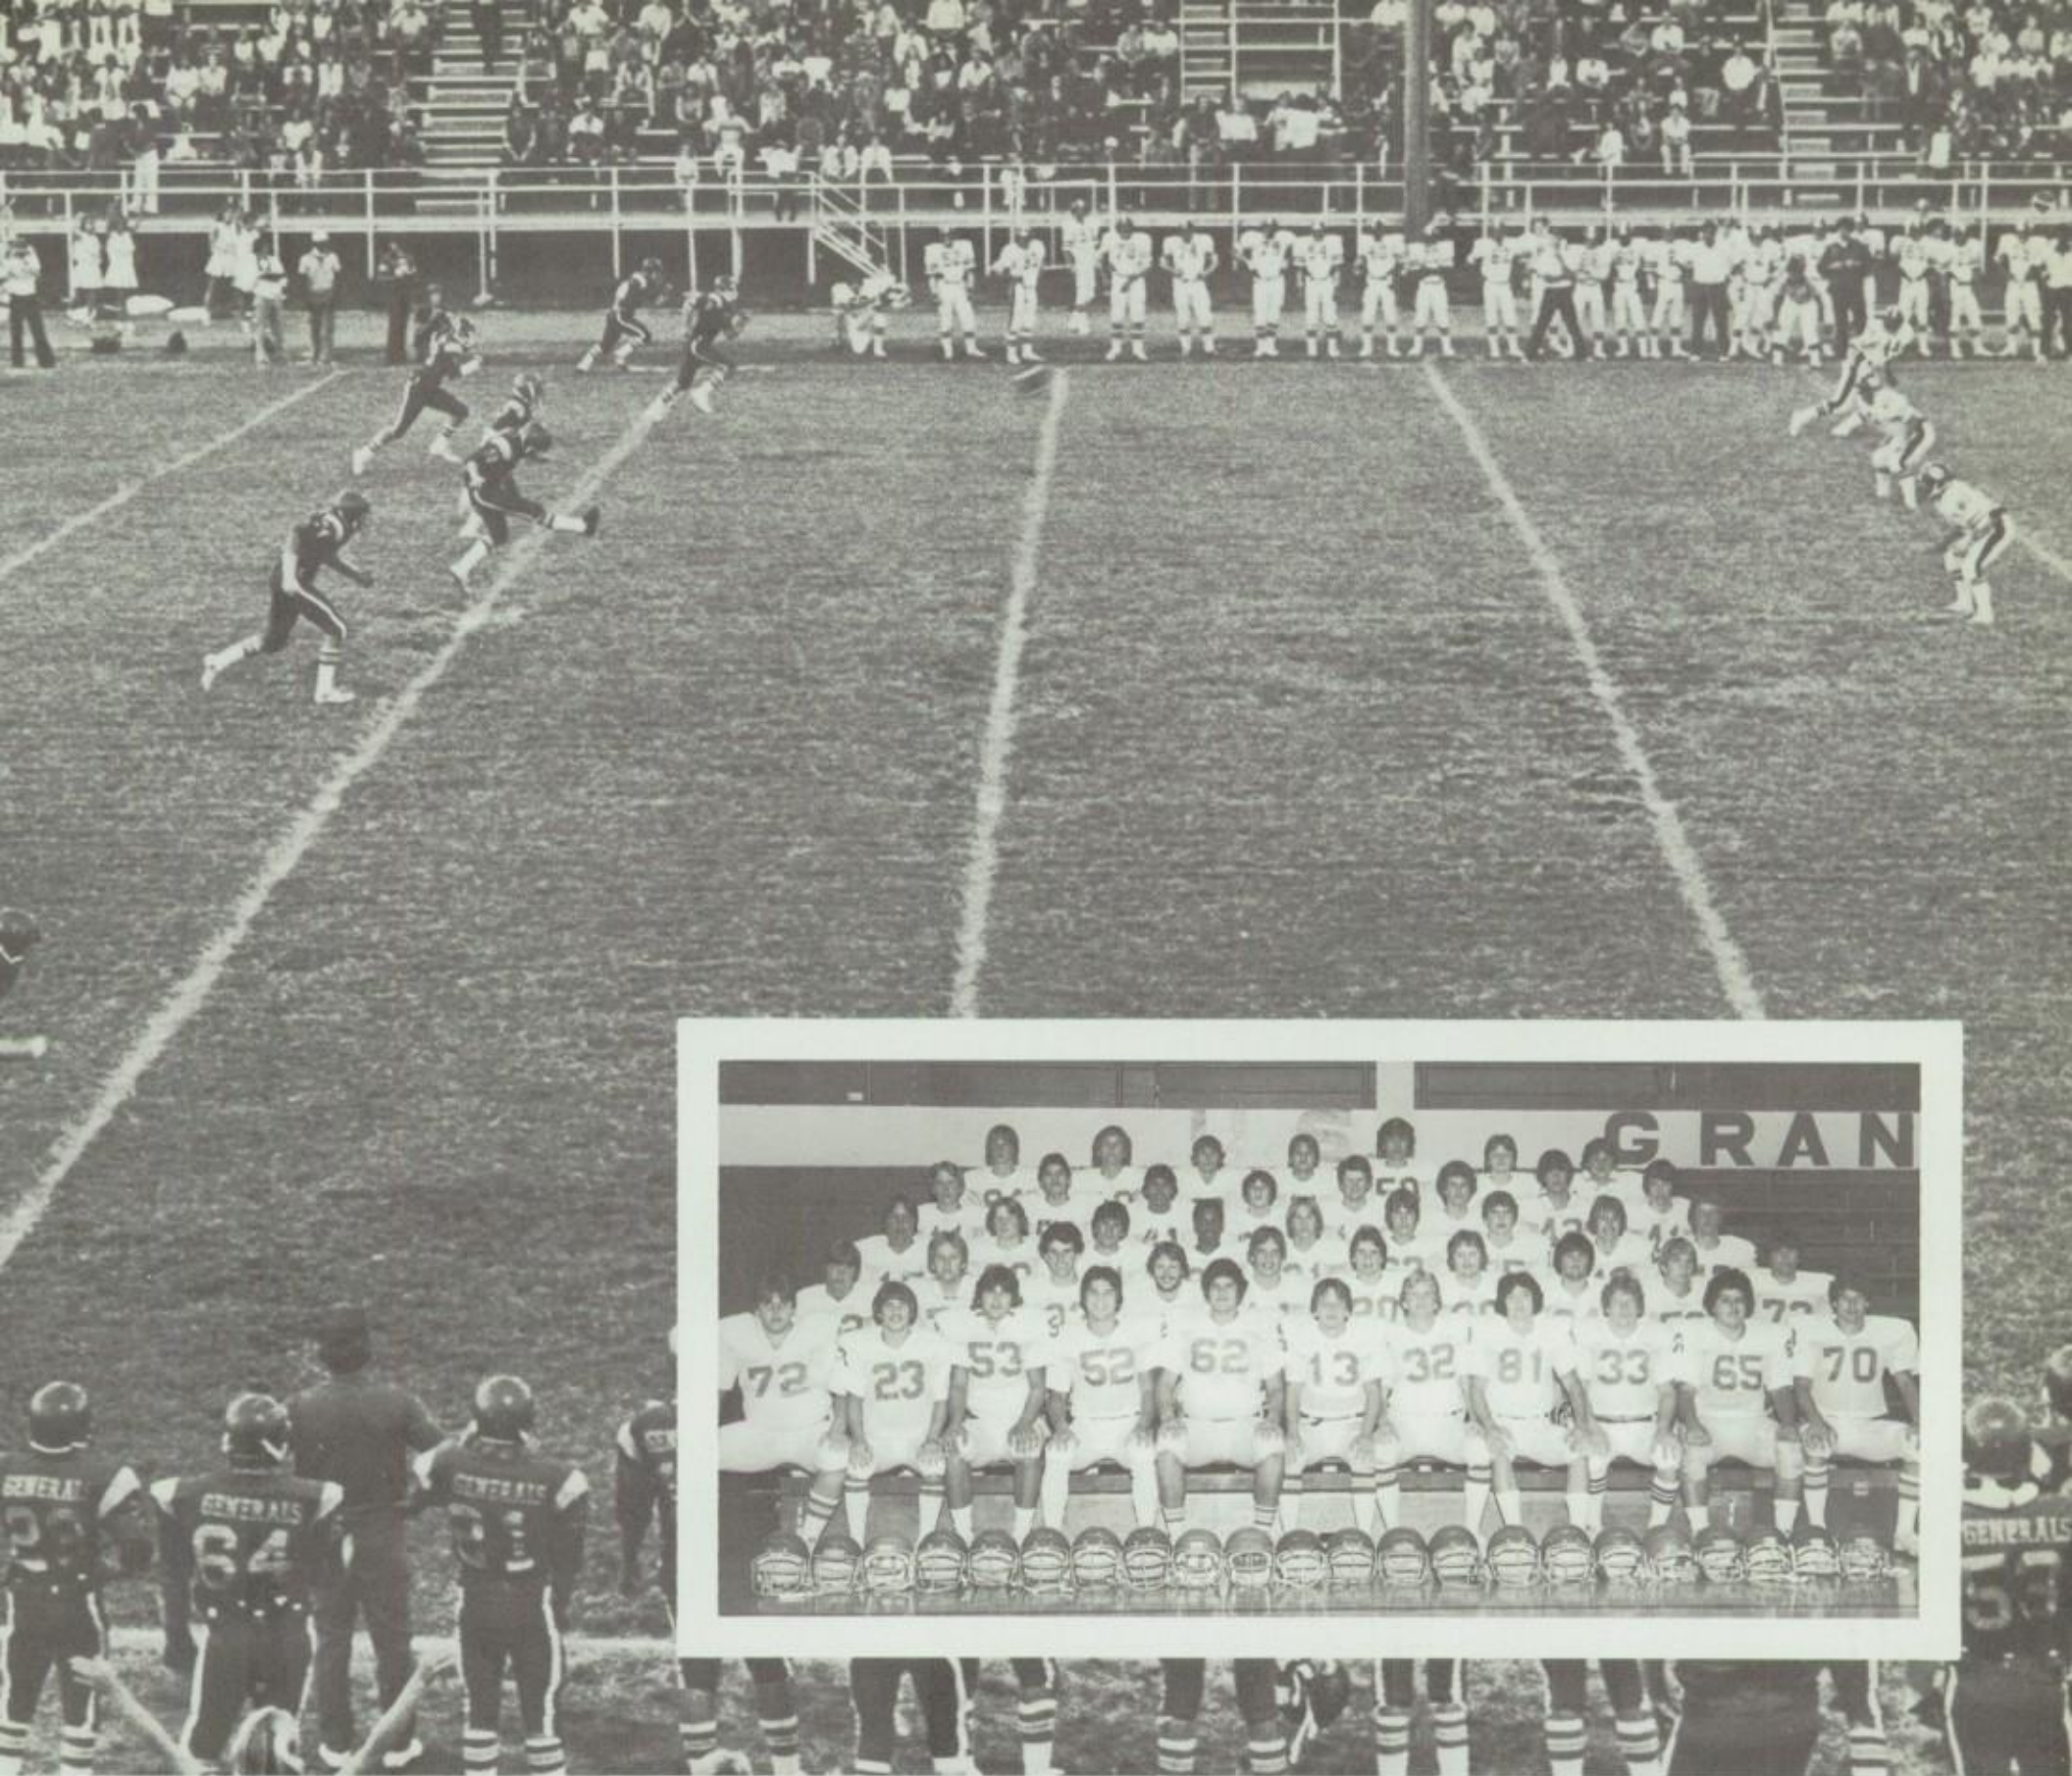

The team's win over the Redskins proved to be the high point of the season after last year's controversial 3-0 loss.

Also during the season, the Generals made impressive showings against John Marshall and neighboring Southeast.

The Generals look on as Coach Choate talks at a pep assembly.

Football

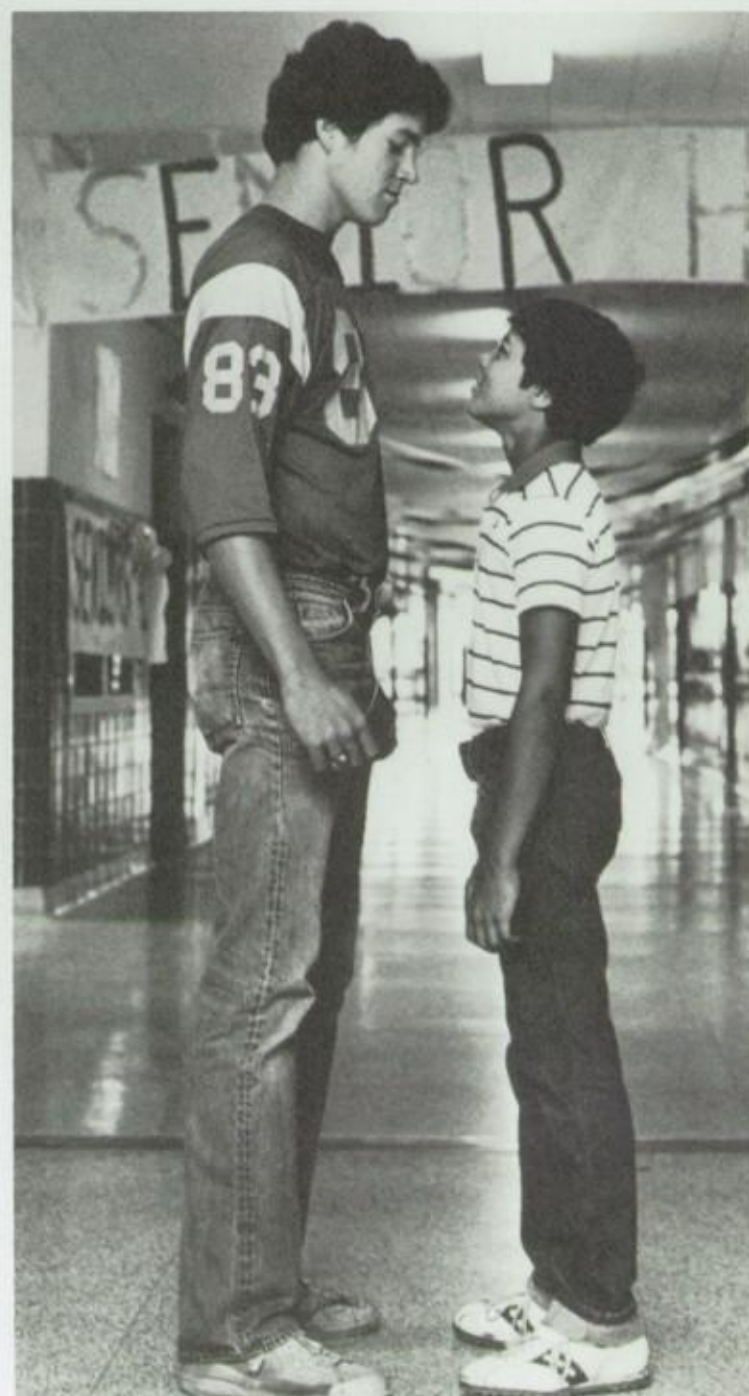

The freshman football team chalked up a 7-3 record, and the junior varsity team scored a 3-5 record this year.

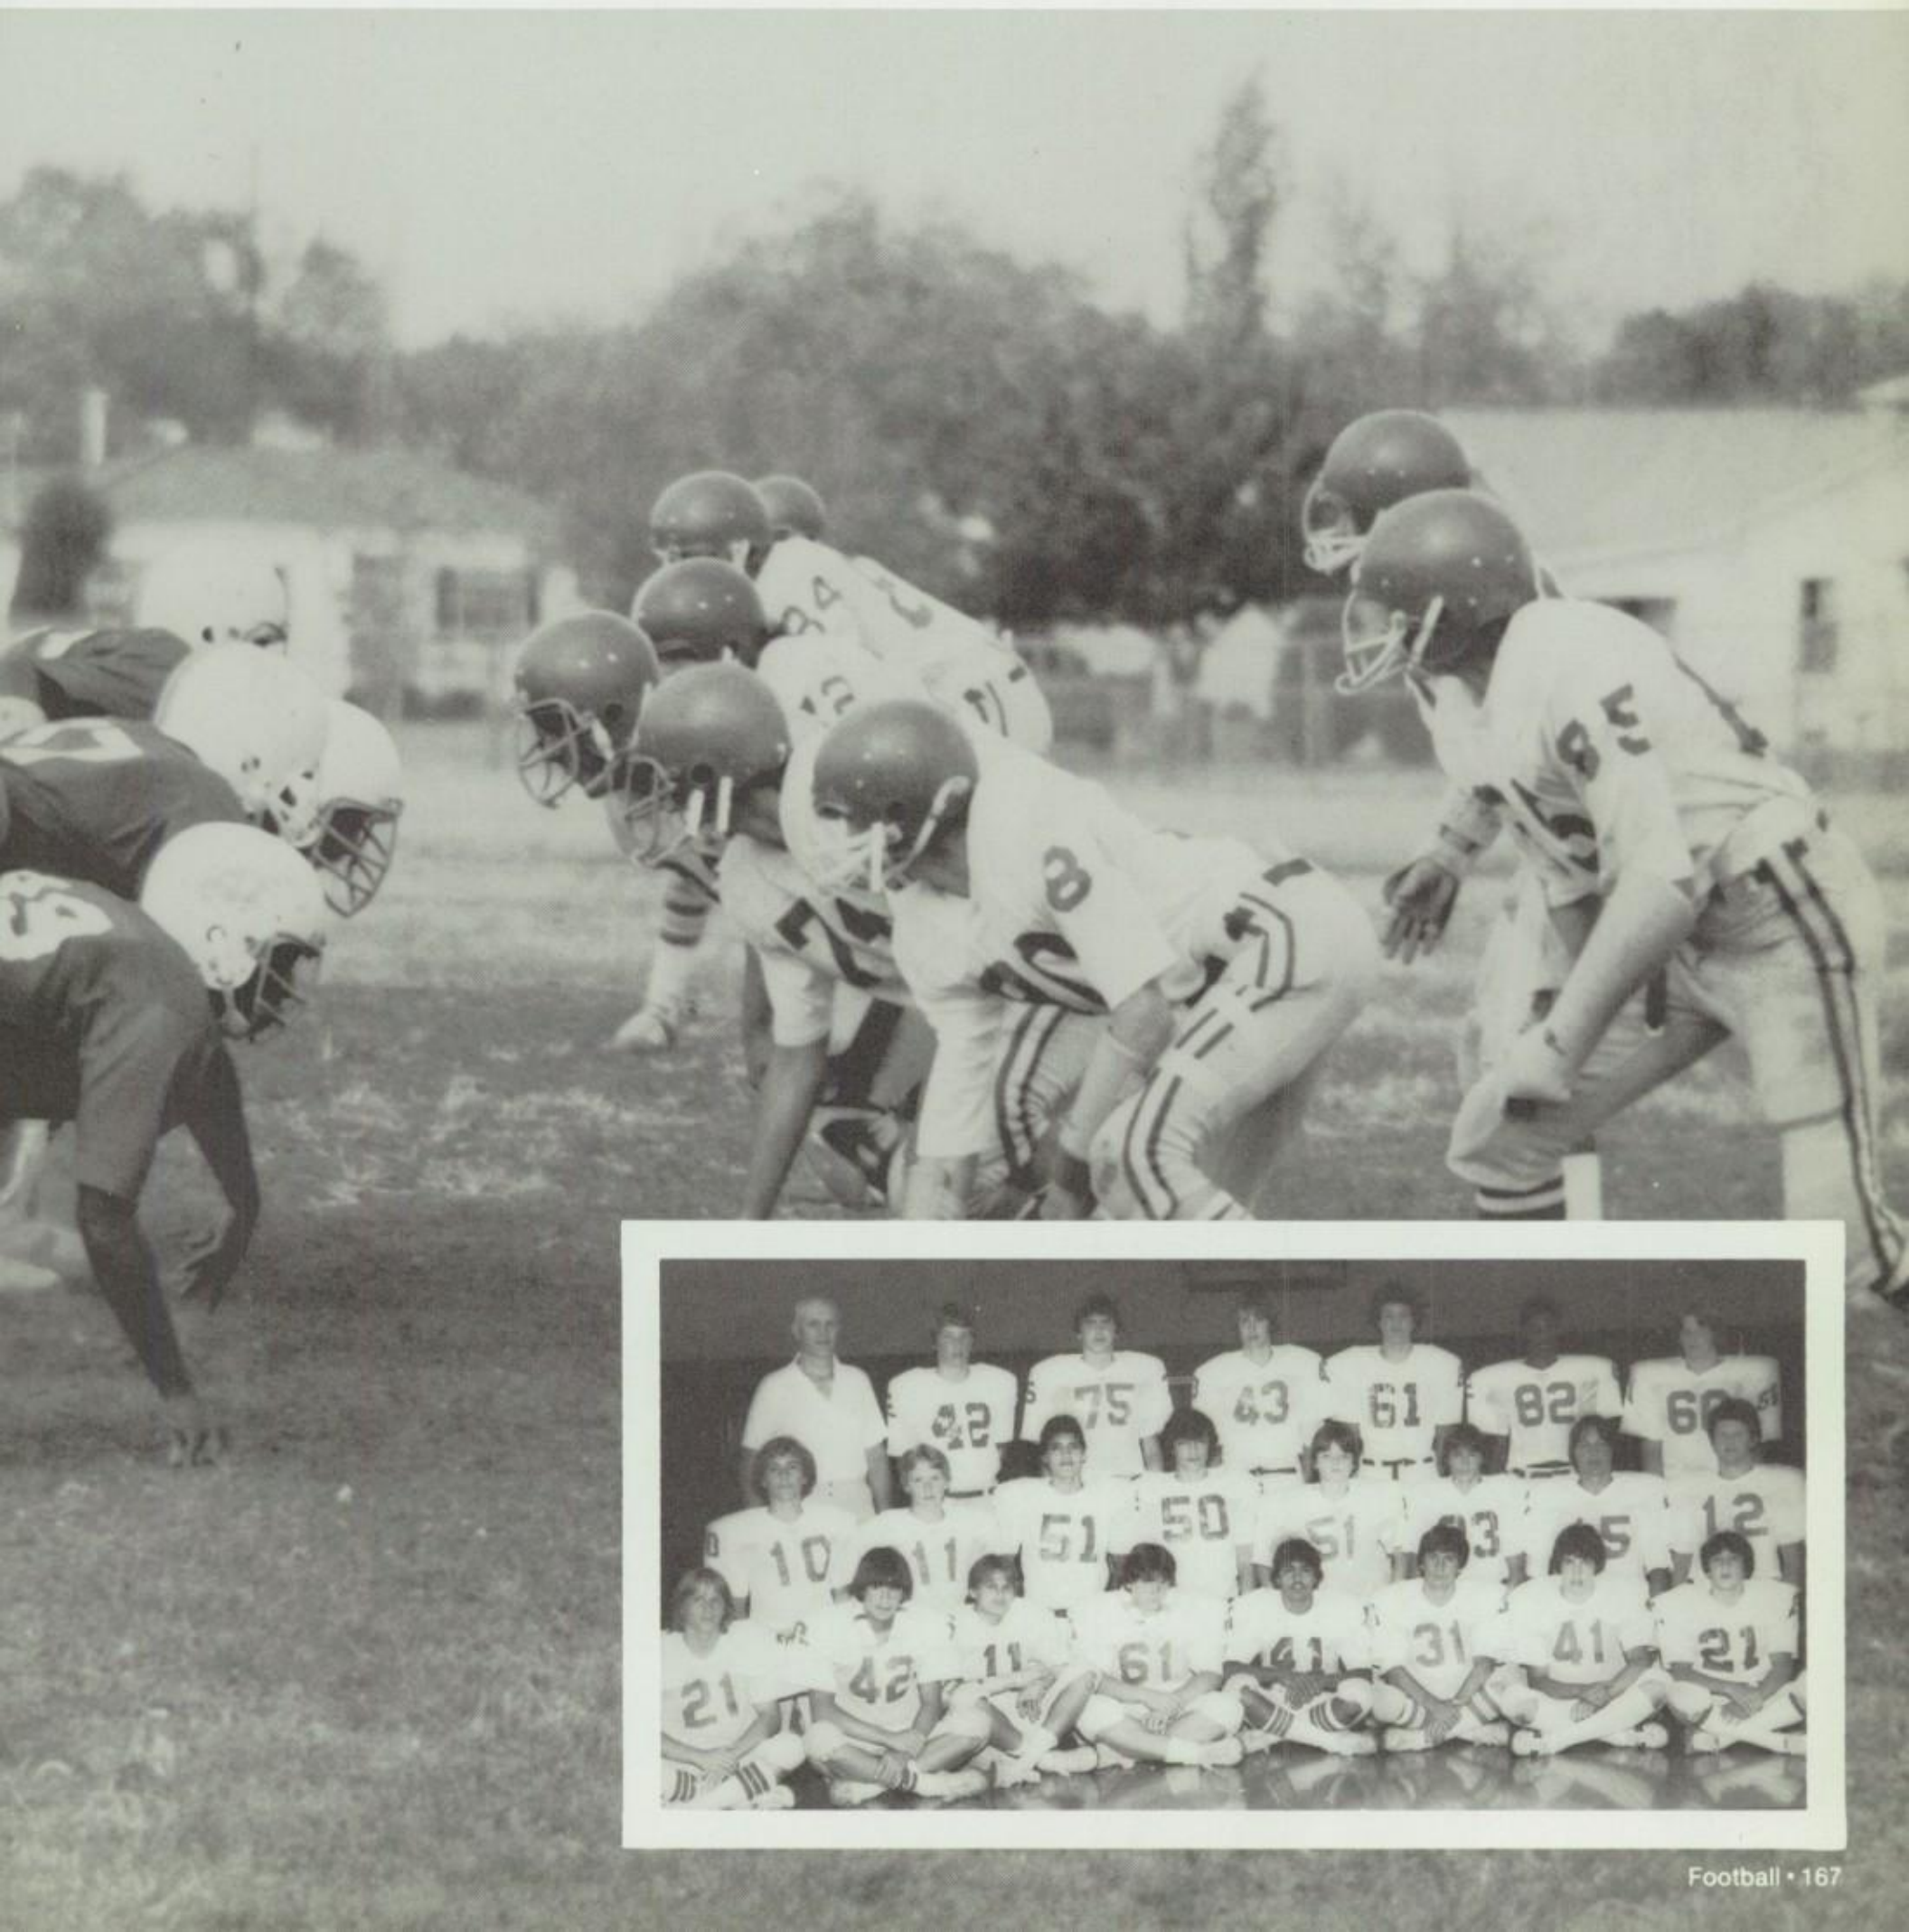

Mr. Ron Pendley, Jefferson, coached the freshman team, and Mr. Jack Throckmorton, Roosevelt, coached the JV team.

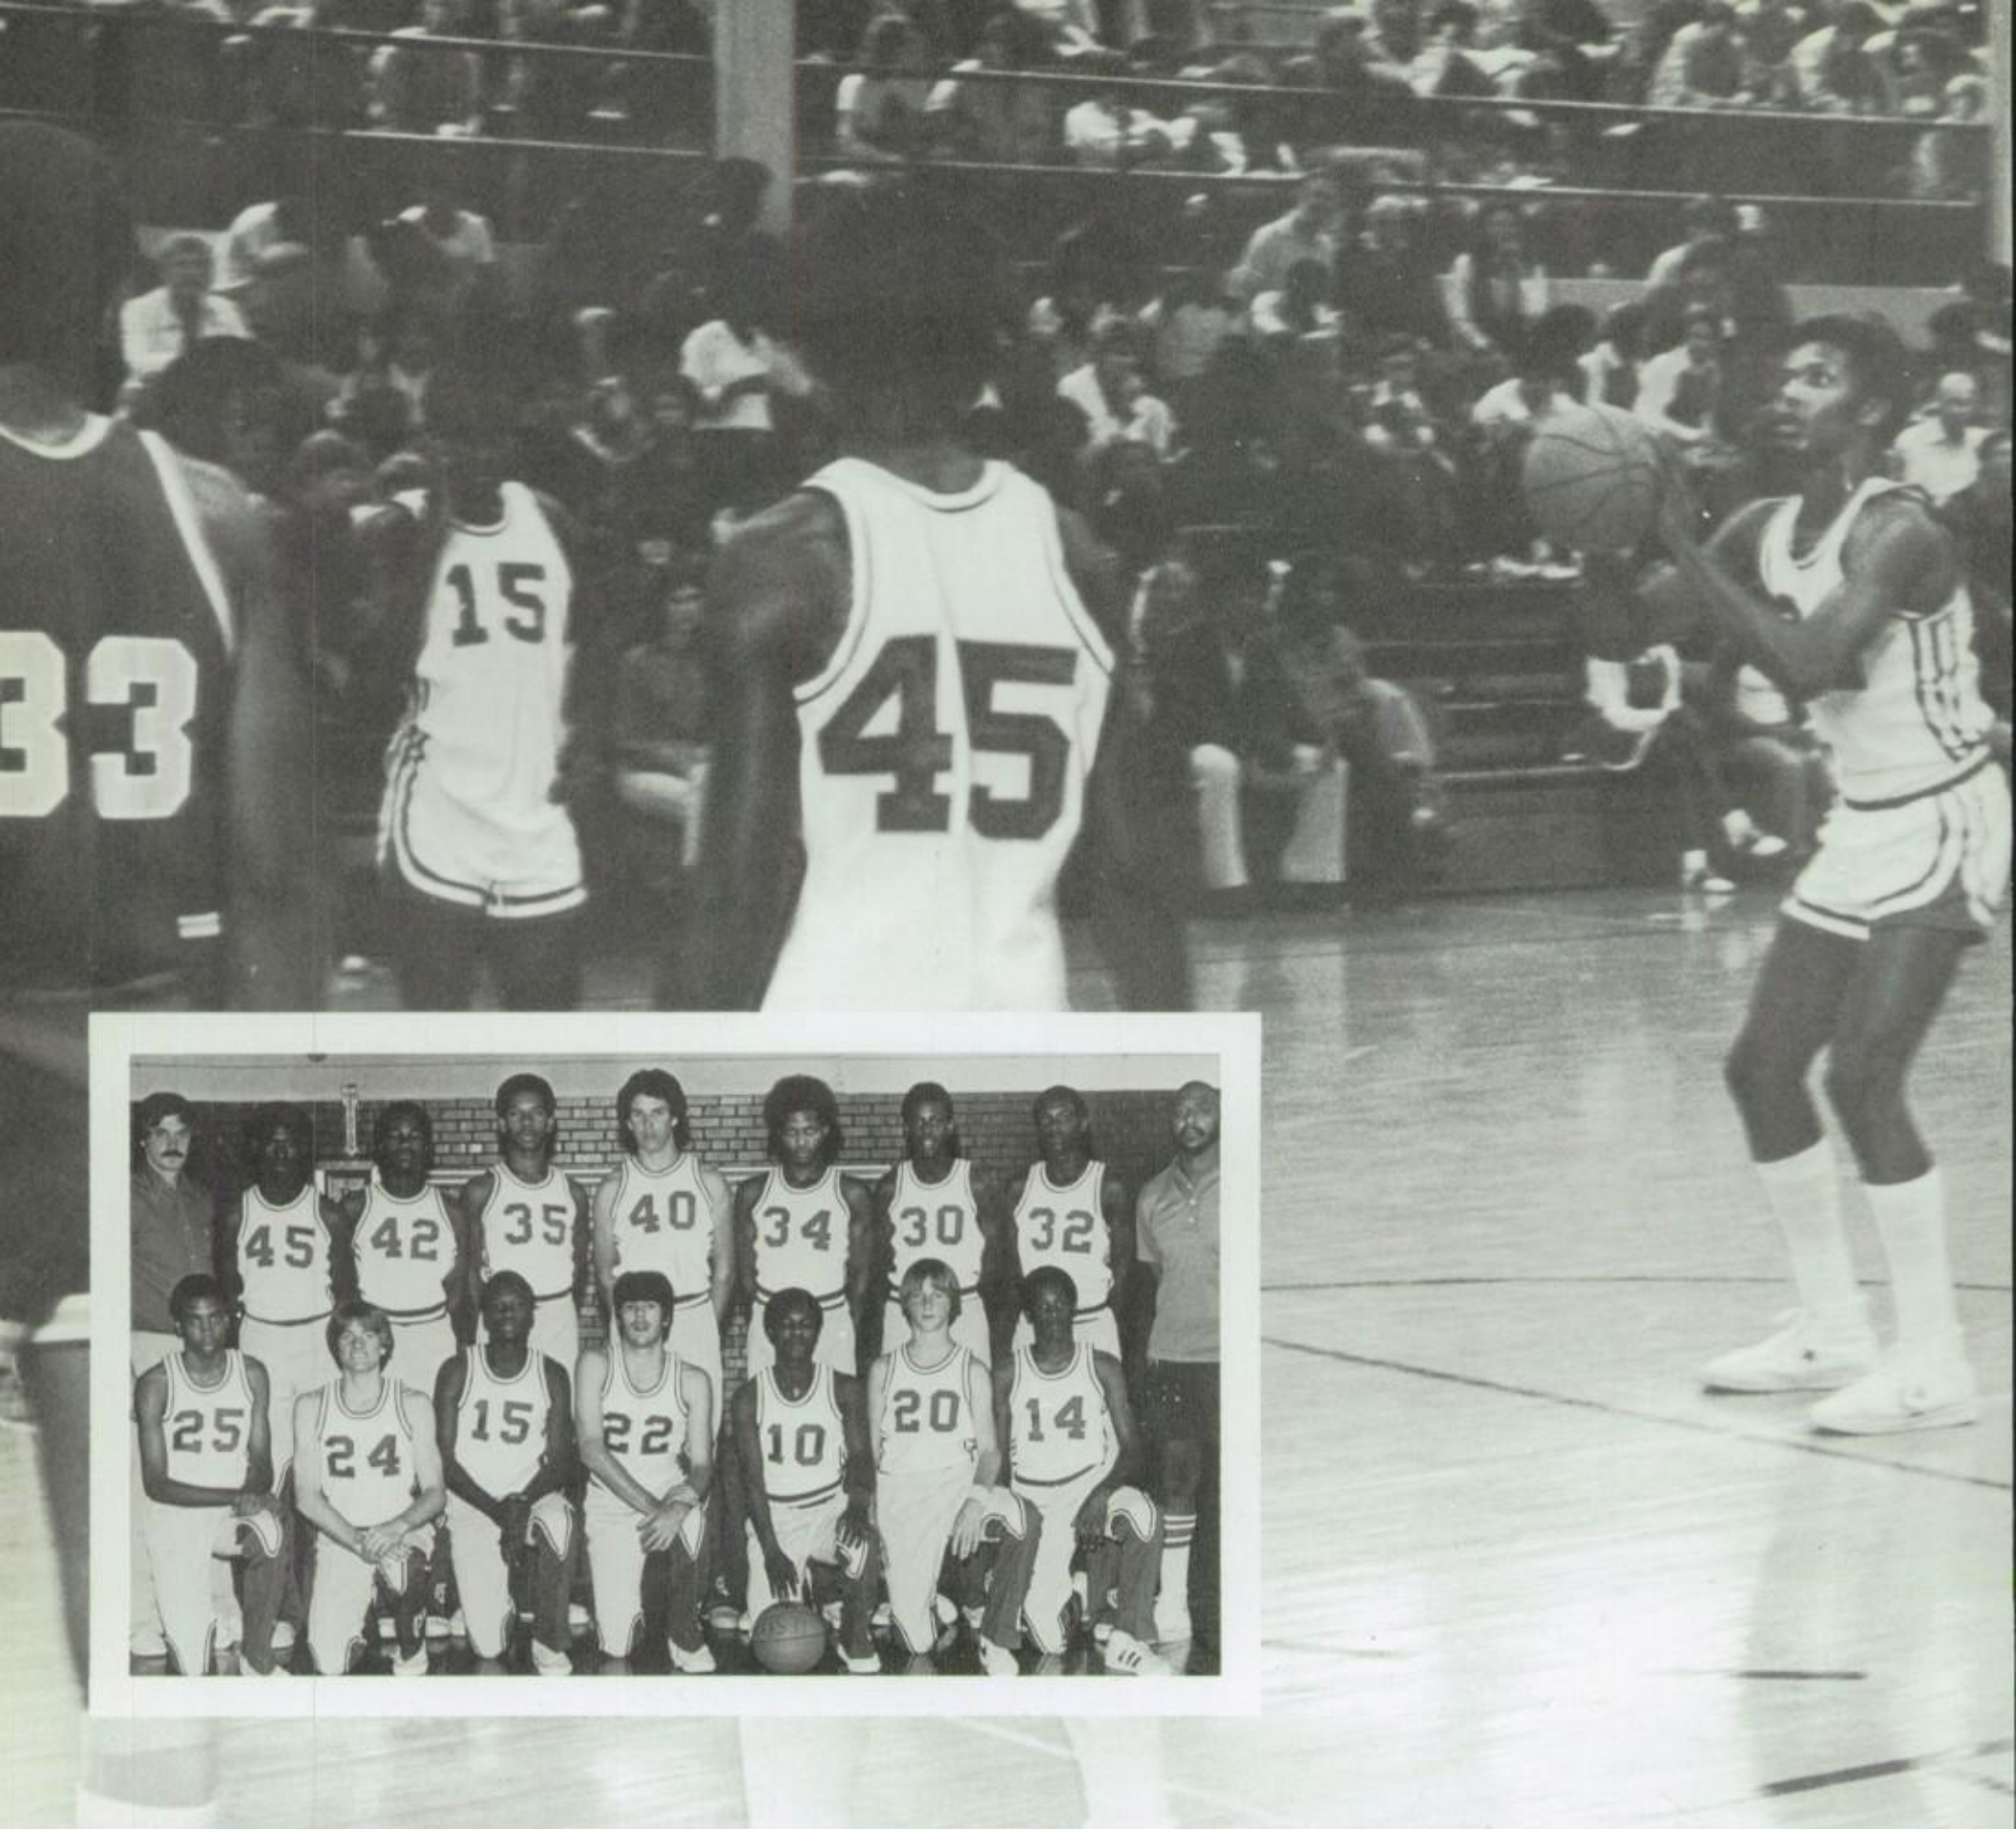

Leading rusher on the freshman team was Ricky McAmis, offensive captain, and leading defensive player was Dennis Madden, defensive captain.

On the JV team, Roger Ross was the leading receiver, David Adcock led the aerial attack, Tim Bays was the leading defensive lineman, and Hank Reaves led the defensive backfield.

Lee Davis runs drills during pre-season practice. Barrett Bradburry calls the play in the huddle. Tim Melvin throws a block for Ron Aldridge. Freshmen. Front Row: D. Harding, B. Bradburry, R. Williams, A. Howard, T. Hamm. Richy McAmis punts the ball to the opponents. Kevin Goodmiller evaluates Vance Conallis's chances of growing up and playing varsity football.

On the brink of entrance into rugged state competition, the basketball team lost to Altus in the area consolation finals, losing yet another quest for the state gold medal and culminating an 11-5 season.

Although the Generals were noted as a hex to such number-one ranked teams as Del City and Edmond, the basketballers were also considered a dangerous tournament team as they placed fourth at Southeast and seventh at the tough McGuinness Invitational. They also placed second at regional and area competition.

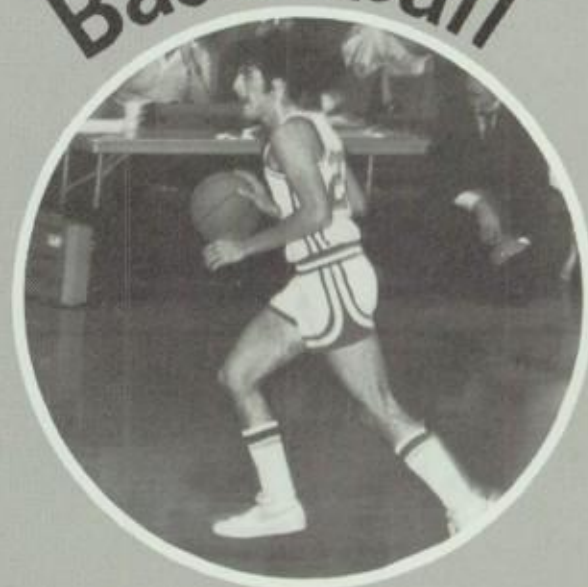

The Generals were led by senior Theodore Morgan, who was voted to the coaches' Mid-State team. He was also selected as an alternate to the All-State team.

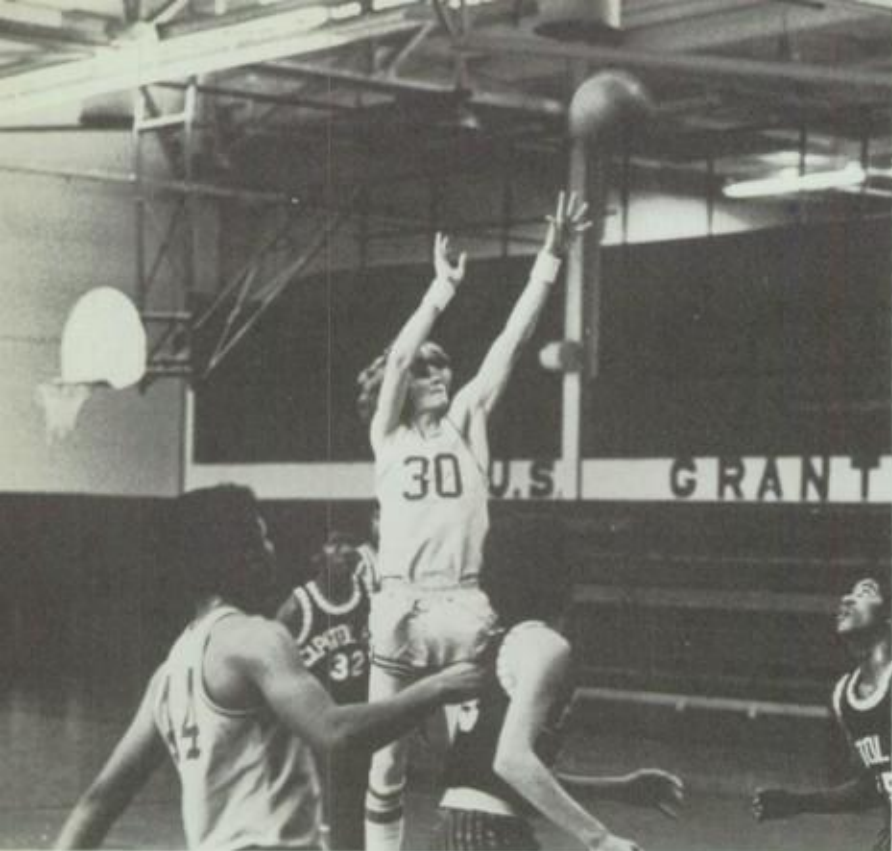

Junior Cecil Thomas, who was voted to the coaches' all-tournament team in the Southeast Invitational, received much praise from area coaches and is expected to play a major role in next year's debut.

Others who received considerable action during the season include seniors Don Thompson, Kevin Goodmiller, Steve Cagle; juniors Charles Williams, Larry Mustain, and Marion Nelson; and sophomores Greg Miles and James Bryant.

Varsity Basketball. Front Row: M. Shepard, S. Cagle, D. Thompson, L. Mustain, M. Shells, B. McDougal, A. Howard. Back Row: Coach A. Dukes, C. Thomas, W. Moye, C. Williams, K. Goodmiller, T. Morgan, G. Miles, J. Bryant, Coach C. Alexander. Everyone waits while T. Morgan shoots another free throw. Cecil Thomas goes around a Redskin. T. Morgan dunks the ball. Blocking a N.W. score is Theodore Morgan. Kevin Goodmiller takes a deep breath before shooting his free throw. Larry Mustain works his way down the court. Marion Nelson goes up for the jump ball. Theodore Morgan goes in for another basket. Coach Dukes gives instructions from the sidelines. Seniors: T. Morgan, W. Moye, S. Cagle, D. Thompson, K. Goodmiller.

Basketball

Micheal Kelly shoots for two. Greg Williams jumps for a lay-up against Capitol Hill. Mike McReynolds jumps for the ball to start the game against the Redskins. Junior Varsity Basketball. Troy Miller tips the ball in. Micheal Shepard sets up to score two more points against the Capitol Hill Redskins.

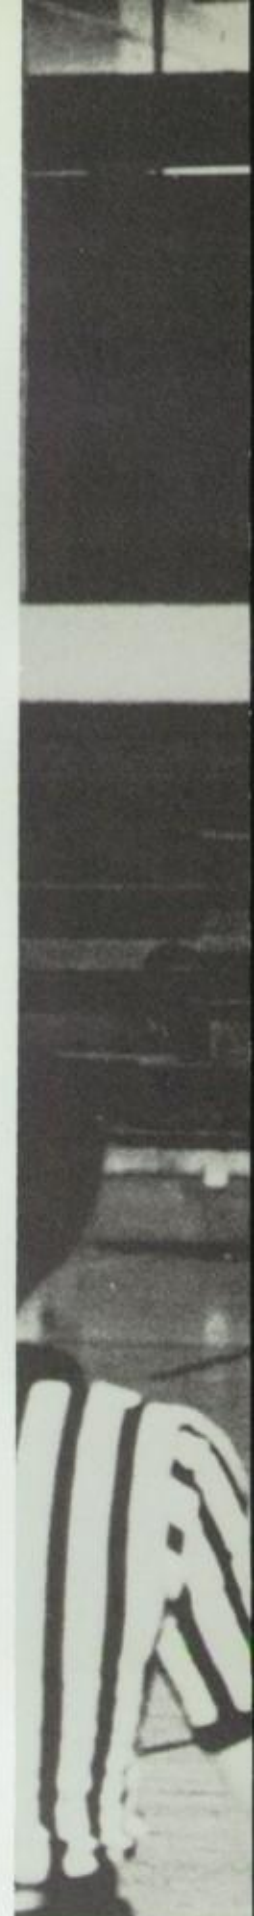

Led by sophomore Greg Mile, the JV basketball team earned their way to an impressive 15-4 season enroute to a first place finish at the vicious Mid-State conference tournament.

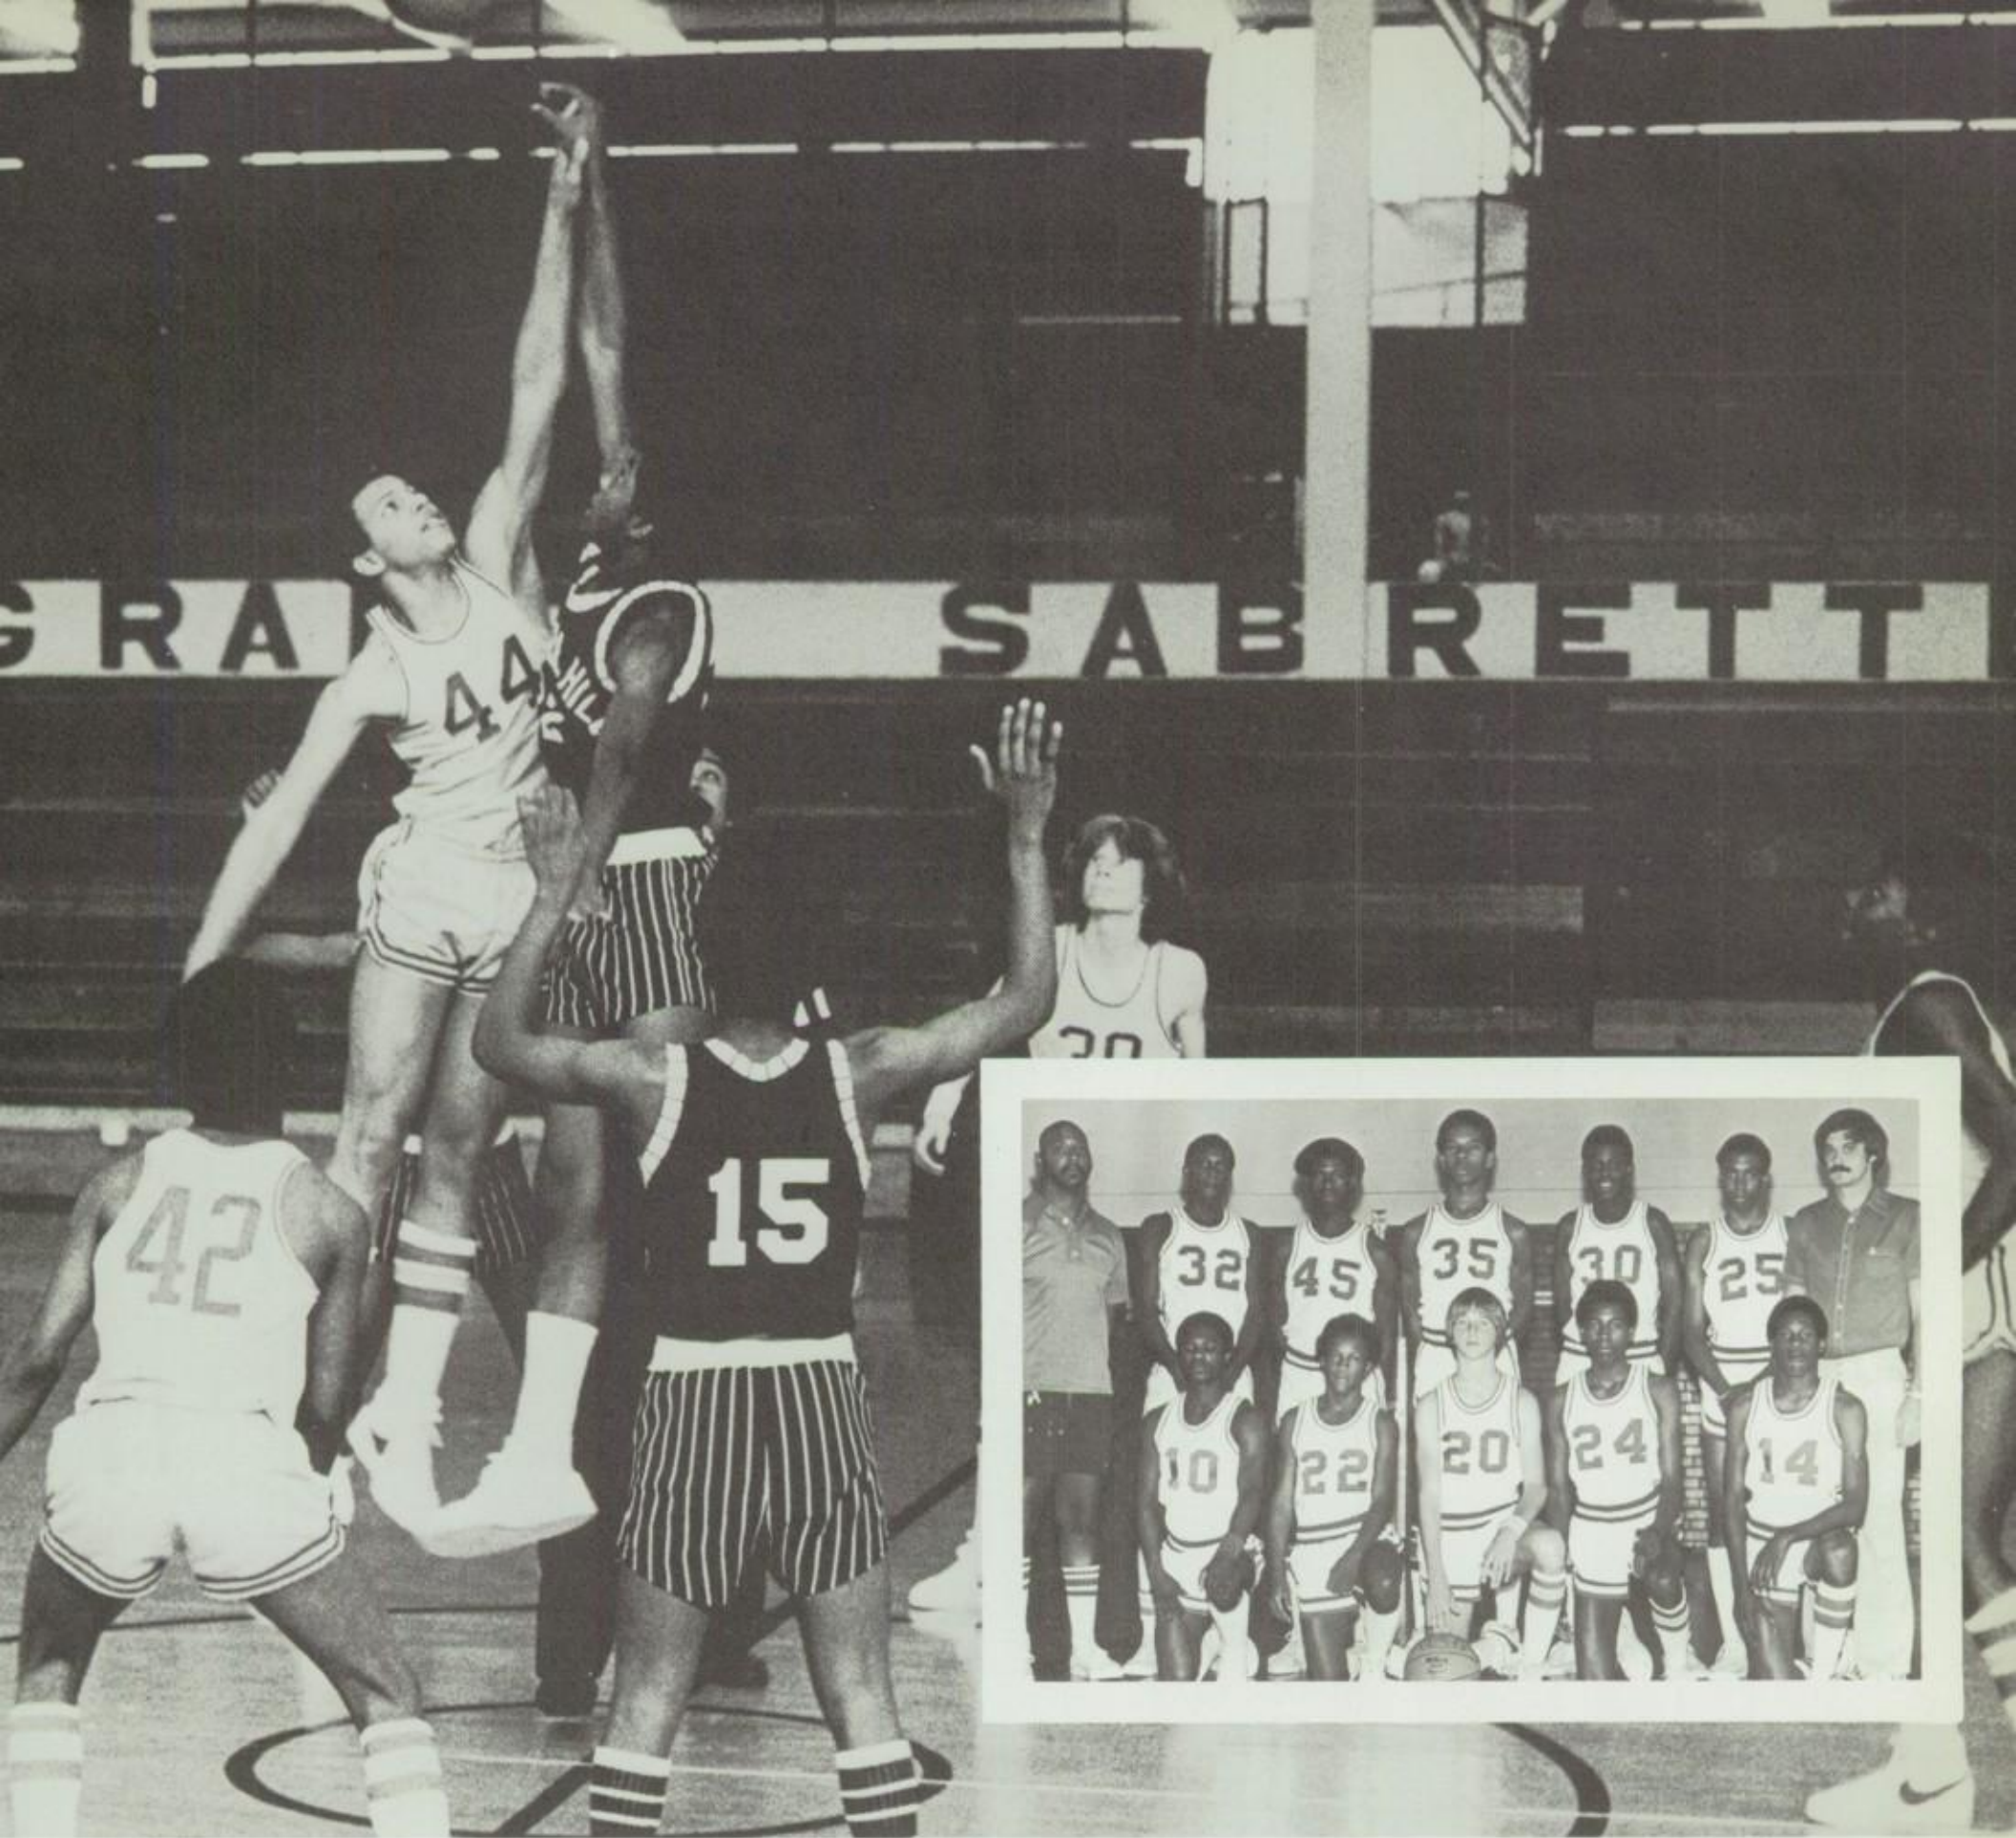

Head coach Michael Nero, who has guided his clubs to outstanding seasons since accepting the position, feels his teams could become even better in the future.

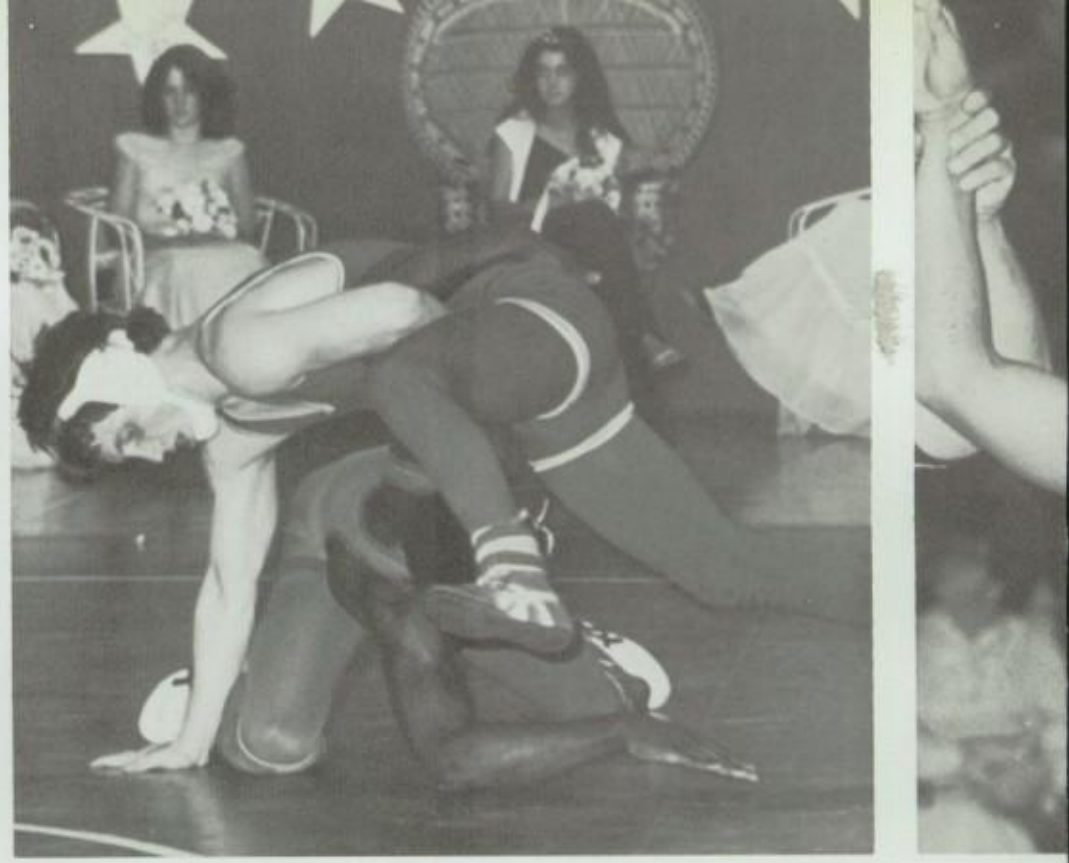

Miles, who awed area coaches with play, is also expected to play a major role on the Generals' varsity team next year.

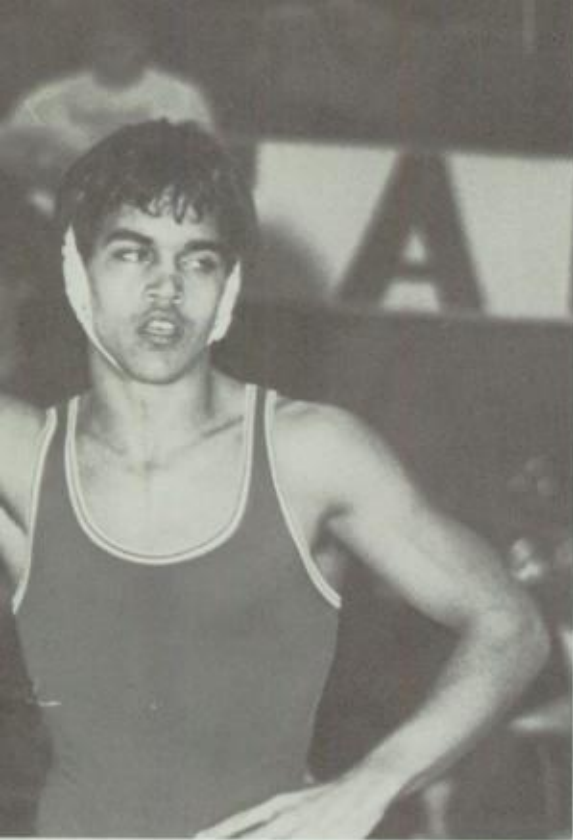

Others who contributed to the team's success include James Bryant, Marion Nelson, Troy Miller, and Muhammad Abbar.

In addition, the freshman team reflected promise as they matured with a 2-7 mark.

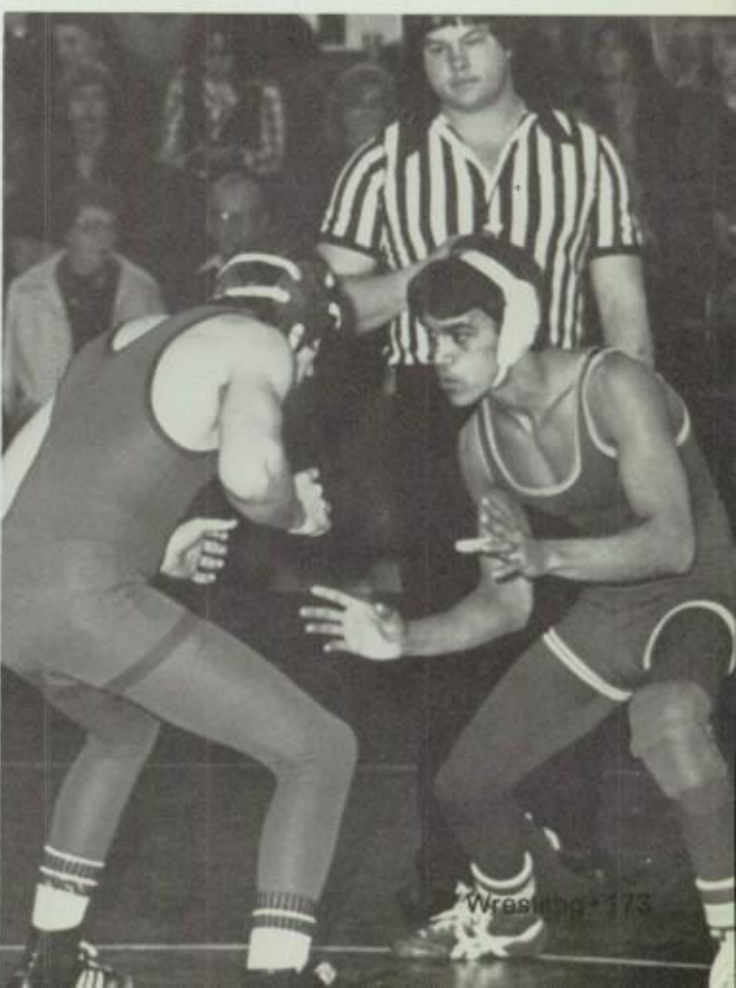

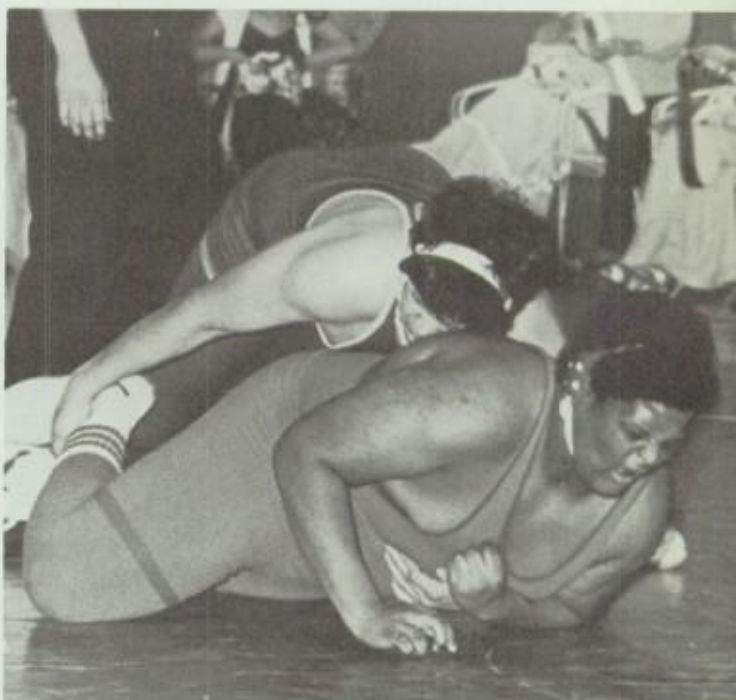

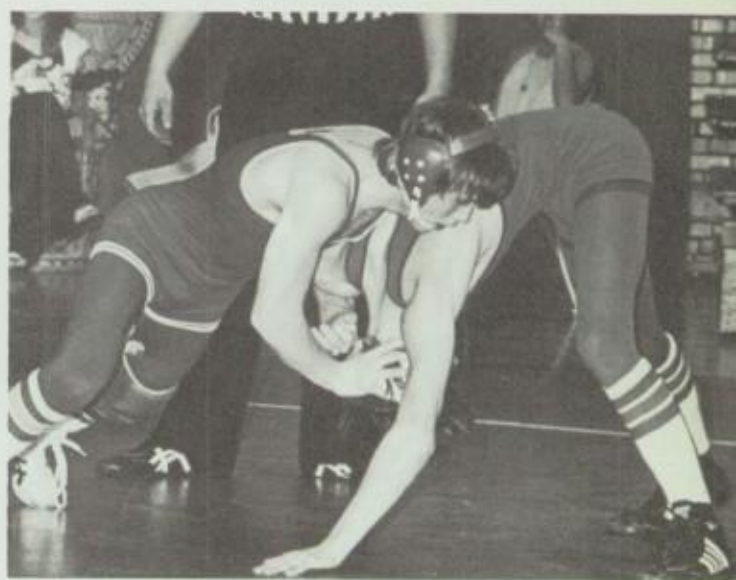

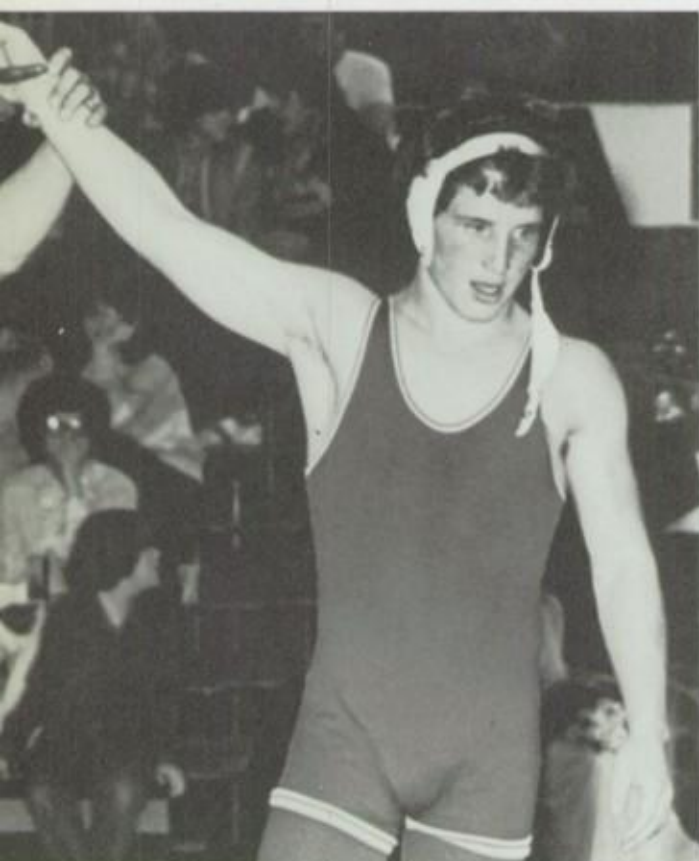

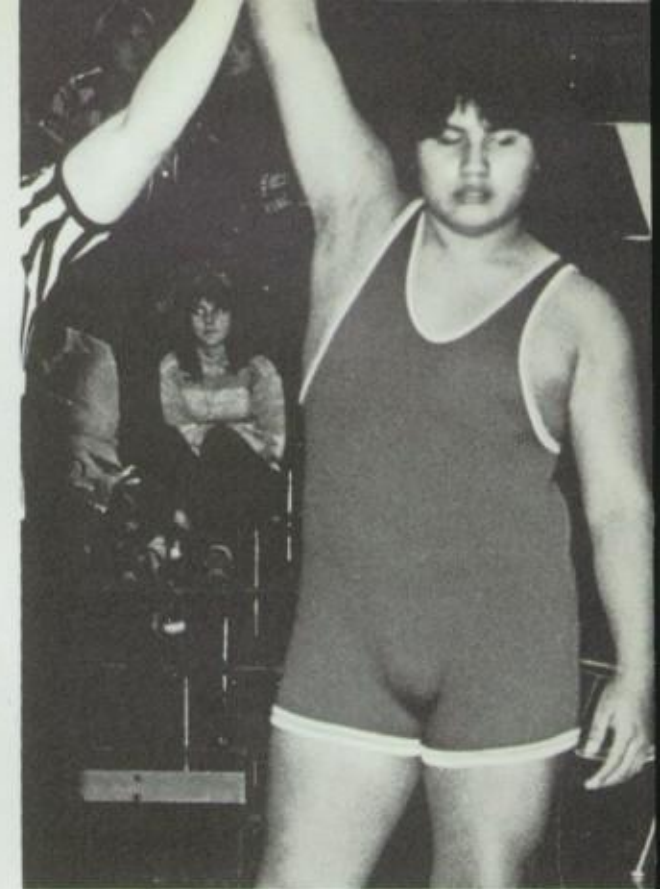

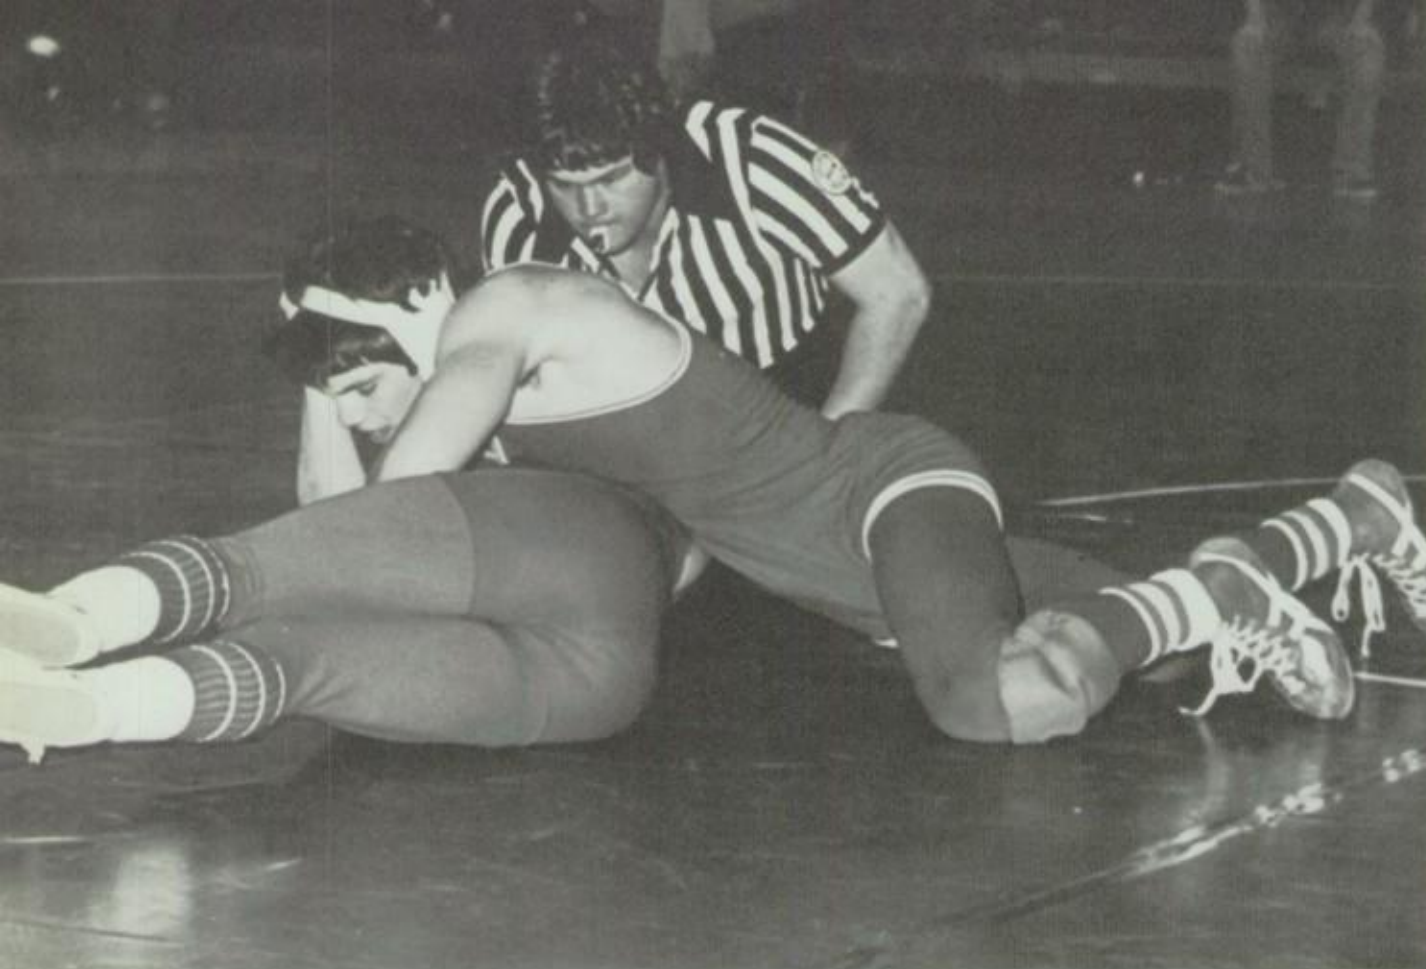

This year, as in years past, the General wrestling team proved to area coaches to be a "maturing power" in the rugged Mid-state conference.

In addition to the fact that the matmen were strong at individual weights, they also replenished themselves as a tournament team. The Generals maneuvered their way to a second place finish at the All-City tournament and third place finishes in both the Carl Albert and Norman Invitationals.

Varsity Wrestling. Ronnie Feilder gets a take down the hard way. Burl Wooten tries to turn his opponent over. Once again a tired Cory Conallis is declared a winner. Barrett Bradburry looks for an advantage over his John Marshall opponent. Jeff Taylor tries for a take down. George Vasquez finds he has a bigger task than he anticipated. Before moving in Cory Conallis searches for weak spots in his John Marshall opponent. Ronnie Green has his man all wrapped up. Jeff McKee pins his opponent. Vance Conallis is really on top of things. Wrestlers. Front Row: J. McKee, C. Conallis, T. Cobb, B. Bradburry, J. Smith, V. Conallis, R. Green. Back Row: G. Vasquez, L. Wooten, G. Gracey, D. Molet, R. Feilder, M. McDaniels, N. Roark.

Wrestling

Ronnie Green starts out on top. Burl Wooten wins again.

The wrestling team was led by state finalists David Molet and Burl Wooten, and now once again Coach Lewis Quintane can look forward to next year.

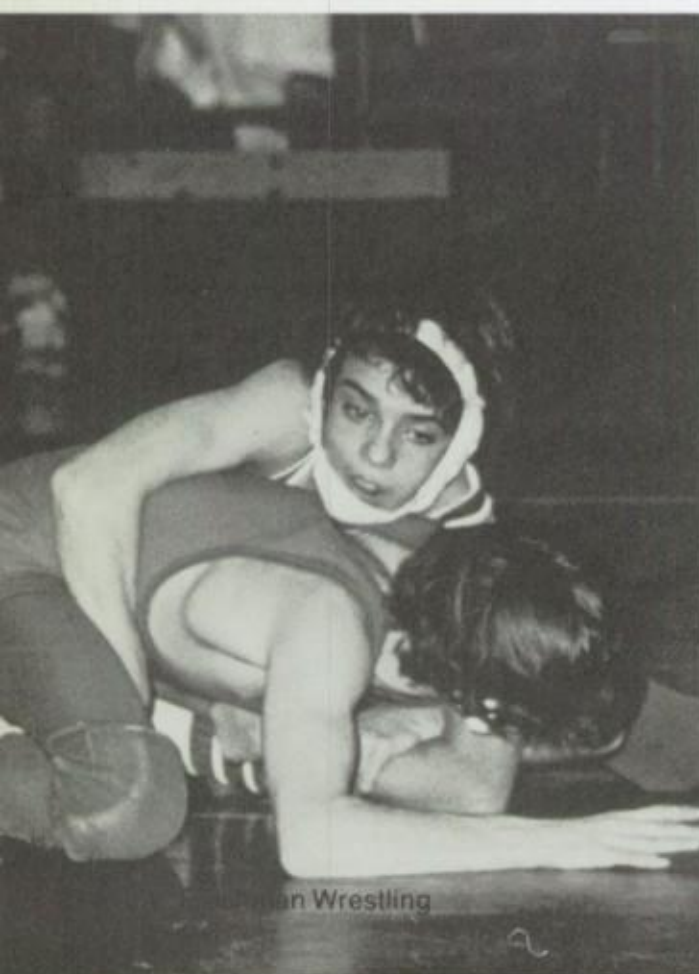

The team then will be led by young men like Wooten, who earned fourth place finishes in state both his sophomore and junior debuts. In addition, Wooten should be ready to make his final attempt at the state gold medal.

Cory Conallis, who won both the All-City and Norman Invitationals, should be a definite threat for a shot at the gold.

In addition, sophomore Jeff Taylor, who earned All-City and Carl Albert titles before falling to knee surgery is also expected to make his run for the roses.

Free-wheeling Larry Wooten who earned recognition on the state's All-Sophomore team, is considered by many area coaches as one of those "hide and watch" prospects.

Others who helped the Generals to their 10-6 season include seniors, George Vasquez and Jeff McKee; juniors, Cory Conallis, Ronnie Fielder, and Greg Gracey; sophomores, Jeff Taylor, Barrett Bradbury, Vance Conallis, and Ronnie Green.

As returning Mid-State champs, the baseball team, under new head coach Chuck Page from Southeast, expected another strong showing this year.

Mike Tolbert, Brent Worcester, Ron Aldridge, Jeff Baugus, and Tom Ebert were considered the team's top prospects. Mike was expected to lead the team in the hitting department with the challenge of filling the shoes of Todd Demeter who signed a five-year contract with the New York Yankees.

Brent, who stood in the pitching last year, was expected by many to be the state's top pitcher this season.

The son of an accomplished athlete, Coach Page lettered in baseball and football in both high school and college.

Baseball

With a 17-6 record from last season, the new junior varsity team was anticipating strength from last year's freshman team which had a 6-6 season.

Junior varsity, under head coach Allen Dukes, was looking forward to tournament play for the first time. They will participate in the Norman tournament.

Coach John Savage will again break in a new freshman team after producing his award-winners last year.

Catchers on the opposite teams find that looking at freshman pitcher Michael Kelly is serious business. J.V. Baseball. Front Row: A. Howard, B. McDougal, M. Fresman, M. Robels, K. Jones. Row 2: Coach A. Dukes, M. Neighbors, V. Ellis, B. Crawford, R. Fielder, C. Nelson. Back Row: L. Wooten, R. Ross, C. Darragh, K. Rogers, F. Corey, J. Fish, T. Seeley. Avery Howard is ready for the ball when it comes. The Junior Varsity team works for a double play. Teammates congratulate Bobby McDougal on his homerun. Freshman Baseball. Front Row: J. Eaton, K. Duvall, M. James, J. Reaves, M. Simpson, B. Brown. Row 2: J. Bynum, R. Holt, M. Cox, B. Reynolds, T. Hebert, D. Dunn, Coach J. Savage. Row 3: D. Dawson, K. Shingleton, D. Hensley, R. McAmis, B. Echelle, M. Huckabee, G. Huddleston, M. Kelly. Knowing the tie goes to the runner is Michael James as he slides into home plate. Mark Ryan and Ronnie Fielder are both after the fly ball; unfortunately, neither succeed in attaining it.

Girls' Basketball

Under new head coach Mr. Jack Throckmorton from Roosevelt and assistant coach Mrs. Vicki Parker, the girls' basketball team made stronger showings as the season progressed.

They downed southside rivals Capitol Hill and Southeast, 55-33 and 43-37, respectively.

This year the team again competed in the Carl Albert tournament.

Scoring star of the team was Adrienne Cooper who averaged 21 points per game. Lisa Ortiz and Cheryl Smith each averaged 7 points per game.

Guards were Casandra Rodgers, La Donna Parish, Patti Thomas, and Gina Whatley, seniors, and D. J. Galbreath, junior.

Girls' basketball seniors: Adrienne Cooper, Patricia Thomas, LaDonna Parish, Gina Whatley, Cassandra Rodgers, and Cheryl Smith. Patricia Thomas rebounds the basketball. LaDonna Parish jumps to receive a pass from one of her teammates. Gina Whatley tries desperately to hang onto the ball. Patricia Thomas dribbles the ball down court to the forwards. Leaping high for a jump ball is Adrienne Cooper. Varsity girls' basketball: Front Row: Wanda Meler, Gina Whatley, Detra Dixon, Tonda Nero, D. J. Galbreath, and LaDonna Parish. Back row: Linda Dukes, Lisa Ortiz, Cassandra Rodgers, Cheryl Smith, Cassandra Daniels, Adrienne Cooper, Patricia Thomas, and Mrs. Vicky Parker, assistant coach. Lisa Ortiz shoots for a basket. Cheryl Smith tips the ball to one of her teammates. Patricia Thomas takes care of the ball as she looks down court.

Softball - Volleyball

Girls' softball closed an undefeated season, taking the All-City championship for the fifth consecutive year. Last year the girls' volleyball team took second in the district and third in regionals, and were hoping to match or beat that record this season.

Under new head coach, Mrs. Ann Douglas, the softball girls breezed to easy victories in all games except those with arch-rival Capitol Hill which ended in narrow one point victories.

Diane Foley and Gina Speegle served as "clean-up" persons for the team.

Top players on the volleyball team were Adrienne Cooper, Patti Thomas, La Donna Parish, Cheryl Smith, Gina Whatley, and D. J. Galbreath.

Co-coaches were Mrs. Vicki Parker and Mrs. Connie Ellis.

Laurie Jefferson positions herself to receive the service. Holding onto her cap, Diane Foley breezes by home plate. Linda Dukes puts all she can into her swing. Catcher, Tommie Jefferson, discusses the up-coming batter with pitcher, Roxie Stanford. D. J. Galbreath jumps high to hit the volleyball back across the net. The volleyball team stands ready, as Adrienne Cooper serves the ball. Softball team. Front row: Laurie Jefferson, Diane Foley, Lisa Ortiz, Rhonda Hook, Roxie Stanford, and Tracy Hefner. Back row: Linda Dukes, Lisa Schoelen, Tommie Jefferson, Cheryl Smith, Susan Trail, Sue Clay, and Mrs. Ann Douglas, coach. Girls' volleyball team. Row 1: Lisa Ortiz, Diane Foley, D. J. Row 3: LaDonna Parish, Patricia Thomas, Lisa Schoelen, Cassandra Rodgers, and Detra Dixon. Discussing their upcoming game are Sue Clay, Patricia Thomas, and Rhonda Hook.

Swimmers placed second in the Mid-State competition and first in All-City this year under head coach Mr. John Savage who coached this year for his seventh consecutive season.

Ken Leverett, senior, led the team in the breaststroke; Andy Wiley, senior, led in the backstroke; Ronnie Cordell, freshman, led in the butterfly stroke; John Molitor, junior, led in the free style.

The 200 medley relay team composed of Leverett, Wiley, Molitor, and Ray Emerson, went to state competition where they placed fifteenth.

Ronnie Cordell is encouraged as he dives in during a relay race. Coach John Savage starts each race with a bang. Trent Kirkpatrick and John Molitor know that coming off the blocks ahead is a good start. Encouraging Chris Wenthold to keep going are Laura Medley, Michelle Hyden and Shawna Bowlware. Lisa Tinkham has learned that when to breathe during the backstroke is important. Marilyn Griffith thinks that freestyle is the easiest. Lantz Smith flies off the block ahead of his N.E. opponent. Shawna Bowlware finds out that the butterfly is not an insect. Shelly Kays, Stephanie Medley, and Shawna Bowlware instruct Lisa Tinkham that she's almost to the wall. Coach Savage gives instructions to his swimmers from the poolside. Swim Team. Front Row: K. Duvall, R. Caskey, T. Kirkpatrick, L. Smith, Coach John Savage. Row 2: R. Cordell, R. Vasquez, R. Swimming

Tennis, which opened its season in February, will close the season in mid-May.

Under new head coach Mr. Jack Nichols, the netmen attended several tournaments which were arranged periodically. The group was planning to attend several private tournaments. They also participated in the new All-City tournament.

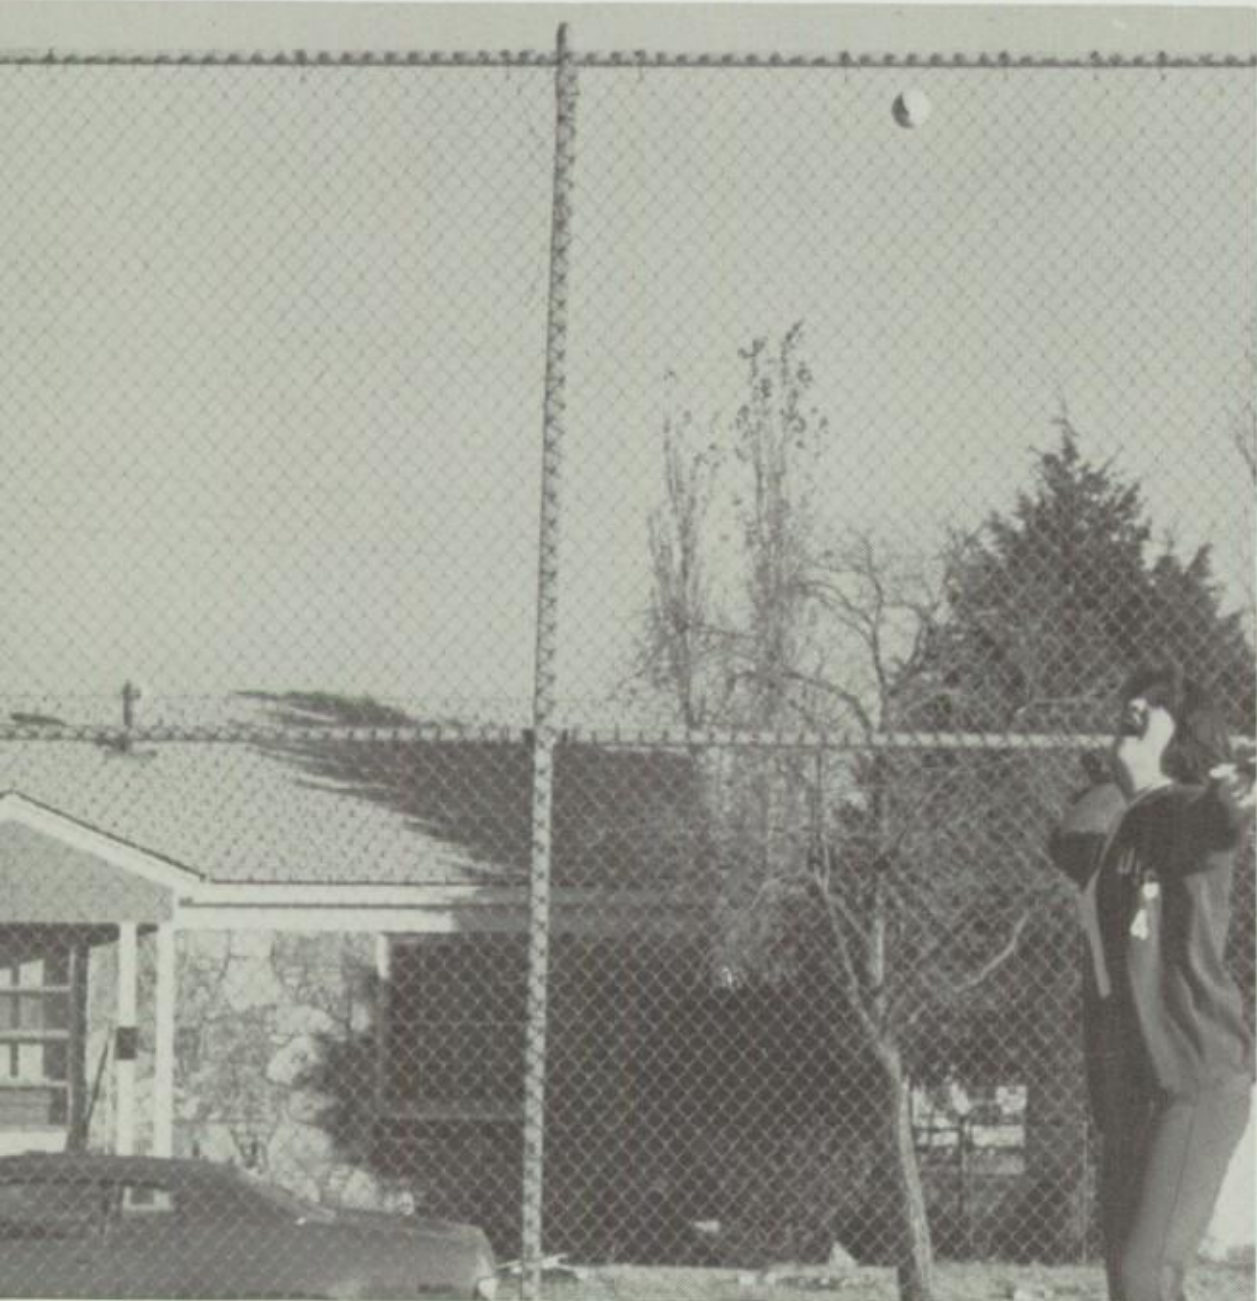

Jamie Wilson, Jim Russell, and Bryan Story were team leaders. Brad Vaughn was expected to make strong showings.

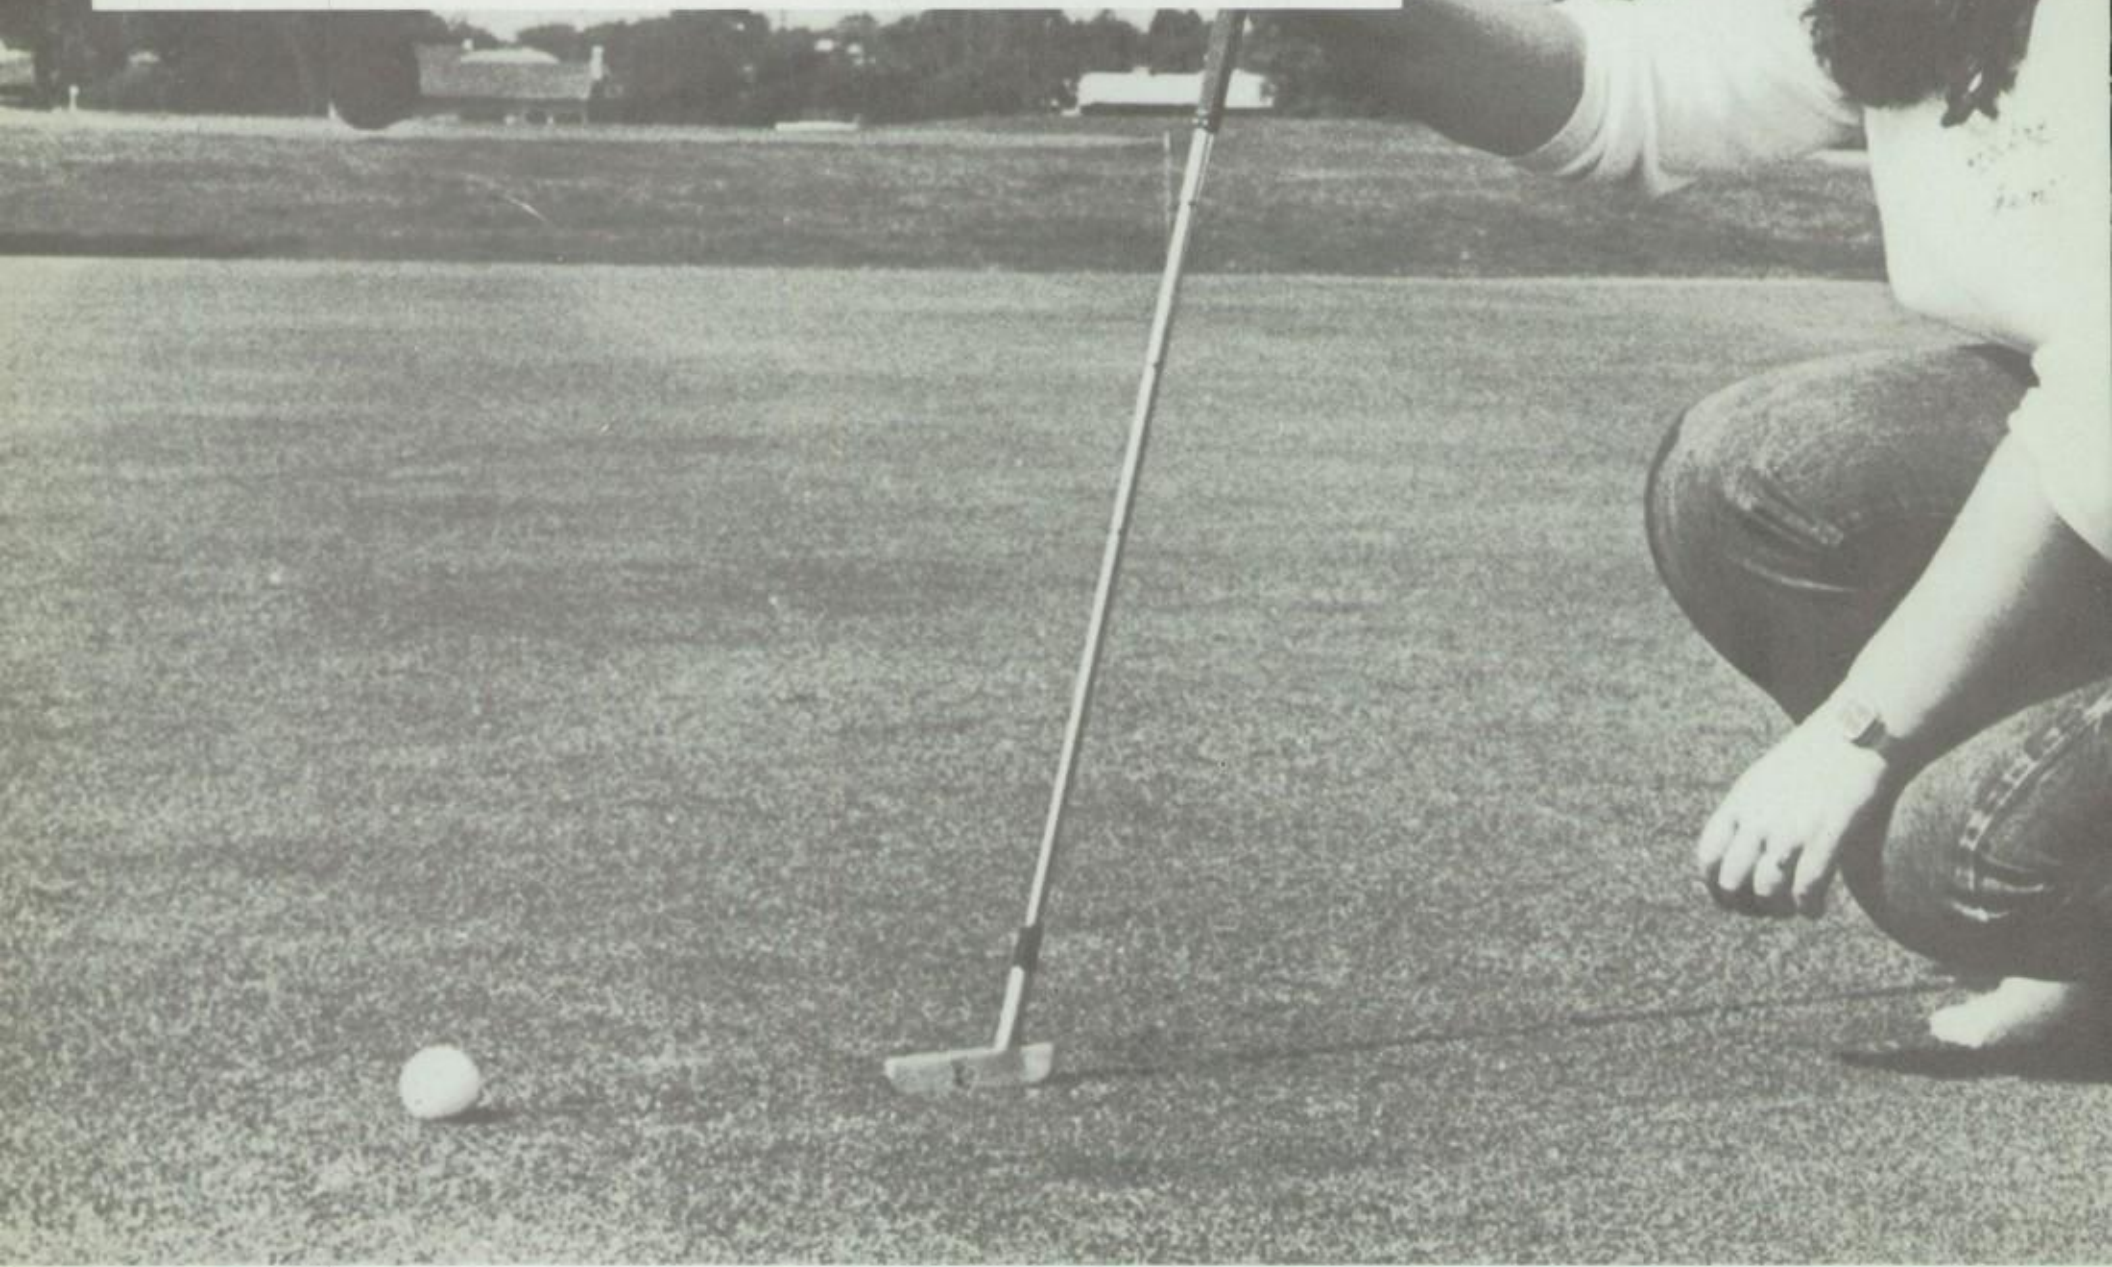

Mrs. Vicki Parker again coached the girls' tennis team. Returning letterwomen were Susan Clark and Katy Hansen, juniors; and Jana Gooding and Stephanie Shipley, sophomores.

Coach Vicki Parker wishes Katy Hansen good luck with new tennis balls. Coach Nichols adjusts the net for the match. Jeff Walden gives Jamie Wilson a helping hand. Brian Story barely makes it over the net. Layne Wilson aces his serve for the winning point. Tennis. Front Row: J. Wilson, K. Hanson, J. Gooding, S. Shipley, C. Clark, L. Wilson, V. Parker. Row 2: M. Winter, B. Vaughn, S. Adams, A. Micue, P. Pribble, T. Heath, P. Whitt, J. Nichols. Back Row: B. Story, J. Russell, B. Dies, L. Morris, G. Sawyer, J. Walden, D. Whitt. Jana Gooding and Stephanie Shipley try their luck at doubles. Susan Clark wins the match with her backhand.

Tennis

Cross country, track and the golf teams entered competition again this year.

Under coach Harold Crosley, cross country placed seventh in all-city and attended both Edmond and Mid-State tournaments.

Trackster Vernon James placed third in regionals, first in All-City and he went to state last year. The two-mile relay team placed fourth in All-City last year. With Mark Lyons as coach, and team captains Vernon James and Steve Verdicchio, the new track squad went to State this May 4.

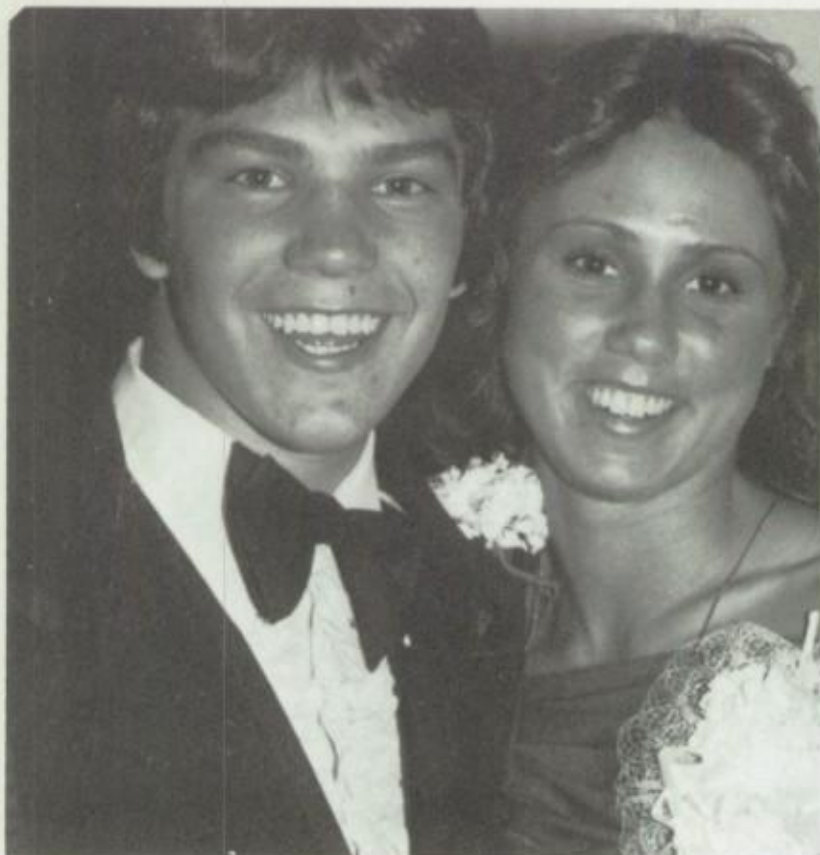

In her fourth year as girls' golf coach, Mrs. Jayne Thompson entered her team in tournaments in Ardmore, Newcastle, and Walnut Creek as well as the Mid-State and regionals.

New golf coach, Dean Choate, entered his group in tournaments at Norman and Stillwater. The group also played in the Metro league and the state and regional tournaments.

Golf-Track-Cross Country

We'd finally made it. The time for which we'd struggled was here — our Senior Year.

We'd been through it all — the "agony" of being pushed around as a freshman, the "not in last place but not much higher" feeling as a sophomore, and the "almost #1 but not quite" experience as a junior. But, we all agree, it was worth it.

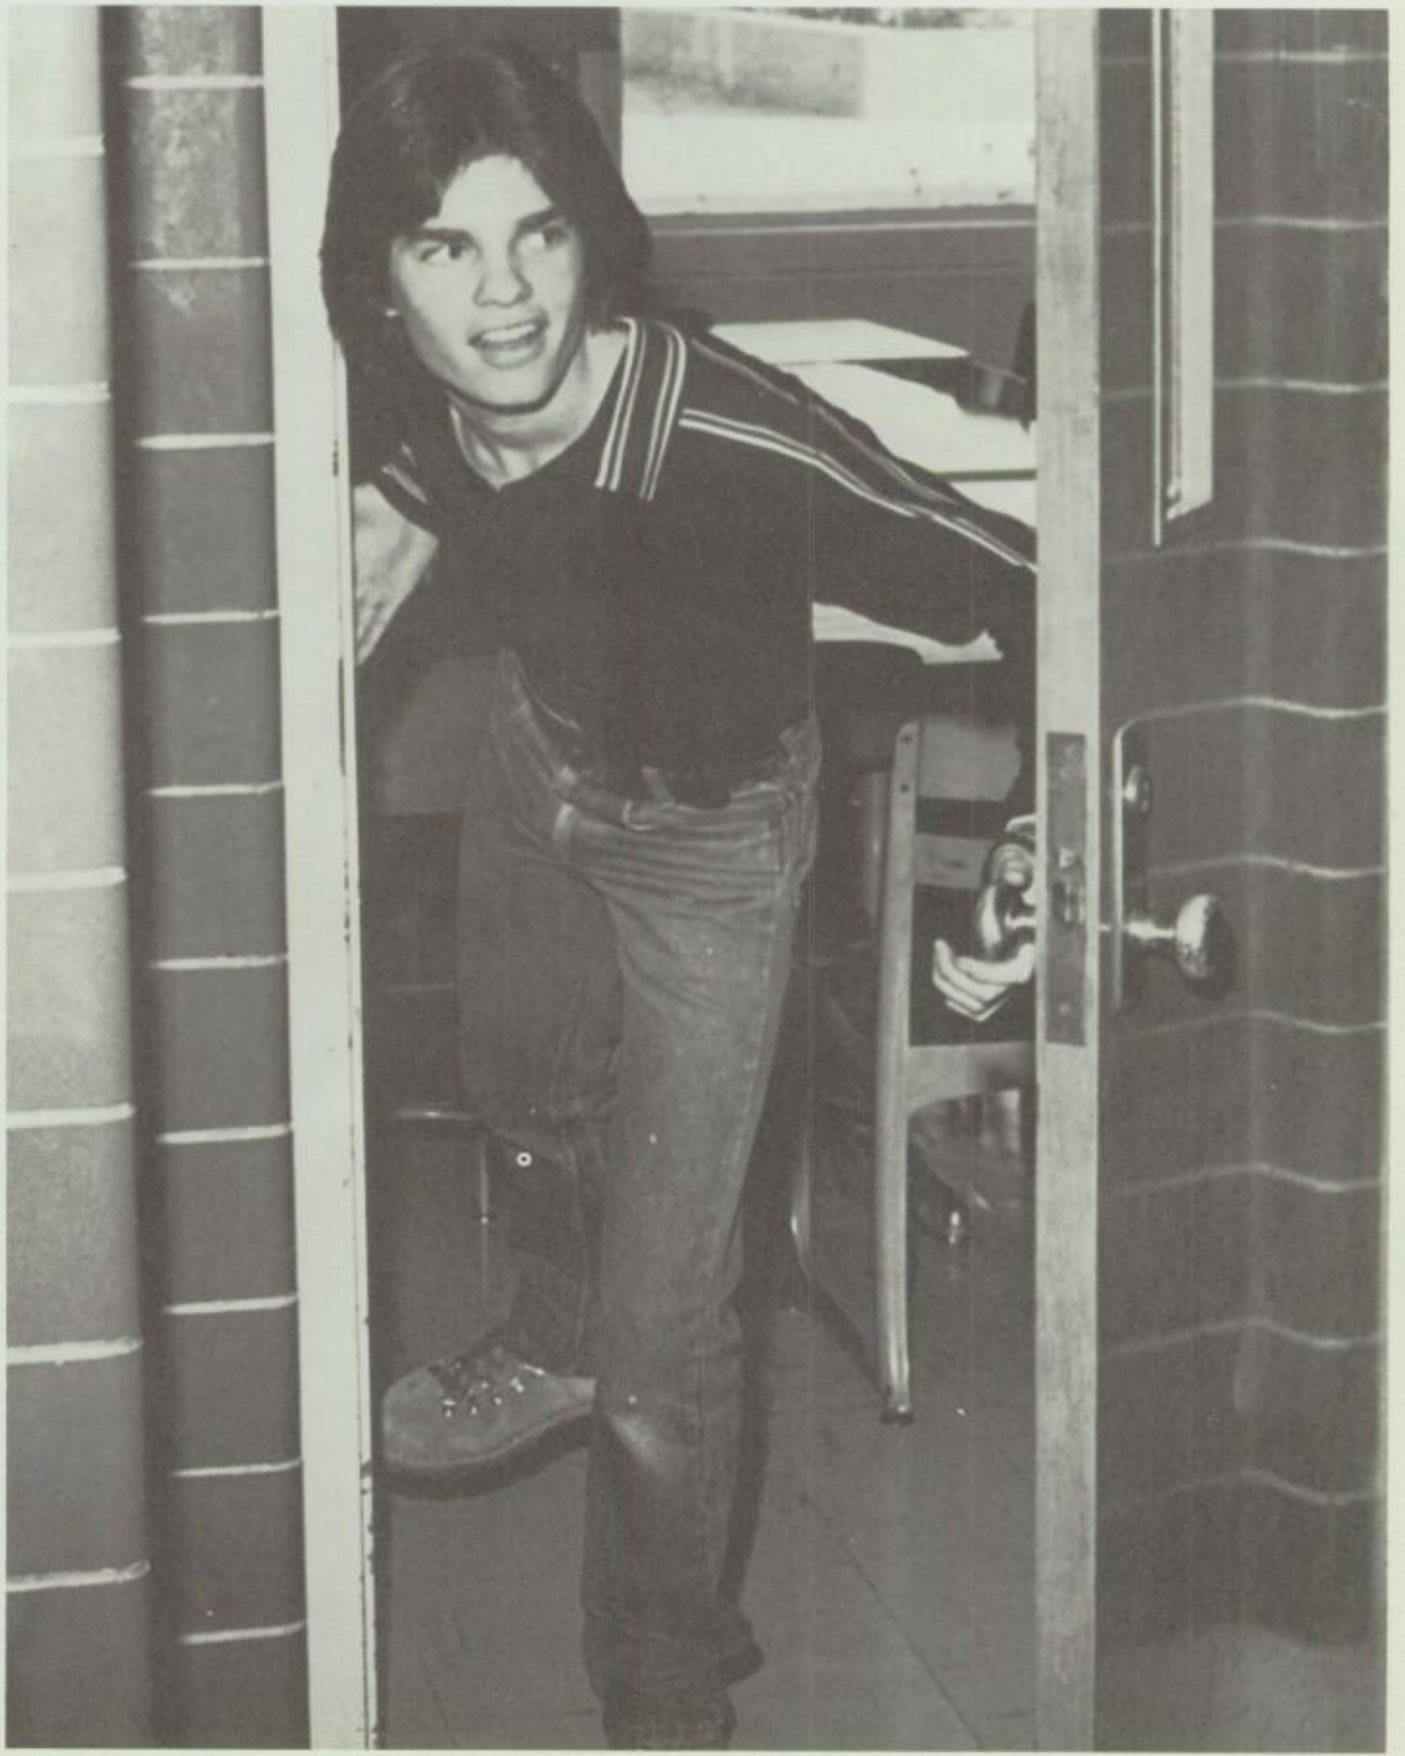

We'd finally made it — now it was time to move on to bigger and better things. "Breaking Away" meant leaving behind a lot of our past, and, at the same time, going forward to a promising future.

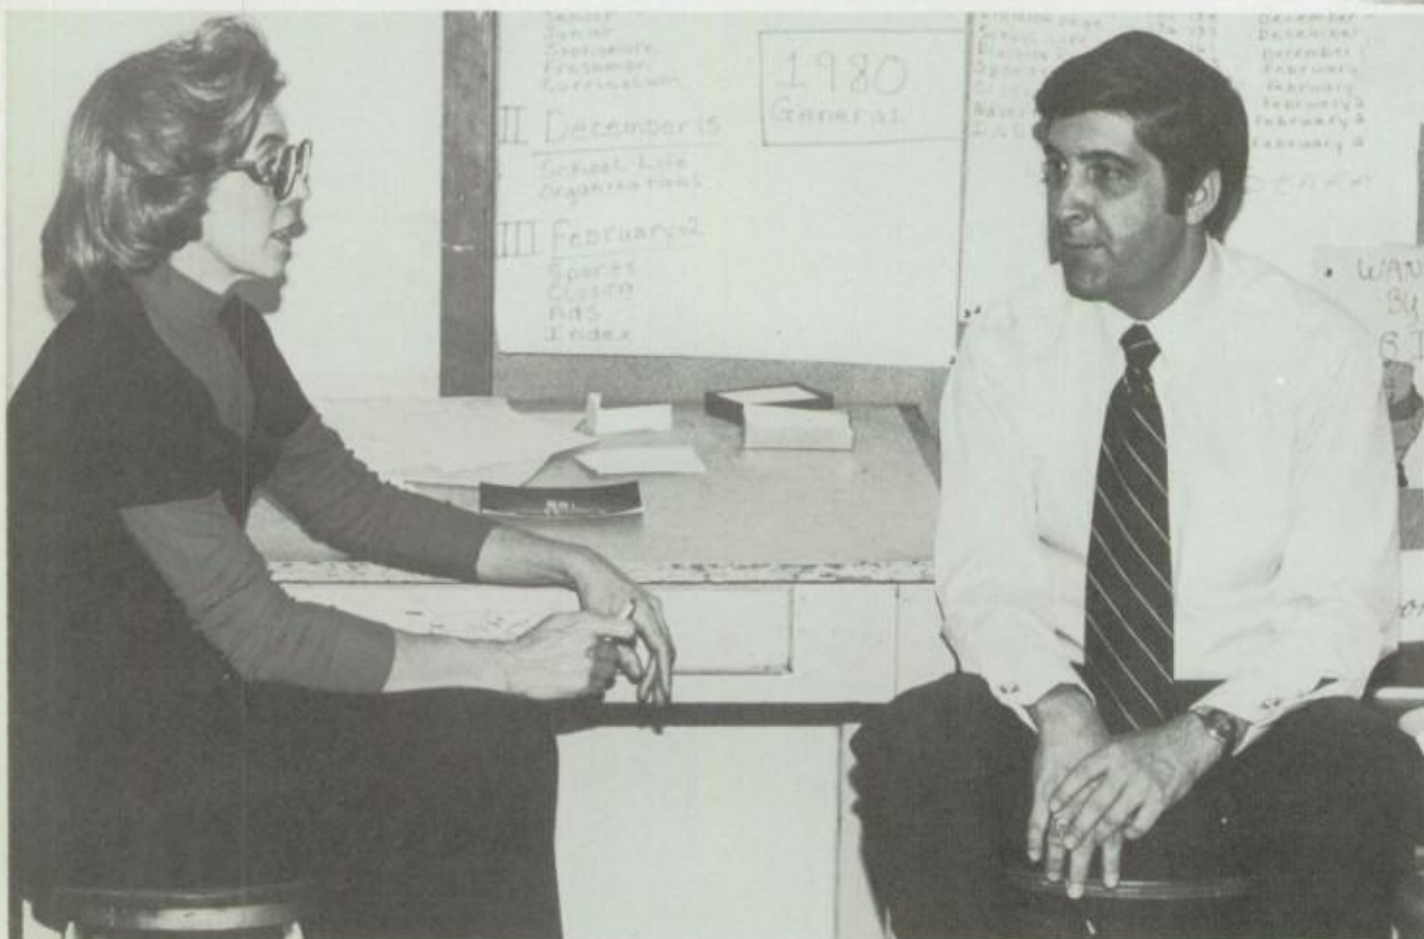

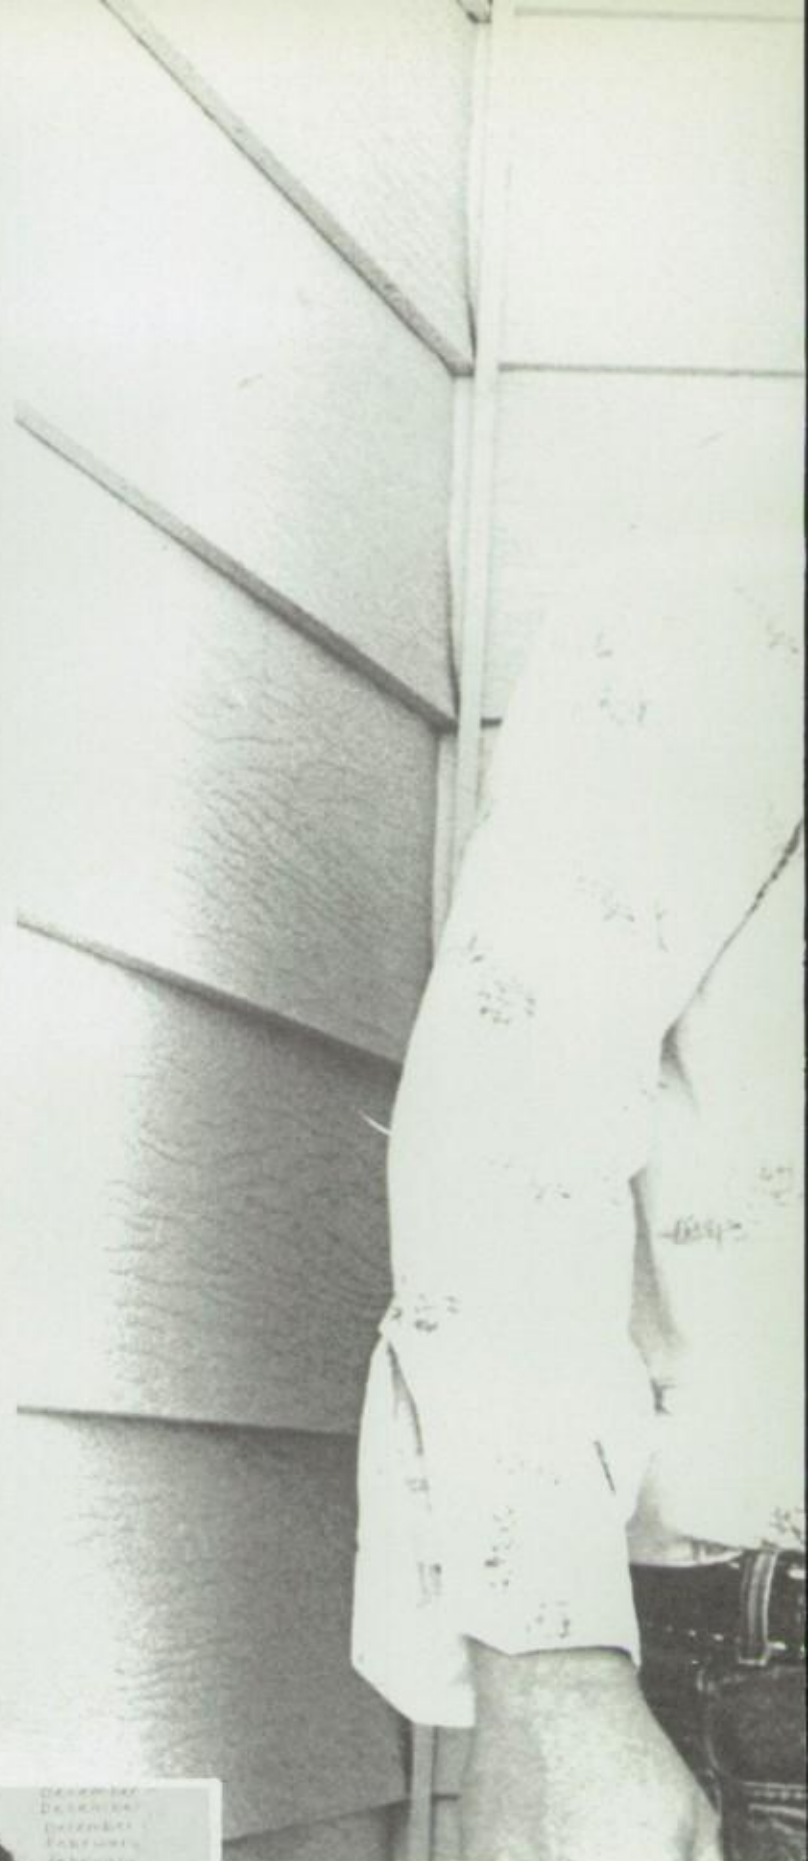

Gina Speegle and David Molet pose for their senior prom picture. Beverly Burleson gets assistance in measuring for graduation gown. Barry Stringer receives his ACT score. Jeff Nelson checks to see if the coast is clear before sneaking out of class. Leigh Winfrey opens her graduation gifts.

Breaking away

Reaching out

The many friendships we established at Grant were the results of definite actions on our part. We found that by "reaching out" we got to know other people, and ourselves, in a more meaningful way.

Whether it was by word, touch, or just a look, we reached out to find a place in high school life, to set up a foundation and to understand who we were and where to go from here.

Linda Black and Carol Crist sometimes talk until the late hours of the night. Robin Wheeler is so surprised when Alan Martin arrives with roses. Senior Tobi Null tells freshman Jessica Towler how to handle the ropes. Mr. King jokingly asks Melody Martin, "Have you been smoking that beer again?" Dr. Ruth Kraemer is not too sure about some politicians, but she talks to high school buddy Mickey Edwards.

For us, as graduates, 1980 marked not only the beginning of a new decade, but the beginning of a new life.

We'd prepared for four years for this fresh start, and, ready or not, start we did.

Whether we had plans for college, a job, or just "bummin' around" for a while after graduation, we all realized that the security blanket of high school was gone, and, finally, we were "Starting Over."

Shelley Holloway works vigorously at her full-time desk job. Jeanne Leonard makes her selection of books in the college book store. Graduation is a thrill of excitement for Leonard Morris. Don Staggs tries to explain to his sister Melody that graduation has left him without any money. Scott Tyree bids farewell to his old Grant t-shirt to make way for his new OU t-shirt.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY POLICY

The Oklahoma City Public School District (I-89) complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and their implementing regulations administered by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's Office For Civil Rights. It also complies with Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and its implementing regulations administered by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. This institution does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, or handicap in admission or access to, or treatment or employment in, its programs and activities.

As the curtain closes on the 1979-80 scene, the vacuity which sometimes follows a performance is not present, for the players are rehearsing their lines for new parts.

Some are preparing for a totally new scene at college, on a job, or in the home. Others are anticipating a return to the old scene with new roles as they are one year closer to the end of their high school play.

All are entering a new period in human history as they prepare to stage the last score of the twentieth century.
